Content of Cambridge English: Proficiency (CPE)

Cambridge English: Proficiency, also known as Certificate of Proficiency in English (CPE) consists of four papers. The Reading and Use of English paper carries 40% of the marks while the Writing, Listening and Speaking papers each carry 20% of the marks. It is not necessary to pass all four papers in order to pass the examination. If you achieve a grade A, B or C in the examination, you will receive the Cambridge English: Proficiency certificate at Level C2. If your performance is below Level C2, but falls within Level C1, then you will receive a Cambridge English certificate stating that you have demonstrated ability at C1 level.

As well as being told your grade, you will also be given a Statement of Results – a graphical profile of your performance, i.e. it will show whether you have done especially well or badly on some of the papers.

Paper 1 Reading and Use of English 1 hour 30 minutes

There are seven parts to this paper and they are always in the same order. For Parts 1 to 4, the test contains texts with accompanying grammar and vocabulary tasks, and separate items with a grammar and vocabulary focus. For Parts 5 to 7, the test contains a range of texts and accompanying reading comprehension tasks. The texts are from books (fiction and non-fiction), non-specialist articles from magazines, newspapers and the internet.

Part	Task Type	Number of Questions	Task Format	Objective Exam Folder
1	Multiple-choice cloze	8	You must choose which word from four answers completes each of the gaps in a text.	3 (48–49)
2	Open cloze	8	You must complete a text with eight gaps using only one word in each gap.	2 (30–31)
3	Word formation	8	You need to use the right form of a given word to fill each of eight gaps in a text.	1 (14–15)
4	Key word transformations	6	You must complete a sentence with a given word, so that it means the same as the first sentence.	2 (30–31)
5	Multiple-choice text	6	You must read a text and answer the questions by finding the relevant information in the text.	7 (116–117)
6	Gapped text	7	You must read a text from which paragraphs have been removed and placed in jumbled order, together with an additional paragraph, after the text. You need to decide from where in the text the paragraphs have been removed.	5 (82–83)
7	Multiple matching	10	You read a text or several short texts, preceded by multiple-matching questions. You must match a prompt to elements in the text.	4 (64–65)

Paper 2 Writing 1 hour 30 minutes

There are two parts to this paper. Part 1 is compulsory, you have to answer it. In Part 2 there are five questions and you must choose one. Each part carries equal marks and you are expected to write 240–280 words for Part 1 and 280–320 words for Part 2.

Part	Task Type	Number of Tasks	Task Format	Objective Writing Folder or Unit
1	Question 1 An essay with a discursive focus	1 compulsory	You are given two short texts and you must write an essay summarising and evaluating the key ideas contained in the texts.	WF 1 (22–23); U1 (12–13); U3 (28–29); U5 (46–47); U7 (62–63); U9 (80–81); U11 (96–97); U13 (114–115); U15 (130–131); U17 (148–149); U19 (164–165)
2	Questions 2–4 • an article • a letter • a report • a review Question 5 Choice of two questions – one on each of the specified set texts: article, essay, letter, review, report	5 choose one	You are given a choice of topics which you have to respond to in the way specified.	Essay WF 3 (56–57) Article WF 5, 9 and 10 (90–91; 158–159; 174–175) Letter WF 7 and 10 (124–125; 174–175) Review WF 2 (38–39) Report WF 6 (106–107) Set text: Film tie-in WF 4 (72–73) Set text: Review WF 8 (140–141)

Paper 3 Listening about 40 minutes

There are four parts to this paper. Each part is heard twice. The texts are a variety of types either with one speaker or more than one.

Part	Task Type	Number of Questions	Task Format	Objective Exam Folder
1	Multiple-choice questions	6	You hear three short, unrelated extracts, with either one or two speakers. You must answer two questions on each extract, choosing from A, B or C.	9 (150–151)
2	Sentence completion	9	You must complete spaces in sentences with information given by one speaker.	8 (132–133)
3	Multiple-choice questions	5	You will hear two or more speakers interacting. You must choose your answer from A, B, C or D.	9 (150–151)
4	Multiple matching	10	There are two tasks, each task containing five questions. You must select five correct options from a list of eight.	6 (98–99)

Paper 4 Speaking about 16 minutes

There are three parts to this paper. There are usually two of you taking the examination and two examiners. This paper tests your accuracy, vocabulary, pronunciation and ability to communicate and manage the tasks.

Part	Task Type	Time	Task Format	Objective Exam Folder
1	The interviewer asks each candidate some questions	2 minutes	You will be asked some questions about yourself and asked to express personal opinions.	10 (166–167)
2	Two-way conversation between candidates	4 minutes	You will be given visual and written prompts which are used in a decision-making task.	10 (166–167)
3	A long turn for each candidate followed by a discussion on related topics	10 minutes in total	You will be given a written question to respond to. You will then be asked to engage in a discussion on related topics.	10 (166–167)

Ring the changes

Speaking

1 Everyone goes through changes, whether by choice or because of something outside their control. Talk about changes that have happened to you or might happen in the future, relating them to these phrases.

- a change for the better
- the earliest change you can remember
- a new location
- a change of direction in your life
- a change of heart

Which two phrases above are examples of idioms? Find a third idiom on this page.

Idiom spot

At C2 level, you need to understand and use phrases and idioms where the meaning is not transparent. You will probably know the individual words used, but this may not help! Some examples of common idioms are given below. Choose the correct option (a or b) to complete each definition. These idioms are used in the Listening section.

EXAMPLE: If something happens out of the blue, it is a) unexpected b) creative. Answer a)

- 1 When things fall into place, events happen to a) change the order of a list b) produce the situation you want.
- 2 If something goes downhill, it a) gradually becomes worse b) picks up speed.
- 3 If something is on the cards, it is a) likely to fail b) likely to happen.
- 4 When you are talking about a change in your life and you say the rest is history, you mean that a) it happened a long time ago b) you are sure that people know what happened next.

Listening

2 You will hear five different people talking about a key change in their lives. Tick each speaker's life-changing moment. There is one extra that you will not need.

life-changing moment	1	2	3	4	5 being made redundant gaining media attention meeting 'Mr Right' heading the wrong way losing something special stepping in for someone

3 Listen again to check your answers. Then choose one of the speakers and describe what happened to him or her.

Vocabulary

Phrasal verbs

Exam spot

Phrasal verbs are tested in Parts 1, 2 and 4 of Paper 1. Remember that their use is generally informal, so they should be used with care in Paper 2, where the tasks mostly require a more neutral or formal register.

You will already have come across many phrasal verbs, but now you need to add to this knowledge. If there are gaps in your learning, try to fill them in. How many phrasal verbs can you come up with from the recording in 2? Remember that some phrasal verbs contain two particles rather than one (an adverb and a preposition), as in the last example.

- 4 Match the verbs to the correct particle(s) to form phrasal verbs that were used by Speakers 1–5. Four of them are ‘three-part’ phrasal verbs.

EXAMPLE: break up (3)

verbs				particles
break	catch	cheer	come	around	at cut	end	get	hang	back	down
help	jump	pay	run	in	off settle	take	track	turn	on	out up	with

- 5 Now complete these sentences using a phrasal verb from 4 in a suitable tense. Sometimes the passive form will be needed.

EXAMPLE: The whole family moved to Switzerland last month and their two children are settling in well at school there.

- Their lives changed completely once the loan ..... as it meant they could treat themselves to meals out and weekends away.
- An old school friend ..... me ..... on the Internet and we met up recently to compare our life stories.
- The company offered Maria a post in the New York branch and she ..... the chance.
- During the last recession, local businesses ..... recruitment and no graduate trainees ..... as a result.
- Jeff explained that shortly after they bought the house together, he and his wife ..... and she moved to another town.
- People often manage to advance their careers by ..... the right people and telling them what they want to hear.
- Everything fell into place – she was offered the scholarship at Harvard, the flight was booked and her missing passport ..... just in time!
- My brother has had a change of heart and is willing to ..... me ..... with decorating the flat after all.

- 6 Read the text below, which is from the introduction to a book on feng shui. Decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

The ancient Chinese philosophers who considered feng (wind or air) and shui (water) to be the (1) ..... of mankind also understood that these were not the only supportive elements flowing through the (2) ..... . They perceived a subtler (3) ..... , calling it chi or ‘cosmic breath’. This life force is well-known to acupuncturists, who have (4) ..... elaborate maps of the ‘meridians’ or channels it uses to flow through the body. Kung Fu masters believe that chi can be concentrated in the human body, allowing someone to (5) ..... almost supernatural feats, such as the breaking of concrete blocks (6) ..... by using the edge of their hand. A real feng shui master is able to (7) ..... the flow of chi in a site, and may advise changes to the environment to (8) ..... health, wealth and good fortune.

- |                |              |            |               |

| 7 A suspect    | B realise    | C sense    | D endure      |
| 8 A set about  | B come about | C go about | D bring about |

Exam spot

Part 1 of Paper 1 is a short text with eight gaps. Don't panic if you find unfamiliar words in options A–D. Try the other words in the gap first. If you're sure they don't fit, choose the word you don't know.

- 1 Read these short texts about alternative ways of approaching city life. The highlighted parts illustrate some of the grammar areas that C2 learners continue to have problems with. What are they?
- 2 Tick any grammar areas below that you feel you need to work on. Add your main grammar problem if it is not listed.
- Modal verbs
 Passives
 Conditionals
 Perfect tenses
 Relative clauses
 Reported speech
 Uncountable nouns
 .....

Corpus spot

Correct the errors in perfect tenses in these sentences, which were written by exam candidates.

- a Three years ago I have been to Germany on a cultural exchange.
 b Tourism is a word that is being used for the last 50 years.
 c In England last year, I was able to appreciate things I have never seen in my entire life.
 d The noise levels have been measured in our suburb the other day and are twice the acceptable level.
 e All these years I'm practising basketball, I'm trying to become a better player.
 f When you will have bought your train tickets, you should take one each and put it into the machine.
 g Supposing they would have got married, wouldn't the day have come when they got bored with each other?
 h Nowadays, almost every disease has a cure and people have been caring more about their health.

A LIFE LESS ORDINARY

« Knit the City

From knitted graffiti to guerrilla crocheting – needle crafts have exploded in ways entirely unforeseen by previous generations. Our grandmothers would no doubt approve of twenty-somethings knitting something similar to a tea cosy (which they used to cover their teapots), even when it is large enough to keep a London phonebox warm! This original item of knitwear has been made by Knit the City, a subversive group of knitters who also operate in other capital cities. In Berlin, for example, a woolly 'Currywurst' was created entirely out of yarn recently. For those not in the know, the Currywurst is a popular fast food item – over 800 million of the sausage treats are sold every year!

