INSTRUCTION FOR FORMATTING DOCTORAL THESES

Doctoral theses are written in Montenegrin or another language, in accordance with the law and the Rules of Doctoral studies, and contain a comparative title page, an expanded summary (up to 4 pages) and key words in both Montenegrin and English.

The thesis should be printed on A4 paper (210x297mm) with margins of 30 mm. The line space of the basic text of thesis should be 1.5. The text of each page should be logically ordered in sections.

The text is printed on one side of the paper only and pages should be numbered. All pages are counted from the Introduction to the end of the thesis. The numbers are written in the right bottom.

The letter font used for printing a Doctoral thesis should be Antiqua (seraph fonts, such as: Times New Roman, Garamond, Cambria, Minion, Book Antiqua, Linux Libertine, and so on), except for the covers and title page, for which letters of the grotesque type should be used (beseraph fonts, such as: Arial, Helvetica, Gill Sans, Calibri, Myriad, Linux Biolinum and so on).

The letter font in the text of the Doctoral thesis should be 12 typographic dots. All tables and figures should be adequately titled and numbered. Numbers and titles of tables are always given above tables.

Numbers and titles of figures are always given beneath figures.

If an illustration is not the authentic contribution of the author, he/she shall name the source (if the illustration has already been published), or else the creator (if the illustration has not yet been published) where/whom it was taken from. The source is to be named directly under the illustration.

If illustration is a reproduction of an artistic work, the creator is named (if he/she is known), the title, as well as any other necessary data relevant to certain forms of art.

A general rule states that all written papers must always clearly separate someone else's text and the data from the author's own text, conclusions, ideas, data and so on. Smaller amounts of text may be taken from other authors, but it must always be marked by quotation marks, with the exact quotation in the common form in the text and literature from which the text was taken.

The submitted thesis must be covered by a hard or paperback cover.

The electronic version of the thesis shall be identical to the printed one and formatted for archiving into the Digital Archive of the University of Montenegro.

The Doctoral Thesis shall consist of:

A Title page in the language used in the written thesis

After the Title page comes the Title page in English, if the thesis is not written in English, while if it is, then the Title page is in Montenegrin
