The 1st Open Call for the EU funded Venture Builder LEDGER project is launched.

If you have an idea for data-driven platform, bringing back control to citizens over their data, using DLTechnology, we can finance you and help you with the development process.

LEDGER, an European Commission funded project, is looking for people working on decentralized technologies such as blockchain to apply for their open call, access their 12 month programme and gain up to €200k equity-free.

LEDGER is looking for effective enterprise ideas that will make 32 teams into companies with a solid human-centric values business model.

Besides the €200.000 equity-free cash, participants receive DLT based software support and training, technological and business mentoring, vouchers and other enabling benefits throughout a venture builder programme by Dyne.org, a prime "think and do" tank active on open software development and part of the EU projects D-CENT and DECODE.