Pink Lady Flamingo »»

You may have come across the extravagantly dressed Pink Lady Flamingo, whose real name is Maryanne Kerr, busking on the underground in London. She auditioned for an official licence to perform her music, having experimented with many previous careers. "I've been busking since I broke a recording contract with a major record company," said Maryanne, "because I refused to be dictated to." She added that she became a busker more than forty years ago and announced that she is in her late seventies now and still busking.

3 Explain how tense choice alters the meaning in these sentences. In which two sentences is there no change in meaning?

- a Mirek has gone / went to Gdansk on business.
- b Our society has been suffering / was suffering from high unemployment for decades.
- c We were given / have been given more time to complete the task.
- d Top government ministers have been dealing / have dealt with the problem.
- e Matt and James have played / have been playing golf all day.
- f I've thought / been thinking about what you said.
- g Is there anything else we could have done / will have done?
- h Come October, we will have lived / will have been living here for eleven years.

4 Answer these questions so that they are true for you, using perfect tenses.

- a How long have you been learning English?
- b What have you never done that you would like to do?
- c What change has been made to your town or city recently that you don't approve of?
- d Which single change would most improve your quality of life at home?
- e What may have changed in your life by this time next year?

5 Complete the text below, using the words in brackets in such a way that they fit the space grammatically.

Innovation in our lives

Across the centuries, people's daily lives (1) ..... (continually transform) by innovation. One of the most obvious characteristics of the 20th century was the rapid growth of technology, with individual quality of life (2) ..... (improve) immeasurably as a result. Basic labour-saving appliances such as washing machines, refrigerators and freezers were commonplace in the home by the 1960s and the demand for these and other 'white goods' (3) ..... (further stimulate) by the availability of cheap electricity and noticeable increases in personal wealth during that decade.

Personal computers first made their appearance in the home in the 1970s, but surely few people (4) ..... (be able to) imagine then that the home computer could evolve into the super-fast, super-sleek machines of today. Nor could they (5) ..... (even think) that handheld mobile gadgets would (6) ..... (use constantly) by all of us, in our desperation to keep up with everything from office correspondence to world news.

So what lies ahead of us? By 2025, will we (7) ..... (embrace) even more sophisticated technological aids – or will the world's resources (8) ..... (deplete) by mankind to such an extent that there will be insufficient electricity to support these advances? Only time will tell.

Reading into Writing: Summarising ideas

- 1 What changes do you notice in the world around you? Identify the changes shown in the pictures and categorise them, choosing from the adjectives below. Then suggest other changes that could be classified under these categories.

commercial	environmental	physical political	social	technological

Vocabulary

Word formation

- 2 The adjectives above are formed from nouns. Generally, the suffix -al is added to the noun, as in environmental. Explain the formation rules for commercial and technological.

The suffixes -able and -ive frequently combine with verbs to form adjectives, as in favourable and supportive. Explain the formation rules for creative and variable.

The suffix -ous combines with nouns, as in courageous. Give two more examples.

Other common adjectival suffixes added to nouns are -ful and -less, as in meaningful and harmless. Give two more examples of each.

- 3 For sentences a–j, replace the words in italics with a single adjective formed from one of the verbs or nouns given. What adjectives are formed from the four remaining words?

adventure	alternate	disaster	dispose exhaust	experiment	flaw	hope identify	mass	notice	philosophy
predict	speech	understand

EXAMPLE: I've been given this very lengthy and complete list of all the repairs needed in the flat. Exhaustive

- a My boss's response to my plea for changes to my job description was exactly what I was expecting.
- b If the weather is unfavourable, do you have any other suggestions to replace our original plans?
- c Both sides in the conflict are expressing their optimism that the ceasefire will hold.
- d Jeremy seems to have calmly accepted the news about the break-in.
- e That play I went to see last night was trying something new in its use of dialect.
- f I was incapable of any reply when Ella told me she had quit her job.
- g It's really easy to see how much fitter Liam has become since he started swimming regularly.
- h Your last piece of writing was without any mistakes whatsoever.
- i Many of today's products are used only once and then thrown away, which is having an impact on the environment.
- j The updating of the university's computer system has had extremely bad and far-reaching consequences.

Exam spot

In the Paper 2, Part 1 compulsory task, you will read two short texts in order to summarise and evaluate them. You will need to reproduce different ideas concisely, using your own words wherever possible.

- 4 In extracts 1 and 2, important information has been underlined. Do the same in 3 and 4. Then answer questions 1–3 below the texts.

1 We pick up on health and social status from facial features, as shown by a recent research project where people were unconsciously attracted to healthy females and wealthy men, even when they only had a picture of a face (without make-up or jewellery) to judge them by.

2 It was in 1856, while working in his tiny laboratory at home, that William Perkin produced, quite by chance, the colour mauve, which not only revolutionised the dye industry but also led to important innovations in perfume, photography and, most significantly for modern medicine, to the development of aspirin.

3 Rather than burgers and fries being a product of the social changes seen over the last fifty years in America, the author suggests that fast food brands were to a large extent responsible for these changes, as they profoundly affected both lifestyle and diet.

4 Tiny holes found in human teeth estimated to be over 8000 years old are now believed to be the earliest evidence of dentistry, for when these holes were examined with an electron microscope, researchers found their sides were too perfectly rounded to be caused by bacteria and have therefore proposed that they were drilled by prehistoric dentists.

- 1 Which information in text 1 is summarised in the following sentence?
People form opinions of others by looking at their faces.
What has been omitted?
- 2 Which phrase in text 1 could be replaced by the verb assess or evaluate?
- 3 Which underlined words in text 2 could be replaced by others?

- 5 Choose from a–f the best summary sentence for text 2, judging it by the inclusion of information, use of alternative words, choice of register and conciseness. Say why the remaining sentences are less successful.

- a Mauve not only radically changed the dye industry but also led to new discoveries of anything from perfume to aspirin.
- b By cooking up mauve in his lab, Perkin pushed the dye industry forward and set the ball rolling in other industries too, such as perfume and photography and aspirin.
- c In accidentally discovering mauve, Perkin transformed dyeing and many other areas, notably medicine.
- d Perkin discovered a special pale purple colour and this discovery was revolutionary for the dye industry and also for the pharmaceutical industry, since it led to the innovation of aspirin.
- e Aspirin owes its development to Perkin, who found mauve by chance in his laboratory at home.
- f Commercially-speaking, Perkin's chance discovery was very important, as other innovations followed, for example the development of aspirin.

- 6 Now write summary sentences for texts 3 and 4, referring to the parts you have underlined and using between 12 and 20 words for each. Use your own words wherever possible.

Paper 1 Part 3 Word formation

In Part 3 of the Reading and Use of English paper, you will be asked to read a text and complete the eight numbered gaps with a form of the word in capitals at the end of the line. There is an example at the beginning of the text.

There are three main categories of changes that are tested. These are affixation (suffixes and prefixes), compound and grammatical changes. Unlike lower level examinations, at Proficiency level there is no limit to the number of changes which might be required to the root word.

Below are some examples of the changes you might need to make.

Affixes

noun to adjective flaw to flawless noun to negative adverb effect to ineffectively adjective to negative adverb definite to indefinitely verb to noun act to interaction verb to plural noun apply to applicants adjective to verb deep to deepened

1 Do the following for practice. Make sure you check the following:

- do you need to make the word plural?
- is a prefix needed?
- does any prefix need to be negative?

- a There are a number of ..... activities now CURRICULUM being offered at the school.
- b People have always enjoyed the ..... effects of sea air. BENEFIT
- c Tony is a really ..... OPINION person.
- d The animal ..... really KING fascinates my young daughter.
- e Stefan was a ..... COMPEL collector of gadgets throughout his life.
- f It was rapidly becoming ..... that we would have APPEAR to make changes to our plans.
- g There have been a number of female ..... in the INNOVATE field of aircraft design.
- h There were a number of ..... built into the CONSTRAIN contract.

- i The ..... of fast food CONSUME is increasing at a frightening rate.
- j ..... seems to suit Ella DOMESTIC – she’s really happy with her home life.
- k The side wall of the house had to be ..... STRONG
- l I believe she had the ..... FORTUNE to have been seriously ill as a child.
- m The broken vase turned out to be totally ..... REPLACE
- n She showed her deep ..... by slamming the APPROVE door in our faces.
- o The police tried to evict the three ..... OCCUPY from the building.

Compounds

Compounds are often tested at this level.

EXAMPLE:

- a The ..... of the meeting COME was rather inconclusive.
Answer: outcome
- b His brother had a second-hand car which was barely ..... ROAD
Answer: roadworthy

2.1

Expectation

Speaking

- 1 Work with a partner. Look at the photos. What expectations would you have of a holiday in each of the places?

On which holiday might you

- get off the beaten track?
- be able to chill out?
- possibly have to rough it?
- end up spending a fortune?
- get by on a shoestring budget?
- enjoy being a culture vulture?
- get back to nature?
- be in the lap of luxury?

If you have had such a holiday, did it live up to your expectations? Have you ever had a holiday which exceeded/didn't live up to your expectations?

Exam spot

In Part 7 of Paper 1 there are a number of short texts or one long text divided into sections. You need to read the sections carefully and then look at the questions. Underline your answer when you have found it. Make sure that your underlined text fully answers the question.

Reading

- 2 You are going to read an article about holidays and what we expect of them. Read through the article quickly to get a general idea of what it is about, ignoring the highlights for now. What does the writer think about holidays?

The way we travel now

A

The prospect of a holiday is liable to persuade even the most downcast that life is worth living. Few events are anticipated more eagerly, nor form the subject of more complex and enriching daydreams. They offer us perhaps our finest chance to achieve happiness – outside of the constraints of work, of our struggle for survival and for status. The way we choose to spend them embodies, if only unknowingly, an understanding of what life might ideally be about. However, holidays almost always go wrong. The tragicomic disappointments of travel are a staple of office chat; the half-built hotel, the sense of disorientation, the mid-afternoon despair, the dreary fellow travellers, the lethargy before ancient ruins.

B

I remember a trip to Barbados a few years ago. I looked forward to it for months. But on my first morning on the island, I realised something at once obvious and surprising; that my body proved a temperamental partner. Asked to sit on a deckchair so that the mind could savour the beach, the trees and the sun, it collapsed into difficulties; the ears complained of an enervating wind, the skin of stickiness and the toes of sand lodged between them. Unfortunately, I had brought something else that risked clouding my appreciation of my surroundings; my entire mind – not only the part that had planned the journey and agreed to pay for it, but also the part committed to anxiety, boredom, self-disgust and financial alarm. At home, as I had pored over the photographs of Barbados, I had felt oblivious to anything besides their contents. I had simply been in the pictures; alone with their elements. But melancholy and regrets were my bedfellows on that Caribbean isle, acting like panes of distorting glass between myself and the world.

