BRIEFING NOTES

ABOUT THE ARTIST AND EXHIBITION

BRIAN ENO

Musician, producer, visual artist, thinker and activist Brian Eno first came to international prominence in the early '70s as a founding member of Roxy Music, immediately followed by a series of critically-praised and influential solo albums. His visionary production includes albums with Talking Heads, Devo, Laurie Anderson, U2 and Coldplay, whilst his long list of collaborations includes recordings with David Bowie, John Cale, David Byrne, Grace Jones, James Blake and many others.

Brian Eno's recordings and other collaborations are endless, however his visual experiments with light and video covers an even longer span of time and have been exhibited all over the globe – from the Venice Biennale to the Marble Palace in St. Petersburg, from Beijing's Ritan Park to the Sydney Opera House. His installations are the fertile ground from which so much of his other work has grown and continue to parallel his musical career.

Originally conceived in 2006, 77 Million Paintings is accompanied by a shifting ambient soundscape and displayed in low light conditions, creating an immersive and meditative experience. The title of the exhibition, 77 Million Paintings, presents a possible number of different combinations of audio and video content generated by a computer program that is not repeated at any time, creating a completely unique artistic experience and a unique experience for each visitor.

Once you realise it is changing, but it is very slow, there is a temptation to stick around to see what the next thing is going to be... and the next thing comes very very slowly, gracefully and stays for a while and fades into something else...you start to experience slower texture of time.

Brian Eno

BRITISH COUNCIL TEAM

AMILA LAGUMDŽIJA | Head of Arts Western Balkans

Over the past eight year, Amila has focused on developing notable cultural partnerships, mainly in film, theatre, music and arts for social change between Bosnia and Herzegovina and the UK. She's expanded her work to lead exciting visual arts show and skills development programmes in the Western Balkans, and continues to work with partners on initiatives that challenge audience and the scene. In 2017 Amila was appointed Head of Arts for the Western Balkans region to oversee the programme in six countries. Amila is particularly excited to work with potent combination of social engagement and art and the change it creates for both individuals and organizations. Her motivation is refreshed over and again by patiently following slow but remarkable transformation of rigid museum practices, to witnessing the mighty confident brilliance in a twelve-year old coming to life in a week of a youth theatre or a music programme.

Amila started her career in Chicago as a strategic management consultant, soon completed her MBA, moved to BiH in 2005 where she worked with the Executive Marketing Department of the Volkswagen Group. The corporate geek came to a change of heart and chased a career with a meaningful purpose.

MILAN LUČIĆ | Arts Manager Western Balkans

Milan is an arts manager with 20 years of experience in the sector. He has been involved in thousands of projects either as a curator or a producer (over 1,000 concerts, hundreds of multimedia projects, 500 theatre and dance shows and more than 300 visual arts exhibitions). Milan has been involved in dozens of festivals, conferences, site-specific, outdoor and indoor events.

Milan was the Artistic Director and General Manager of the Cultural Centre Dom Omladine in Belgrade. He was in charge of the establishment of the LIMIT live art festival and the re-establishment of the Belgrade Jazz Festival. He was Director of the Serbian Film Centre. Milan has been an active member of IETM – the international network for contemporary performing arts. Milan was a fellow of the DeVos Institute at the Kennedy Centre in Washington DC and a graduate of Belgrade's University of Arts, Department of Dramaturgy.

LARISA HALILOVIĆ | Director Bosnia and Herzegovina

Larisa has extensive experience as a team leader, project Director, trainer and consultant in professional skills relating to education, culture and society development. With over 20 years of professional experience, Larisa has a strong track record of programmes with a powerful network of partners in BiH and internationally.

Larisa has developed and designed educational and skills development programmes in BiH and the region and led global pilots projects on Blended Learning and Digital Cities. She has international and local teaching and training experience, as well as professional qualifications in the area of psychology, teaching and executive coaching and mentoring. Prior to joining the British Council, Larisa was working as a teacher and HR trainer in Auckland, New Zealand.

NEJRA BUČO | Marketing and Communications Assistant
Western Balkans

Nejra is a marketing professional who joined the British Council team in 2014 and prior to becoming part of the first Western Balkans marketing team she has worked as a part of the projects team on exhibitions such as Damien Hirst, large scale Education conferences and numerous other events. As a part of the marketing team, she is especially proud of the work she has done on British Council Arts projects, such as the Grayson Perry exhibition and PlayUK.

TOM SWEET | Music Programme Manager

Tom began working in the music industry as a programmer for The Big Chill festival in the UK and India. He also established a dynamic year-round music programme for The Big Chill Group's London venues. This was followed by contemporary music programming positions at the Barbican Centre in London and Warwick Arts Centre in the West Midlands.

Working with No-Nation, Tom developed and produced events for venues and organisations including Sydney Opera House, South Bank Centre, Royal Opera House, Brighton Festival and Music Beyond Mainstream. More recently, he has developed UK and international touring projects with Asian Dub Foundation, The Light Surgeons and CDR.

Tom joined the British Council's music team in 2015 with responsibility for South Asia and Wider Europe

ROHAN STEPHENS | Touring Exhibitions Manager & Regional Advisor for South Asia, the Middle East and North Africa

Rohan Stephens manages the operations of all international tours of the British Council's collection along with the coordination of the exhibition at The British Pavilion for the Venice Biennale of Art and Architecture. Rohan started his career in Sydney, Australia managing the operations of various private galleries and auction rooms such as Sotheby's before relocating to London in 2012 to take up a position at Christie's.

Since arriving at British Council at the beginning of 2017, he has overseen the tour of Grayson Perry's The Vanity of Small Differences through 5 countries in the Western Balkans, David Shrigley's Lose You Mind from Korea to Japan and also David Hockney's Words and Pictures to Australia.

HISTORY MUSEUM OF BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA

ELMA HAŠIMBEGOVIĆ | Director of the Museum of History of Bosnia and Herzegovina

Having been a curator for 13 years, Elma was appointed Director of the History Museum in 2012. As a curator Elma worked on the permanent exhibition Besieged Sarajevo as well as ten temporary exhibitions.

The Museum is the third oldest museum institution in BiH founded in 1945. Today this is the only museum in BiH which covers history from the middle ages until the present day and aims to research, collect, preserve and promote historical and cultural heritage of BiH as a part of European and world heritage. The Museum belongs to the group of seven cultural institutions which have no successors twenty two years after the signing of the Dayton Peace Agreement. Despite the legal status unsolved and the on-going crisis, the Museum is reinventing itself and is a prime example of new approaches in cultural management.
