

International Inter-Agency MOOC offers free training Join international colleagues

Getting Care Right for All Children: Implementing the UN Guidelines for the Alternative Care of Children

All around the world, for many different reasons, hundreds of thousands of children cannot live with their parents. The UN Guidelines for the Alternative Care of Children set out the principles for policy and practice that have been agreed upon globally, to help towards tackling this issue.

Now it's your chance to take part in this free massive online open course (MOOC), which delves into what the UN Guidelines look like in practice. It is available in English, French and Spanish.

By the end of this 6 week interactive course you'll better understand the key principles, pillars and implications of the UN Guidelines, taking in views from across the world. Open to all, the course is for everyone interested in or responsible for children's care.

The course starts on 19 February 2018
- don't miss your chance to take part!

Book now

Some key facts...

- course runs for six weeks in total
- each weekly module contains around two hours of online learning with an optional two hours of reading
- each week you can stop / start the course any time
- weekly modules can be completed at your convenience

The international inter-agency group commissioned CELCIS, based in the University of Strathclyde, to develop the MOOC, which will be delivered through FutureLearn, the social learning platform.