C

There was a trip to a hotel in France a friend took with his wife. The setting was sublime, the room flawless – and yet they managed to have a row which, for all the good the room and setting did them, meant that they might as well have stayed at home. The row (it started with who had forgotten the key in the room and extended to cover the whole of the relationship) was a reminder of the rigid, unforgiving logic to which human moods seem subject – and which we ignore at our peril. Our capacity to draw happiness from aesthetic or material goods seems critically dependent on first satisfying a more important range of emotional or psychological needs, among them the need for understanding, for love, expression and respect.

D

It may be necessary to accept that the anticipation of travel is perhaps the best part about it. Our holidays are never as satisfying as they are when they exist in an as-yet-unrealised form; in the shape of an airline ticket and a brochure. In the great 19th-century novel, Against Nature, by JK Huysmans, the narrator goes on a few holidays which go wrong and then decides never to leave home again. He has the itineraries of the major shipping companies framed and lines his bedroom with them. He fills an aquarium with seaweed, buys a sail, some rigging and a pot of tar and, with these aids is able to experience the most pleasant sides of a long sea voyage without the inconveniences such as sea-sickness, storms or uncongenial fellow passengers. I continue to travel myself but there are times when I too feel there might be no finer journeys than those provoked in the imagination by remaining at home slowly turning the pages of an airline timetable.

- 3 You need to decide in which part of the text you will find the answer to the questions. Do the following question for practice.

Which section mentions a number of unanticipated problems faced by the writer?

You will see that there are problems mentioned in sections A, B, C and D (highlighted). However, which section mentions problems which are 'unanticipated' and 'faced by the writer'?

Now do questions 2–8.

Which section mentions the possibility of the writer altering a previous pattern of behaviour?

negative emotions being ever present?

the fact that some conditions must be met for other aims to be achieved?

the frequency of a certain topic being raised?

the possibility that an unfulfilled objective may be more desirable?

the writer finding it impossible to achieve his goal?

the belief that the selection of a holiday is a product of an unconscious desire?

Vocabulary

Collocations with traveller

- 4 The writer in the article talks about 'dreary fellow travellers'. Circle the most suitable collocation in these sentences.

- Dr Parr was a frequent / recurrent traveller to Dublin.
- There has been a rise in the numbers of self-contained / independent travellers as opposed to those on packages.
- Seasoned / Practised* travellers know exactly how to get an upgrade on their bookings.
- I'm fed up with reading about all these intrepid / heroic travellers going up the Amazon river in a canoe.
- The hotel offers fatigued / weary travellers an excellent opportunity to recharge their batteries.
- LuxVac is the resort for judicious / discerning travellers – ones who know how to appreciate the good things in life.
- My father has always been more of a / an armchair / sofa traveller, much to my mother's disgust!
- Susie is the kind of inveterate / habitual traveller who will probably never settle down in one place.
- The hotel touts lie in wait for unguarded / unwary travellers and then take them to unsuitable lodgings.

- 5 Discuss with a partner.

- Do you agree with the ideas put forward by the writer? Why / Why not?
- Do you think it's better to travel hopefully than arrive? Why / Why not?

- 1 When we want to talk about the future in English we have to use a variety of tenses, modals and expressions, not just will do. The context of the sentence is what tells us which aspect of the future to use.

For example, there are many different variations possible for the verb in brackets here: What you (do) tonight?

Answers

- a What are you doing tonight?
- b What will you do tonight?
- c What are you going to do tonight?
- d What will you be doing tonight?
- e What will you have done tonight?
- f What were you going to do tonight?

Before you can decide which aspect of the future to use, you need to know the context. With a partner, discuss when each of the forms above would be used.

G → pages 178–179

Note – the present simple is also used to express the future when talking about travel arrangements, e.g. The ship leaves on Saturdays, and also about facts that can't be changed, e.g. Tomorrow is Wednesday.

- 2 Choose the best alternative in sentences a–s.

EXAMPLE: I think I will / 'm going to faint – let me get some air!

- a He never does any work, I'm sure he's going to get / he's getting the sack.
- b That will be / is going to be the postman – he usually comes round at this time.
- c The plane for Zurich leaves / will leave at 16.00 on Fridays.

- d Sue is going to get / is getting her visa next week, if she has time.
- e It's a lovely day – I think I'll go / I'll be going to the beach.
- f I rang her up to tell her that I won't go / I'm not going to the party because I'm already busy that night.
- g I'll see you on Saturday. What will you do / will you be doing in the afternoon?
- h By the year 2040 a manned space ship will travel / will have travelled to Io.
- i The hotel is not to allow / is not allowing guests to use the car park this week, while building work goes ahead.
- j I will do / am doing my packing this afternoon, if I can find my suitcase.
- k Peter will have been painting / will have painted that portrait for three weeks by Saturday.
- l This time next year we will have finished / will finish our exams.
- m Don't let him read in the coach – he'll feel / he's going to feel sick.
- n What will you be doing / will you do if the flight is delayed tomorrow?
- o Tomorrow is / will be Tuesday.
- p I will have / am having caviar tonight – it's already in my fridge!
- q I'll ring you on my mobile when I will arrive / arrive.
- r Stop worrying – the train is arriving / will be arriving soon.
- s Will / Shall I help you?

- 3 With a partner, decide what you would say in the following situations.

EXAMPLE: Your birthday tomorrow. I'm 22 tomorrow. / I'll be 22 tomorrow. (fact/neutral future)

- a Your intention to clean your car tomorrow.
- b You see dark clouds in the sky.
- c The weather next week.

- d Your dinner tonight – salmon and salad already in the fridge.
- e Your government – a solution to pollution by the year 2050.
- f Your future job in 10 years' time.
- g An airline timetable – Singapore 6.00 Fridays.

4 The following expressions are used to express probability:

- to be bound to + infinitive
- to be certain to + infinitive
- to be likely/unlikely to + infinitive

Using a suitable tense or one of the expressions above, talk to your partner about the following:

- a The effects the growth in the speed of travel will have on your life.
- b The goals you will have achieved by the middle of the century.
- c It's your English friend's first day on holiday in your town. Tell him/her what to expect.

5 The following expressions can be used for the very near future.

- to be about to + infinitive – more informal use, everyday situations and spoken English
- to be on the brink of + noun; to be on the point/verge of + gerund/noun – more formal use, usually in written English

EXAMPLE: The government is on the brink of collapse.
She was on the verge of bursting into tears.
I'm about to make a cup of coffee.

Make sentences using one of the expressions above and including one of these words or phrases. Think carefully about formal/informal use.

disaster	leave home	get married bed	extinction	revolution
a scientific breakthrough

Vocabulary

Prepositional phrases

6 Complete sentences a–i with the following prepositional phrases. (Use each phrase once only.)

in the region of	on behalf of on the brink of	in vain on the verge of to some extent	on the grounds (of)/(that) in conjunction with	with the exception of

- a The judge closed the club ..... there was too much noise being made.
- b The speech to the assembly was made ..... the Prime Minister who, unfortunately, couldn't attend.
- c I think you, ....., bear some responsibility for making her leave home.
- d Tom was ..... downloading the file when he realised it might have a virus attached.
- e The journalist reported that the city was ..... a crisis.
- f The staff pay rise was ..... 3%.
- g Tom looked ..... for the photos he had put away in the attic.
- h The book was released ..... a TV special and a DVD.
- i Everyone here, ..... Agnes and Liam, has tickets for the trip.

Have no ...

7 Have is often used in expressions with an abstract noun with no. With a partner, use these expressions to say what is true for you. Take care with prepositions.

EXAMPLE: I don't object to staying at home instead of travelling abroad.

I have no objection to staying at home instead of travelling abroad. No, this isn't true for me. I really enjoy going on holidays and dislike having to stay at home.

- a I'm not interested in going somewhere like Las Vegas.
- b I don't regret spending too much money on my last holiday.
- c I can't remember childhood holidays.
- d I wouldn't hesitate to book a cruise.
- e I will have to stay at home this year rather than go away.
- f I don't intend to ever go to Disneyland.
- g I don't have time to look at lots of travel brochures.

Exam spot

Parts 1–4 of Paper 1 test a broad range of vocabulary, so you should learn vocabulary in an organised way. Write down new words and phrases in your vocabulary notebook under headings such as prepositional phrases, adjective–noun collocations, phrasal verbs and so on. Try to include an example sentence to show meaning and usage.

Listening and Speaking

In Part 1 of Paper 4 you may be asked questions about your expectations and ambitions in life. Here you are going to hear three short extracts which are all concerned in some way with expectations.

- 1 The words and phrases in italics below occur in the extracts. Before you listen, work with a partner and explain their meaning.
- Conservative ideas about women in the workplace really get my goat.
  - I got a bit carried away when I went shopping and spent far too much money.
  - How much did you fork out for your new shoes?
  - The credit card bill was pretty hefty this month – I'll have to watch my step in future.
  - My sister was on a tight budget when she was at college.
  - She let her imagination run wild when she painted her room.
  - I'm dead set on going to university and getting my degree.
  - His ideas for expanding the company are very much in line with mine.
- 2  03 You will hear three different people talking about their expectations. For each extract, choose the answer (A, B or C) which fits best according to what you hear.

Extract One

You hear a woman talking about her expectations of a round-the-world trip. How does the speaker say she felt when planning her trip?

- shocked by the potential cost
- happy to make compromises
- doubtful whether she could go

Extract Two

You hear a student talking about someone who has influenced him. What does he think is the most important factor in becoming successful?

- having a supportive family
- having academic qualifications
- having high expectations of yourself

Extract Three

You hear a radio newsreader talking about a new survey of young people. What does he say about young people's expectations now?

- They continue to rise with their age.
- They are slightly more realistic than previously.
- They are different to those of a previous generation.

Phrase spot

In the first listening extract, the speaker said:
I didn't intend to be thumbing lifts.

If you 'thumb a lift', you signal with your thumb for a vehicle to stop and give you a free lift. Many nouns for parts of the body have related verbs that are used in phrases or idioms.

Match the verbs 1–6 with a–f to form phrases or idioms. Which verb can be used twice?

1 elbow	a the burden
2 face	b the bill
3 foot	c the idea
4 shoulder	d the line
5 stomach	e the music
6 toe	f people aside

Use the phrases to complete these sentences, changing the verb form where necessary.

- It is part of a manager's job to ..... of complaints made by guests.
- Don't worry about paying for your hotel – I'm happy to .....
- On his return to Canada, he finally ..... and told his wife about his debts.
- At the resort, I always ..... on company policy, even if I disagreed with it.
- Jenny couldn't really ..... of moving to a big city, so she turned the job down.
- The woman ..... in the queue so she could get on the plane first.

3 Discuss these questions with a partner.

- Do you have much opportunity to travel? Where would you go if you had the choice?
- How would you feel about a round-the-world trip?
- What are your expectations of a job and salary?
- How important to you is it to do well academically?
- How do you feel about the idea of becoming an entrepreneur?
- What would your priorities be if you were bringing up children?

Exam spot

In Part 1 of Paper 4 you will be expected to have a conversation with the interlocutor – the person who will be asking you questions during the examination. This part of the examination is aimed at settling you down and also encourages you to give information about yourself – for example, your plans and expectations.

Try not to begin every sentence with 'I think'. Use a variety of language, e.g.

- personally, it's my belief, for my part, in my view, speaking personally
- on the whole, generally, by and large, for the most part
- I'm undecided/unsure, I'm ambivalent about, I'm in two minds about

Pronunciation

- 4 A homophone is a word which is pronounced in the same way as another word but has a different meaning or a different spelling or both, for example they're/their/there.

Replace the wrong word in each of the sentences with its homophone and write a sentence which shows how the other word is used.

EXAMPLE: I don't <sup>know</sup>no what to expect from this new government.

There were no strawberries in the market today.

- Can you tell me the weigh to the centre of town, please?
- How many pears of trousers do you own?
- Let's meat for lunch tomorrow.
- His new girlfriend is air to a fortune.
- Walking down the isle was the scariest thing Ellen had ever done.
- The school principle is going to speak to everyone at midday.
- Great the cheese over the vegetables and bake for twenty minutes.
- The horse tossed its main and neighed.
- This fish bar does the best place and chips in town.

Writing folder 1

Part 1 Essay

Part 1 is the compulsory question on Paper 2. You have to write an essay based on two short texts, which either present opposing or complementary viewpoints. There will be two main points in each text. You must summarise and evaluate the ideas expressed, using your own words as far as possible and adding your own ideas on the topic where relevant.

The essay should be between 240 and 280 words in length. Remember that you will only have 90 minutes to complete the whole of Paper 2, so use your time wisely. It is better to spend some time planning what you are going to write, rather than attempting to do a rough copy of a whole answer.

- 1 Read the two texts below and say whether they contain opposing or complementary ideas about museums today.

Text 1

Even in our information-rich digital age, when there are diverse ways of occupying our leisure time, museums continue to play a fundamental role in society. Over the last decade in particular, museums have become more community-orientated, and the majority seek to be inclusive rather than elitist, reaching out to everyone. This change of heart has necessitated a degree of creativity in the presentation of information. Objects rarely 'speak for themselves' and, where a low reading age must often be assumed, museum curators have looked to modern technology to breathe more life into exhibits, whether through interactive techniques, or accompanying audio-visual effects.

Text 2

The purpose of a museum is to stimulate learning and broaden the horizons of its visitors, yet many museums nowadays appear to neglect this responsibility in an attempt to entertain rather than educate. The dumbing down of exhibitions is widespread – in short, the medium has become more important than the message. Learning is all too often compromised by technological wizardry, which may impress on a superficial level but essentially trivialises, and provides a content-lite 'experience'. Whether this is in response to government cuts or merely reflects a trend among museum directors, it is undoubtedly a change for the worse.

- 2 Decide on the four main points that are covered in the texts, choosing from a–f. Underline the parts of each text that confirm your choices.
  - a Given the wealth of information online, museums are no longer relevant.
  - b Judicious use of technology has made museums more accessible to the public.
  - c Many museums create innovative displays but this is at the expense of substance.
  - d Museums have had to reduce the number of objects displayed due to a lack of funds.
  - e In contrast to their former position in society, museums now seek to engage a wider audience.
  - f The recent shift in policy is undesirable as museums have lost sight of their core role in society.

3 Using the sentence openers below, rewrite your four choices from a–f in 2, in your own words.

The second text raises the issue of ...
The writer is of the opinion that ...
Additionally, it is argued that ...

4 Read the sample answer below, thinking about these questions.

Does the writer

- summarise all four points from the texts?
- evaluate each of the four points?
- use their own words throughout?
- add relevant ideas of their own?

EXAM ADVICE

- Read the texts carefully.
- Underline the four key points.
- Decide how far you agree with these points.
- List some relevant ideas of your own.
- Plan your answer in four or five paragraphs.
- Select one or two important phrases to quote from the texts.
- Remember to use your own words where possible.

The texts consider the role of museums in our modern world. Both texts identify a shift in museum policy, which has had an impact on how museums are seen by the general public.

The first text views museums positively and the writer suggests that a real attempt has been made to attract a more diverse audience. In order to support this, museum curators have had to come up with alternative ways of displaying the objects in their possession and have relied on new technology to “breathe more life” into them. This is an interesting point of view that justifies the use of innovative technology as a way of engaging people’s interest in museum exhibits, especially those who are less literate.

In contrast, the second text raises the issue of “dumbing down” and its writer claims that those in charge of museums have lost their way. They have forgotten that the purpose of a museum is to stimulate learning and broaden the horizons of its visitors and the writer is of the opinion that this is a change for the worse, because the medium has become more important than the message.

The first text outlines how museums have taken steps to maintain their role in our “information-rich digital age”, while the second text complains about the use of technology in museums nowadays.

5 Rewrite the second sentence of Paragraph 3 in your own words. You may find some of this alternative vocabulary useful.

purpose – aim, function, objective stimulate – encourage, promote a change for the worse – less desirable, an unfortunate outcome the medium – the method of delivery
the message – the subject matter, the content

6 Write a final paragraph of about 60 words, including your own ideas about the points made in the texts.

Speaking

- 1 Look at the following sayings about the weather and discuss them with a partner. Do you think they are true? Do you have similar sayings in your country? Do sayings such as these have any place in our modern world?
- Red sky at night, shepherd's delight, Red sky in the morning, shepherd's warning.
  - Cows lying in the field means rain is on its way.

Listening

- 2  04 You are going to hear a writer called Peter Watkins being interviewed by the programme presenter, Sue Manchester. He is talking about his book, which discusses the behaviour of animals and birds in relation to the weather.

For questions a–j decide whether these statements are true or false.

- Sue has little faith in the accuracy of sayings about the weather.
- Peter says that nowadays people are less interested in sayings than in previous times.
- Peter says that low-flying birds suffer badly in storms.
- Peter believes that there is a logical explanation for why certain birds change their habits.
- According to Peter, insects have difficulty in sensing changes in the atmosphere.
- Sue concludes that the rain goose's behaviour is surprising.
- Peter says that weather sayings used to be confined to the farming community.
- Peter says that the sayings fulfilled a basic human need for control.
- Sue agrees with Peter about the contradictory nature of some of the sayings.
- Peter says that in the past people relied on animal and bird behaviour to predict the weather.

Phrase spot

In the recording, Peter Watkins uses the phrase: life and death.

Pairs of words used like this are fixed – you cannot say death and life.

Using a dictionary to help you, decide whether these pairs are in the right order and explain how you would use these phrases.

give and take	black and white again and time	thick and thin
high and dry	go and touch
fortune and fame	blood and flesh
first and foremost	soul and life

Complete the sentences below with the correct phrase.

- Jenny promised to live with Nigel through .....
- When Joe was 18 he left home to find .....
- It was ..... whether we would get to the airport in time.
- ....., we need to solve the budget problem and then we can move on to other issues.
- ....., we see this pattern of behaviour repeating itself.
- There needs to be a bit of ..... in every relationship.
- My brother James is the ..... of any family party.
- My aunt treats her relatives really badly, considering they are her own .....
- When the company closed down I was left ..... without a job.
- How could you not understand? Look at this letter – it's all there in .....

- 1 How does the weather affect your mood? Do you think people's characters are influenced by where they live and the weather they are used to? Give some examples.
- 2 Read this article about the effect of the wind on mood.

There's an old English saying: When the wind is in the east, 'tis good for neither man nor beast. Whether you believe in folklore or not, this one's got a grain of truth in it. Winds have been associated with a rise in the levels of serotonin, a compound which occurs in the brain and which controls mood, sleep and blood circulation. This rise in serotonin has been found to occur in the Swiss population during a Föhn wind. The Föhn is said to be responsible for traffic accidents rising by fifty per cent and a rise in industrial injuries by twenty per cent.

It's not only the Swiss who suffer. Los Angeles is occasionally buffeted by the Santa Ana, a hot dry wind named after the canyon it sometimes blows through. One study found that murders rose by up to a half during a Santa Ana, no matter if it blew during winter or summer. In California's early days, defendants in crimes of passion were able to plead for leniency, citing the wind as an extenuating circumstance.

The quality of the air can be a force for good, however. The Victorians especially prized sea air for its health-giving properties. Sea air is charged with negative ions which makes it feel invigorating. To get a similar effect you can stand next to a waterfall, or even under a domestic shower.

Now, with a partner, complete the sentences using information from the article.

- a When the Föhn blows, ...
- b If you go to the seaside, ...
- c Even if the Santa Ana blew at a different time to normal, ...
- d I wouldn't have murdered my wife ...
- e You are less likely to have an accident if ...
- f If I were you, ...

- 3 What kind of conditional is used in each sentence in 2? When do we use these forms?

EXAMPLE: People can be adversely affected if a certain wind is blowing. Zero conditional (present tense + present tense). This is used to express a universal truth or habitual action.

Corpus spot

The Cambridge Learner Corpus shows that even at C2 level, learners still make mistakes with basic conditional clauses. Be careful to use the right tense and check whether a negative or positive verb form is needed. The learner example below contains a common mistake – what is it?

EXAMPLE: If someone treats these two things equally, he can easily succeed in both, unless he does not succumb to the temptation of laziness.

4 There are other forms of the conditional besides the four basic patterns. Look at the following examples and discuss how they are formed and what they express.

EXAMPLE: But for my father's help, I wouldn't have been able to complete my course.

'But for' is used in third conditional sentences and has the meaning of 'If it hadn't been for'.

- a Should you happen to see Lucy, tell her to ring me.
- b If you would sit down, I'm sure Mr Peterson will see you soon.
- c I'll diet if you will.
- d You can borrow the money from me as long as you pay me back.
- e Had I known about the weather conditions, I wouldn't have ventured out.
- f Provided that you tell the truth, nothing will happen to you.
- g You could be a lot thinner now, if you hadn't given up your diet so easily.
- h Were the Prime Minister to announce lower tax increases, the country would be delighted.
- i You can't come unless you have an invitation.

5 If isn't the only conjunction used in conditional sentences. Complete the sentences using the following conjunctions.

given that	on condition that but for / without	even if provided that / as long as	suppose/supposing unless

- a ..... lightning tends to strike the nearest high point, you would do well not to stand under a tall tree during a thunderstorm.
- b ..... you learn to drive better, I won't be getting in your car again.
- c ..... you use a sun screen, you shouldn't get burnt.
- d ..... the support of my boss, I wouldn't have been promoted.
- e ..... you do say you love me, I'm not marrying you.
- f I'll give you a lift to school ..... you wash the car for me at the weekend.
- g ..... there was an air traffic controllers' strike, what would you do?

6 Rewrite each sentence, beginning with the words in italics, without changing the meaning.

EXAMPLE: I didn't drown because my instructor knew how to help me.

Had my instructor not known how to help me, I would have drowned.

- a Could you tell her my address if, by any chance, you see her.
Should .....
- b As people were dependent on farming for their livelihood, it's not surprising that they used animal behaviour to predict the weather.
Given that .....
- c You can borrow my bike but you must take care of it.
Provided that .....
- d Kindly have a seat as I'm sure Mr Johnson won't be long.
If .....
- e My advice to you is to get another job.
If .....
- f I'm not earning much money because I didn't work hard enough to pass my diploma.
If .....
- g I wouldn't have been able to afford to go to university except that my grandmother left me some money.
But for .....
- h Climatic changes may, in due course, render weather lore obsolete.
Were .....

Speaking

7 In groups, ask and answer these questions.

What will you do if

- a you can't get home tonight?
- b you get more homework than you expect?
- c your Internet stops working?
- d the fire alarm goes?

What would you do if you

- e won the lottery?
- f lost your mobile?
- g were on a plane which was hijacked?
- h had the chance to take six months' holiday?

What would you have done if you'd

- i been born with a mathematical or musical gift?
- j been given the opportunity to study in the USA?
- k been born poor?

- 1 What makes you angry? Look at this list. With a partner, put them in order with the most infuriating at the top. Justify your decisions.
  - a People talking loudly on their mobiles
  - b Being overtaken by a sports car
  - c Rude shop assistants
  - d Computers that keep crashing
  - e Jokes which are in bad taste
  - f Poor government decisions
  - g Being overcharged
- 2 The nouns in the box express extreme emotions. Decide which emotion (a–f) they express.

rage	dejection	revulsion	tedium
bliss	sorrow	fury	dread
incredulity	terror	loathing	astonishment
apathy	delight

EXAMPLE: disgust – revulsion, loathing

- a anger
  - b fear
  - c happiness
  - d sadness
  - e surprise
  - f boredom
- 3 Read through the article below on anger and answer the questions that follow.

New psychological research suggests that air rage, road rage and other seemingly irrational outbursts of wild-eyed, foaming-at-the-mouth fury could be extreme responses to the violation of a set of unwritten rules that choreographs our every waking moment without our even realising it. Apparently, we walk around in a sort of invisible bubble which is egg-shaped – this is because we allow people to come closer from in front than from behind – an entire language is expressed via the amount of distance we choose to keep between each other. In northern Europe and North America (lovers, close friends and wrestling partners aside) the average depth of the bubble is about a metre. When it's intruded upon the physiological responses can range from feelings of mild annoyance and tension to a pounding heart, raised blood pressure, sweating and severe anxiety. Tension levels increase hugely when someone comes too close and you get a feeling of being invaded, and responses fall into two categories. The first kind are blocking tactics when you avert your gaze, put your hand up at the side of your head or just make yourself immobile; then there are the tension and anxiety-reduction responses, hair-pulling, foot-tapping, getting red in the face and ultimately leaving the scene.

- 1 Where do you think you would read this article? What evidence is there to support your decision?
  - A in a magazine or newspaper
  - B in a psychology textbook
  - C in an advertisement
  - D in a health awareness leaflet
- 2 Why does the writer describe air and road rage as 'seemingly irrational'?
- 3 List both the inward and the outward signs which may occur when one's space is invaded.

Vocabulary

Word formation

- 4 Complete the second sentence of each pair below with an adjective with a negative prefix.

EXAMPLE: The driver didn't apologise for his bad behaviour.

The driver was unapologetic about his bad behaviour.

- a It's very hard to predict the results of the meeting, I'm afraid.
The outcome of the meeting is ..... , I'm afraid.
- b You can't deny that global warming is becoming a real threat.
It is ..... that global warming is becoming a real threat.
- c There is a real need to raise consciousness about the influence of the media on our lives.
Many of us are still largely ..... of the influence of the media on our lives and this needs to change.
- d The damage to the car was of no significance.
There was an ..... amount of damage to the car.
- e It won't be possible to replace that vase, I'm afraid.
Unfortunately, that vase is .....
- f My father never seemed to exhaust his supply of jokes.
My father seemed to have an ..... supply of jokes.
- g Liz never tries to assert herself in tricky situations.
Liz is a very ..... type of person.
- h The solicitor's advice didn't help me form any conclusions about my situation.
The solicitor's advice was rather ..... about my situation.

Exam spot

In Part 1 of Paper 2, you will need to summarise some information. Summarising will use new language and not incorporate large amounts of the original. It is important to manipulate words, especially as you have to write a summary within a set word limit. One way of doing this is to use a negative adjective.

- 5 Read through the text in 3 again and then write a summary sentence using no more than 18 words. Where possible, try to use different words from the ones in the text and try to use some of the vocabulary from 2 and 4.

Exam folder 2

Paper 1 Part 2 Open cloze

In this part of Paper 1, you will be asked to complete a text which has eight numbered gaps. The missing words will have a mainly grammatical focus, although there might be a few vocabulary items. Each gap must be filled with one word only and must be correctly spelled.

It is very important to read through the whole text carefully before you decide to write anything down. Some answers may be dependent on a sentence which comes later in the text. Awareness of the writer's train of thought and logical argument is often tested at Proficiency level.

The areas which are often tested are:

- fixed phrases, e.g. as a rule, to all extent and purposes
- relative pronouns, e.g. who, which
- linkers, e.g. moreover, let alone
- prepositional phrases, e.g. out of order
- phrasal verbs, e.g. to turn up, to take over
- prepositions, e.g. result in, regardless of
- collocations, e.g. seriously interesting, widely read
- reflexive pronouns, e.g. myself, himself
- articles, e.g. the, a
- comparison, e.g. fewer, many

EXAM ADVICE

- First of all read through the whole article carefully and go back and decide which type of word is missing from each gap, e.g. a verb, a noun or a preposition, etc.
- Make sure that your word makes sense in the text and fits grammatically.
- Use only one word in each gap.
- Write your answers in CAPITAL LETTERS on your answer sheet.

Example: 0 AS

Read the Exam advice and then do the task.

Read the text below about French photographer Henri Cartier-Bresson and think of the word which best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0). Write your answers IN CAPITAL LETTERS.

Example: 0

A	S
---	---	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

HENRI CARTIER-BRESSON

Henri Cartier-Bresson helped establish photojournalism (0) .....<sup>AS</sup>..... an art form.

He believed that photography (1) ..... capture the meaning of outward appearance and so his camera accompanied him (2) ..... he went in the world.

In his twenties, he travelled in Africa, recording his experiences with a 35-millimetre Leica. Its portability and the ease with (3) ..... one could record instantaneous impressions were hugely advantageous. This type of camera was particularly relevant to Cartier-Bresson. It lent (4) ..... not only to spontaneity but to anonymity as well. To such an extent (5) ..... Cartier-Bresson wish to remain a silent, and even unseen, witness, that he covered the bright chromium parts of his camera with black tape to render it less visible.

Cartier-Bresson travelled unceasingly, but there was (6) ..... compulsive or hurried about his travels or his photography. One story tells of how Cartier-Bresson was present during the student riots in Paris in 1968. Undeterred (7) ..... the explosive nature of the riots, he continued to take photographs at the (8) ..... of about four per hour.

Paper 1 Part 4 Key word transformations

There are six key word transformations in Paper 1, Part 4. Read the Exam advice and then complete the exam task.

Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example:

- 0 It's unlikely that the product would have taken off, if they hadn't run such a massive TV campaign.

likelihood

Without such a massive TV campaign, there ..... the product taking off.

0 WOULD HAVE BEEN LITTLE LIKELIHOOD OF

EXAM ADVICE

- Read both sentences very carefully.
- Make sure that you actually use the word given and that you don't change its form in any way.
- Don't add anything which isn't necessary.
- Make sure your sentence means the same as the first sentence.
- You will often need to use the words in the first sentence in a different form. For example, you may have to change a verb to a noun.
- Remember to count the number of words you write. Contractions count as two words.

- 1 The group leader's poor judgement jeopardised the safety of the climbers.

put

The climbers' safety ..... by the poor judgement of the group leader.

- 2 Paula and I have been friends since 2008.

dates

My ..... to 2008.

- 3 'It wasn't my fault that the window got broken,' Gary said.

responsibility

Gary denied ..... the window.

- 4 My grandmother has finally got used to living alone.

terms

My grandmother ..... living alone.

- 5 I am not expecting an increase in summer sales this year.

upturn

I have ..... in summer sales this year.

- 6 The students were told to either keep quiet or leave the art gallery.

no

The students ..... keep quiet or leave the art gallery.

- 1 Identify the ritual that is taking place in each picture. How common are ceremonies like these where you live? Give another example of ritual behaviour involving special food or drink.
- 2  Listen to a man talking about ritual family meals. What happens before the event and on the day itself? Describe a family gathering you have had to attend.

Reading

- 3 This extract is from the novel Reef by Romesh Gunesekera, a Sri Lankan author. Read it once to form an overall impression. What is the relationship between the narrator and Mister Salgado?

Before Miss Nili first came to our house on the poya-holiday of April 1969, Mister Salgado only said to me, 'A lady is coming to tea.' As if a lady came to tea every week. It had never happened before in his life, or mine, and yet he acted as if it were the most natural thing in the world. Luckily he gave me some warning. He was concerned to make sure there was plenty of time to prepare, even though he acted so nonchalant. I made everything – little coconut cakes, patties, egg sandwiches, ham sandwiches, cucumber sandwiches, even love-cake ... I made enough for a horse. It was just as well: she ate like a horse. I don't know where she put it; she was so skinny then. So hungry-looking. I expected her to bulge out as she ate, like a snake swallowing a bird. But she just sat there on the cane chair, one leg coiled under her, her back straight and her face floating happily in the warm afternoon haze while huge chunks of the richest, juiciest love-cake disappeared into her as into a cavern.

'You like cake?' he asked her stupidly.

She made a lowing sound between bites. It made him happy, and although I didn't approve of her being quite so uninhibited so soon in our house, I was touched too.

'Where did you get this, this cake?' Her lips glistened with my butter, and one corner of her mouth had a line of golden semolina crumbs which smudged into a dimple as she spoke.

'Triton made it,' my Mister Salgado said. Triton made it. It was the one phrase he would say with my name again and again like a refrain through those months, giving me such happiness. Triton made it. Clear, pure and unstinting. His voice at those moments would be a channel cut from heaven to earth right through the petrified morass of all our lives, releasing a blessing like water springing from a river-head, from a god's head. It was bliss. My coming of age.

'Your cook? He makes a lovely cake,' she said, endearing herself to me for the rest of my life.

After tea she said she had to go. I went to get a taxi for her. She stayed with him alone in the house while I went up to the main road. It didn't take long. A black tortoise of a taxi with a butter-coloured top came along, and I rode in it like a prince back to the house.

The driver croaked the old horn warning them of our approach. We rolled in right up to the porch. I got out and held the door open while Mister Salgado helped her in. 'Bye-bye,' she said to him and then turned to me. 'That cake was really good.'

The taxi rolled down to the gate and veered to the left. The wheels wobbled, making the whitewalls around the rim go fuzzy. Mister Salgado watched the vehicle slowly disappear.

'The lady ate well,' I said brightly.

'Yes.'

'Sir, the love-cake was good? Really good?'

'Yes.'

'And the patties also she liked?'

'They were good.'

They were more than good. I knew, because I can feel it inside me when I get it right. It's a kind of energy that revitalises every cell in my body. Suddenly everything becomes possible and the whole world, that before seemed slowly to be coming apart at the seams, pulls together. But however confident I was about the perfection of what I produced, like everybody else, I needed praise. I needed his praise and I needed her praise. I felt stupid to need it, but I did.

She came again the following poya-day and then regularly almost every weekend after that for months. I made mutton patties and a small cake every time, and she always said how wonderful they were. Mister Salgado ate nothing: he watched her eat as if he were feeding an exotic bird. He drank tea. He always drank lots of tea: estate-fresh, up-country broken orange pekoe tip-top tea. He looked completely content when she was there. His face would be bright, his mouth slightly open with the tips of his teeth just showing. It was as if he couldn't believe his eyes, seeing Nili sitting there in front of him. I would bring the patties in four at a time, fried only after she arrived to ensure they came fresh and hot-hot, straight from the pan. When she finished the last of the first batch, I would wait a minute before bringing in a second plate. 'Nice and hot-hot, Missy,' I would say, and she would murmur her approval. After she finished a couple of the new patties, I would come again with fresh tea. 'More patties?' She would shake her head – I would always ask when her mouth was full. This allowed Mister Salgado to speak on her behalf. 'No, bring the cake now.' It was our little ritual. I would nod, she would smile and he would look longingly. I would give her enough time to savour the aftertaste of the patties and feel the glow of coriander inside her. Let the tea slip down to cleanse her palate and subdue the nerves that had been excited by the spice and fattened by the meat, and only then bring out the cake on a small salver for Mister Salgado to cut.

Exam spot

In Paper 1, Part 5, you should not only read the text thoroughly but the questions too. Wrong answers are often very close to the text in meaning.

4 Now read the text carefully to answer questions 1–6.

- 1 What was Mister Salgado's state of mind before his first tea-party with Miss Nili?
A He felt confident, as it was a role he was accustomed to performing.
B He appeared relaxed, but inwardly, he was worrying about the event.
C He wished he had told his cook about the visit more in advance.
D He became nervous about his cook's obvious lack of experience.
- 2 What effect did Miss Nili's large appetite have on the narrator?
A He felt rather sorry for her because she was so hungry.
B He suspected that she was hiding some of the food.
C He had mixed feelings about her unconventional way of eating.
D He thought she should take more care when she ate.
- 3 Why did the narrator derive so much satisfaction when he heard the phrase 'Triton made it'?
A It gave him a sense of purpose in his life.
B Mister Salgado said the phrase so rarely.
C Miss Nili didn't believe the cake was home-made.
D The words improved the atmosphere at the tea-party.
- 4 How did the narrator feel about his taxi ride back to the house?
A He was annoyed that it was such a slow vehicle.
B He was concerned about Miss Nili during his absence.
C He appreciated being helped out of the taxi.
D He enjoyed the relative luxury of the experience.
- 5 What do we learn about the narrator in the penultimate paragraph?
A His successes in the kitchen dictated his general mood.
B He thought it reasonable to expect praise for his cooking.
C He knew he would benefit from some help in preparing the food.
D His feelings had been hurt by Nili and Mister Salgado.
- 6 Which phrase best describes Mister Salgado's behaviour at subsequent tea-parties?
A feverishly eating and drinking
B full of praise for Triton's wonderful efforts
C slightly incredulous at Nili's regular presence
D nervously monitoring the supply of food

Style extra

- The first part of the text associates certain animals with Miss Nili. Find these references and explain their effect.
- Triton describes the taxi as having a butter-coloured top. Why has the writer used this adjective instead of yellow? How does it tie in with Triton?

Vocabulary

Collocations

5 Explain the precise meaning of the words in italics below.

I would give her enough time to savour the aftertaste of the patties ...

Savour is a verb that is commonly used in other contexts apart from food.

Underline the nouns or noun phrases that collocate with this verb in a–e.

EXAMPLE: At 37, the Oscar-nominated actress is savouring every moment of her new status.

- a After years in the wilderness, the band were finally savouring success.
  - b His father, Pat, should have been savouring freedom alongside them, but had died in prison.
  - c She has decided to retire at 33 and savour the memories of her career.
  - d Its more recent past can be savoured just by wandering aimlessly through the streets.
  - e Laurence was now savouring every word quite as much as the wine.
- 6 Identify the collocations by matching each verb to two nouns from the box. Write a sentence for each one.

- a consume                      c relish
b devour                        d swallow books	challenge	equivalent

news	pill	pride
quantity	thought	time

EXAMPLE consume + equivalent

Each of us consumes the equivalent of two trees a year in paper use alone.

4.2

Review of past tenses

- 1 What implements would people have been using 2,000 years ago when eating their food? How long ago was the first metal cutlery made, do you think? Why has the recent design of the Swedish 'spork' proved so successful (see picture below)?
- 2 Read the text, ignoring any underlining. Then explain briefly how the appearance and use of the fork has changed over the past 400 years.

Fork-like implements for spearing food have been used for over 2000 years. For example, the Ancient Romans used to use special spoons with one prong or two at the end of the handle for winking out shellfish.

- 5 The first 'modern' fork is thought to have been used in the eleventh century by the wife of the Venetian Doge. Forks are mentioned again three centuries later, in 1361, in an inventory of the plate owned by the Florentine Commune. However, the first real evidence
- 10 that forks had spread as eating tools came some two hundred years later, in a 1570 engraving of a knife, fork and spoon. In 1605, King Henri III of France and his companions were satirised for their fork-wielding effeminacy. 'They would rather touch their mouths
- 15 with their little forked instruments than with their fingers,' wrote Thomas Artus, who claimed that they looked especially silly as they strove to capture the peas and broad beans on their plates – as well they might have done, since early forks had long, widely
- 20 separate prongs and scooping with them must have been impossible.

On returning home from Italy in 1611, the Englishman Thomas Coryat bore the news that he had seen forks in Italy and had decided to adopt them. The reason 25 for the Italian custom was, he explained, that these extremely fastidious, ultra-modern people considered that any fingering of the meat that was being carved at table was a transgression against the laws of good manners, 'seeing all men's fingers are not alike cleane'.

However, even Coryat did not regard forks as being for eating with, but for holding the meat in place while carving.

Although in the course of the seventeenth century there was some use of individual forks, people would 35 more often share forks with others, wiping them carefully on their napkins as they would spoons. It was only in the nineteenth century that eating with a fork truly began to proliferate, and at this time there were important modifications to its basic 40 design. Craftsmen had been making forks with three prongs, but these were now shortened, moved closer together, and a fourth 'tine' commonly added. With the fork's design in transition, one-handed eating was increasingly in vogue: the knife was put down once 45 the food had been cut up and the fork was then used to take the food to the mouth. Diners with yet more elaborate manners sought to perform this manoeuvre for every mouthful consumed. This form of 'zig-zag' eating was still customary among the French 50 bourgeoisie in the 1880s, though the English were successfully introducing a new fashion, where the knife was kept in the right hand and the fork held in the left, much as we have been doing ever since.

3 Find examples of the following ways of talking about the past, choosing from the underlined parts of the text and completing statements a–d.

- a reference to an earlier point in past time, using the ..... tense
- b two ways of referring to habitual past action: ..... and .....
- c two examples of speculating about the past, using .....
- d talking about something that continues to be true today, using the ..... tense

Find the following past forms or form elsewhere in the text and explain the choice of tense or form.

- e one past passive infinitive
- f two different past tenses in the passive
- g three different continuous tenses
- h four irregular past verb forms in the active (name their infinitives)

Exam spot

Proficiency texts are bound to contain words you don't know, so you need to develop ways of guessing meaning from context clues.

4 Line 43 contains the technical term tine. Work out its meaning by looking at the words around it. Which words help you?

Now explain the meaning of these words and phrases.

- a implements (line 1)
- b inventory (line 8)
- c effeminacy (line 14)
- d scooping (line 20)
- e fastidious (line 26)
- f transgression (line 29)
- g in place (line 32)
- h proliferate (line 39)
- i in transition (line 44)
- j in vogue (line 45)

5 Complete these sentences using the verbs in brackets in a suitable tense. Sometimes you will need to use a passive (P) or a modal (M).

- a In seventeenth century France, a nobleman's education ..... (think: P) to be incomplete until he ..... (master) the art of carving.
- b From the sixteenth century, women seem to ..... (carve) meat at British tables, though by the mid-nineteenth century, carving at formal meals ..... (carry out: P) mainly by servants.
- c The French ..... (insist + always) that salad ..... (tear: M + P) rather than cut with a knife, a rule which probably ..... (arise) in order to eliminate the taste of metal – lettuce ..... (dress: P) with oil and vinegar or lemon, which ..... (react: M) with some metals.
- d Arriving in Athens pursued by the Furies because he ..... (murder) his mother, Orestes ..... (give: P) dinner, but so horrified were the other diners that they ..... (eat) in silence and ..... (drink) from a separate pitcher.
- e Although live-in household staff ..... (continue) to be the norm in America up until the 1920s, their numbers ..... (start) to decline in Europe much earlier.
- f For the last hundred years, the separate tiers of a British wedding cake ..... (support: P) by pillars, although more recently, upturned champagne glasses ..... (choose: P) by some couples as a variant.

6 The text refers to fork-like implements and fork-wielding effeminacy. Combining words like this helps to show your language range. Answer these questions.

- 1 Who or what might be spoon-fed by a a vet?                      b an academic?              c a manager?
- 2 Why might the following be on a knife-edge?
a a president              b the economy              c a top athlete
- 3 If a salver is silver-plated, name an object that is a copper-plated.              b chrome-plated.              c gold-plated.
- 4 Why might each of the following have been foil-wrapped?
a soft cheese              b smoked fish              c baked potatoes
- 5 Sweets are often sugar-coated. Can you name a food that is a vanilla-flavoured?              b vitamin-rich?              c fat-free?
- 6 Who or what would you describe as a flesh-eating?              b beer-swilling?              c blood-sucking?
- 7 What might be a oven-proof?              b foolproof?              c tamper-proof?
- 8 How would someone look or behave if they were a clown-like?              b doll-like?              c owl-like?

- 1 Identify the fruit below and classify their appearance, flavour and effect on your taste buds according to these adjectives.

fleshy	luscious	juicy	sour sensuous	fibrous	bitter	heavenly chewy	sharp	exquisite	soft watery	appetising	pulpy	sweet tender	sugary	overripe

- 2 Now listen to a journalist's report on the growing of mangoes in India. Take notes under these headings and review the main points in pairs.

- Ideal temperature for ripening
- Chief mango-growing area
- Facts about the mango tree
- History of mango-growing in India

- 3 Listen again and explain the meaning of these phrases.

- a perfect wilting weather
- b stacked up according to variety
- c exotic foliage
- d the Moghul dynasties
- e amazing diversity

- 4 The journalist talks about people in India eating seasonally. With the variety of choice offered by supermarkets, it is often possible to buy produce out of season. Is this a good thing?

Discuss the following related points.

- Big supermarkets offer maximum diversity, but minimal flavour.
- Local food producers do not get a fair deal from multinational companies.
- There should be larger government subsidies for organic farming.
- People should eat to live and not live to eat.

Idiom spot

There are many common English idioms to do with food. Use the pictures on the opposite page to complete idioms a–j. Then use some of these idioms in sentences describing the situations in a–h opposite.

- a the ..... on the .....
- b have a ..... on your .....
- c put all your ..... in one .....
- d have bigger ..... to fry
- e sweeten the .....
- f take something with a ..... of .....
- g spill the .....
- h sell like .....
- i get ..... on your .....
- j eat humble .....

EXAMPLE: Jack told us he had flown to Los Angeles for the weekend and had had dinner with Carey Mulligan, but we didn't believe him.

We took Jack's story about flying to Los Angeles and having dinner with Carey Mulligan with a pinch of salt.

- a This government is raising taxes but is also bringing in additional benefits for employees.
- b Although I'm freelance, I'm only working for one company – if they closed down, I'd be left high and dry.
- c Not realising that Professor Samuels was in front of him in the canteen queue, Harry started imitating his Australian accent – when the professor turned round, Harry felt really embarrassed.
- d Valentina had decided to stay on here as a student, but now she's been offered a scholarship at Harvard, so she's off to the US.
- e Journalists have been criticising the rugby team all season but after this amazing victory, they will have to admit they were wrong.
- f I finally managed to persuade Simon to tell me his big secret – he's getting married!
- g Sharon is studying for an MBA and running a big department – and she has building work going on at home too.
- h The earrings Maria has designed are doing really well on the market stall.

Exam spot

In Part 2 of Paper 4, there is a two-way conversation between the candidates, lasting four minutes in all. This consists of an introductory one-minute task, followed by a longer discussion. Using visual prompts such as photographs, you should take turns to speak and react to your partner's opinions as well as giving your own.

- 5 Pictures A–D show four different aspects of current food consumption. First, discuss the issues illustrated in A and B, using the phrases below and your own ideas.

Picture A: air miles, seasonal produce, the buying power of supermarkets

Picture B: shrink-wrapped, rubbish disposal, health implications

- 6 Now talk together about all four pictures, suggesting how lifestyle choices could be modified to promote a greener future.

Writing folder 2

Part 2 Review

In Part 2 of Paper 2, you may be asked to write a review of a book, film, TV programme, concert, or other media event. In addition to reviewing your particular choice, you are likely to have to comment in a more general way, as in the sample task below. Read the question carefully, so you know exactly what is required.

- 1 Look at the photograph and write three descriptive sentences about the sea.
- 2 Read this exam task and look at the paragraph plan.

Your college magazine has invited students to contribute a film review to a special feature entitled Special effects: essential nowadays – or distracting? Write a review of a film you have seen that uses special effects and say whether you think they are an important aspect of today's films.

- Lead in to review
- Introduce film - 'The Perfect Storm'
- Describe its special effects
- Evaluate importance of special effects in general

- 3 Decide how well the sample answer on page 39 follows the plan. What improvements would you make in terms of content and organisation?

EXAM ADVICE

- When writing a review, provide a balance of information and opinion.
- Do NOT describe the whole plot, as this is inappropriate.
- Introduce your opinions with a variety of linkers.
- Use rhetorical questions to preface opinions and ideas.
- Show your range of vocabulary, including specialist terms.
- Name the film (book, play, etc.) early in the review.

This is a very good example to consider. In one way, it is not a typical Hollywood film, as there is no happy ending, but in other ways - the actors used, the money spent, the special effects - it is.

Why is it 'perfect'? It is actually a weatherman who uses this word. As he tracks the worsening weather out at sea, we see him getting genuinely excited about the unique set of weather conditions. This was an interesting part for me.

The captain of the fishing boat, acted by George Clooney, does not care about the safety of his men. He only wants to find more fish and make lots of money. So he goes to sea, turning off the weather forecasts and ignoring the sensible advice of another captain (a very attractive woman), who is in love with him and doesn't want him to risk his life. And yes, they catch lots of fish, but then the ice-machine on board breaks down, which means that he needs to return to harbour quickly before the fish go bad, so he decides to go back right through the worst weather.

This is where the special effects start. They are really very good, and include some clever use of computers. You feel as though you are in the boat with them, facing those big waves. *

At the end, the ship goes down and we see one of the sailors - the film also has Mark Wahlberg - drifting on an empty sea, thinking beautiful thoughts about his girlfriend. Then the film shows the girlfriend, looking out to sea with an anxious look on her face.

Are special effects an essential part of all films today? **

In this film, the special effects were probably its best thing.

Based on the sentences you wrote earlier about the sea, write a phrase or a sentence to follow the (*), describing the waves.

- 4 In Part 2, it is important to demonstrate your range of language. Use these words and phrases as replacements in the text. They are in text order.

a blockbuster	i outstanding
b budget	j digital imaging
c sub-plot	k gigantic
d portrayed (by)	l stars
e heads out	m cuts to
f crew	n scanning the horizon
g eye of the storm	o prerequisite
h kick in	p feature

- 5 The final paragraph contains an example of a rhetorical question. This is a useful stylistic device for introducing opinions and works particularly well in essays and articles – and, as here, in the general comment in reviews.

The writer should have followed up the rhetorical question with some relevant opinions on the use of special effects. For example:

Speak to most Hollywood producers and they would probably argue the case. Yet they are no substitute for an original storyline or engaging dialogue. Used wisely, special effects blend into a film seamlessly, as demonstrated in Peter Jackson's Oscar-winning 'The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring'. If not, they will only irritate.

Write about 50 words of your own to follow the rhetorical question (**).

- 6 Now answer this exam task in 280–320 words, following the advice on page 38. Make a paragraph plan and check useful vocabulary in a dictionary before you start writing.

An international film magazine wants readers around the world to contribute a review to a special edition entitled The Art of Advertising: Selling Products through Film. You decide to write a review of a particularly memorable advertisement. In your review, you should evaluate the visual impact of the advertisement, outline its other features, and assess how much influence such advertisements have on us.

Units 1–4 Revision

Use of English

- 1 For questions 1–8, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

VENICE

I first arrived in Venice by train. My parents and I had driven from Milan, but they had very (0) THOUGHTFULLY left the car at Mestre, because they knew how vital first impressions were. That afternoon my father (1) ..... to show me Venice. The thing to remember, he told me, was that however (2) ..... its churches and palaces, the greatest miracle was the city itself, (3) ..... by sea and marsh.

You might ask why anyone in their right mind would build a settlement in so (4) ..... a location. In fact, the reason was fear. In the days of (5) ..... , Venice did not exist; but then, in the fifth and sixth centuries, the Barbarians swept into Italy, and the panic-stricken (6) ..... of the great mainland cities fled to the lagoon. And the lagoon continued to protect Venice throughout her history, separating her from the (7) ..... feuding cities of the mainland. Today, more than ever, we have cause for (8) .....: it is thanks only to the lagoon that Venice has been spared the motor car.

CIRCLE

INVITE
ANTIQUE

INHABIT

PERPETUATE
GRATEFUL

- 2 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

1 I'm afraid the only option open to me is to ask you to leave the restaurant.

alternative

I ..... you to leave the restaurant.

2 If I had known the flight was going to be late leaving, I wouldn't have bothered rushing to the airport.

delay

Had I ..... to my flight, I wouldn't have bothered rushing to the airport.

3 The authorities made the landlord take on the financial burden of looking after the building.

shoulder

The landlord ..... looking after the building.

4 David looked as if he was about to cry when he saw the damage to his motorbike.

verge

David looked like ..... when he saw the damage to his motorbike.

5 If you need to contact me urgently, then ring this number.

necessary

Should ..... , ring this number.

6 I'm sure that the hotel will be good, as it was recommended by Pablo.

bound

The ..... recommended it to me.

3 For questions 1–8, read the text and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

EXAMPLE: (A) carried out B put across
C taken over D caught up

- |              |                    |
|--------------|--------------------|

| B parts      | B scale            |
| C forces     | C margin           |
| D roles      | D quantity         |
| 2 A fruition | 6 A shorten        |
| B life       | B discount         |
| C action     | C minimise         |
| D book       | D abbreviate       |
| 3 A held     | 7 A expectations   |
| B deemed     | B associations     |
| C said       | C regulations      |
| D regarded   | D implications     |
| 4 A model    | 8 A comes down to  |
| B equivalent | B sets off against |
| C measure    | C lives up to      |
| D standard   | D gets over with   |

Too much on your plate? Waste not, want not!

Recent research (0) ..... carried out ..... in Ireland amongst chefs and consumers found that 48% of people admitted to regularly over-ordering in restaurants. A campaign has been launched as a result, calling for the food-service industry to join (1) ..... with chefs and consumers to address the issue of food waste.

To bring the research findings to (2) ....., the owner of a restaurant in Dublin is creating a “Great Irish Waste” menu, reconsidering food ingredients that have been thrown away, rejected or (3) ..... inedible and turning them into imaginative dishes that are both appetising and of a suitable (4) ..... to serve his customers. He says that while there will always be some (5) ..... of waste in the kitchen, due to elements such as bones or fat trimmings, there’s an opportunity to (6) ..... wastage in the restaurant itself through better communication. “Even though so much food comes back on customers’ plates and goes in the bin, the majority of diners aren’t aware of the environmental or cost (7) ..... of that waste. Without consumers shifting their mindset, restaurants will struggle to reduce food waste significantly.”

Tackling this problem as a consumer is straightforward. Ultimately, it (8) ..... smart shopping, clever cooking and shrewd storage.

Writing

4 Add punctuation and capital letters to the following book review where necessary. Then divide the review into suitable paragraphs. The first sentence is done for you.

No one has yet written ‘Froth: the Trend that Changed History’, but Universal Foam comes pretty close to being the definitive example of publishing froth. The book blends two recent publishing trends the newer of which is the wacky science subject. If there is a market for books on cryptography chronometry or cod and books on all these subjects have sold well in the last decade then there is no reason why any subject should seem boring. Once you have discovered a subject so obscure that no other publisher has come across it before all that remains is to prove that it holds the key to universal understanding. Cod a biography of the fish that changed the world is a pretty good example but universal foam the story of bubbles from cappuccino to the cosmos outdoes it since it permeates the universe from the smallest to the largest scale. After all there aren’t any galaxies stretched on the skin of unimaginably vast cod nor do physicists speak of the world arising from fluctuations in the quantum codfish. So the boys bumper book of froth might contain as every best-seller should everything you need to know about the universe. Then again it might contain everything else.

That’s pretty frothy too. In fact universal foam runs into another current publishing style the book of lists. Among the subjects covered here are volcanoes shaving foam champagne fire fighting equipment and meringues. Then you list everything you know about everything in the first list 101 important facts about galaxies 20 things you never knew about the cappuccino and so on. Finally all this is wrapped up in the academic style as old as exams where you simply cram in all the knowledge that you can possibly get hold of and regurgitate it with the echoing solemnity of a tv anchorman on the Simpsons suggesting a rhetorical question can everyday foams like milk foam ever be fully understood and controlled. At which point there is foam flecking this reviewer’s lips. You can’t really blame the author Sidney Perkowitz who has worked hard and writes clearly. It is not his fault that he has nothing particular to say after he has got through the bits that particularly interest him the fairly technical discussions of how to measure foams and describe them mathematically. However the fact is there is no sound reason for this book to have been written in the first place.

Speaking

1 Discuss these topics with a partner.

- What is a shopaholic? Do you think you're one? What percentage of items that you buy are things you want rather than need?
- How often do you buy clothes, CDs, shoes, computer games, books and chocolate?
- How important are designer labels for you?
- Do you think it's necessary to keep in fashion?
- Have you ever had to complain about something you've bought? What happened?
- Would you prefer a refund or an exchange if you took an item back to the shop?
- Do you know what legal rights you have as a consumer? If not, who would you turn to for advice?

Exam spot

In Part 2 of Paper 3, you need to complete nine sentences with information you hear on the recording. There is no need to write very much, just a word or short phrase. You should write down the words you hear – there is no need to use your own words.

Listening

- 2 08 You will hear an interview between a radio presenter called Paula and her guest, Mike James, who is the presenter of a programme called Pricewise. This is a TV programme which champions consumer rights. For questions 1–9, complete the sentences with a word or short phrase.

In 2002, Mike James began working on a (1) ..... for a nightly news programme.

Mike says that the programme keeps all correspondence on a (2) ..... for future use.

Mike says that it's important that (3) ..... read the script carefully.

Mike gives the example of an advert which offered to sell people a (4) ..... and some land.

Mike says a researcher was shown a table next to the (5) ..... in a restaurant.

Mike talks about a story about ordering food (6) ..... from a supermarket.

A supermarket customer was sent (7) ..... instead of what they had ordered.

Mike mentions people complaining about trainers which (8) .....

Mike says that manufacturers and retailers are worried about poor (9) .....

Vocabulary

Phrasal verbs

3 Listen to the conversation again and write down the phrasal verbs you hear which mean the following. (They are all in the order in which you will hear them.)

- |                     |               |
|---------------------|---------------|
| a to intend         | f to discover |
| b to agree to do    | g to test     |
| c to investigate    | h to mention  |
| d to make inquiries | i to tolerate |
| e to be highlighted | j to concede  |

Phrase spot

Mike James talked about Pricewise becoming a programme 'in its own right'. In its own right means by itself, without being part of another programme.

There are many other expressions that use right.

the right way round	by rights to serve someone right	in the right to be right under your nose	as right as rain to make all the right noises	right on time to be within your rights	the film rights

Choose one of the above expressions to complete the sentences below. (You might need to put it in a different form.)

- a ..... you should be in bed at 9.00 pm.
- b I've had a cold but I'll be ..... when I've had a holiday.
- c I refused to apologise because I knew I was .....
- d The police never found the murder weapon, even though it was .....
- e His book has been very successful and it looks like he's all set to sell ..... too.
- f Helena turned up to the meeting ..... for a change.
- g You'd be well ..... to take that dress back to the shop – it's torn at the collar.
- h Dave ..... so I expect he'll be promoted ahead of me.
- i Turn it the other way, you can't read it if it isn't .....
- j It'll ..... Michelle ..... if no one ever speaks to her again!

4 For questions 1–8, read the text and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF the mall

Standardized shopping malls have become the new Main Streets of the USA according to one (1) ..... on the subject. Along with antibiotics and personal computers, the shopping mall has been (2) ..... as one of the top 50 wonders that have revolutionized the lives of people today. But shopping malls didn't just happen out of the blue. The mall was originally (3) ..... of as a community center where people would (4) ..... for shopping, cultural activity, and social interaction. It is safe to (5) ..... that the mall has achieved and surpassed those early expectations.

The first enclosed mall was developed in a suburb of Minneapolis in 1956 and was designed to get the shopper out of the harsh weather. The phenomenal growth and development of shopping centers was a natural (6) ..... of the migration of population out from the cities and (7) ..... the growth of the use of the automobile. The success and impact of the shopping mall may have something to do with their potential to (8) ..... community life.

- |                  |              |              |               |
|------------------|--------------|--------------|---------------|
| 1 A scholar      | B master     | C body       | D authority   |
| 2 A put forward  | B set up     | C picked up  | D brought out |
| 3 A imagined     | B devised    | C conceived  | D formulated  |
| 4 A cluster      | B converge   | C group      | D rally       |

| 6 A sequel       | B upshot     | C follow-up  | D consequence |
| 7 A corresponded | B paralleled | C correlated | D equated     |
| 8 A raise        | B magnify    | C enhance    | D heighten    |

5 Talk about the following with a partner.

- Where do you like to shop – in a town centre or in an out-of-town mall?
- What do you think of the threat to small independent shops from large chains?
- Why do you think shopping centres or malls are so popular?

Corpus spot

Several of the sentences below, some from the Cambridge Learner Corpus, contain common mistakes connected with countable and uncountable nouns. Correct the sentences which are wrong and leave the ones which are correct.

EXAMPLE: It gives you new <sup>options</sup> informations, I would say a larger window on the world.

Information is uncountable and should be singular.

- a The acoustics in this room are terrible.
- b How many luggages did you bring with you?
- c Doctors and scientists, with their researches, have managed to give us a better life.
- d The news this morning were terrible – more price rises and a teachers' strike.
- e Thanks to the revolution in transports, travelling has become easier.
- f Marco Polo set off on his travels from Venice.
- g Drivers should watch out for roadworks on the M25 this morning.
- h Equipments such as the tape recorder and stereo are very outdated.
- i My advice to you is to keep quiet about what is happening in the office.
- j The future behaviours of our children will depend on a good upbringing.
- k I live on the outskirts of the city.
- l The fishmonger weighed out three kilos of fishes.
- m I was never much good at statistics.
- n The sceneries in New Zealand are spectacular.
- o Traffic is becoming a problem in most cities nowadays.
- p The police is aware of the break-in.
- q My father is a Professor of Economic.

G → page 181

- 1 Some nouns have different meanings according to whether they are used uncountably or with a or an or in the plural. Write sentences which show the two meanings of the following nouns.

EXAMPLE: damage

The fire did enormous damage to the town.

The judge awarded her £1 million in damages.

- |            |              |
|------------|--------------|
| a work     | f language   |
| b iron     | g comfort    |
| c disorder | h experience |
| d speech   | i capital    |
| e room     | j coffee     |

- 2 Some uncountable nouns can be made singular if they are used with a bit of or a piece of. They can also be made plural by adding bits of or pieces of. However, many uncountable nouns have special words to make them singular or plural, for example a loaf of bread.

Match the noun with its special word.

- |               |               |
|---------------|---------------|
| a a burst of  | glass         |
| b a pane of   | smoke         |
| c a stroke of | abuse         |
| d a grain of  | dust          |
| e a gust of   | thunder       |
| f a speck of  | luck          |
| g a stream of | emergency     |
| h a ray of    | wind          |
| i a source of | sunshine      |
| j an item of  | applause      |
| k a rumble of | sand          |
| l a puff of   | amusement     |
| m a state of  | clothing/news |

- 3 You must spell correctly in the examination. Read through the following advertisement and find the nouns which are spelled wrongly. Use your dictionary to help you.

Look around. You're in the midst of a global maelstrom. A swirling mass of converging technologies and new business oportunities unleashed by the Internet. All waiting to be harnessed by large IT service providers. As one has said: 'We've focused our energy and resauces on creating technology to solve the unique problems of thousands of individual businesses. Last year alone we invested $2.5 billion of our global IT and telecommunications revenus on R & D. Innervations that keep your company one step ahead of the Internet. And light years ahead of the competition.'

4 There are three ways of showing possession in English:

A The apostrophe

- used with people, e.g. customers' rights (NB the customer's rights refers to one customer; the customers' rights refers to more than one.)
- used with time and distance, e.g. a day's pay

B Using 'of'

- usually used with objects, e.g. the price of petrol
- used to talk about position, e.g. the back of the room

C Using a noun as an adjective

e.g. a table leg, a travel agency

Complete the following sentences using one of the forms above, A, B or C.

- (seat, back) Can I sit in the ..... on the way home?
- (boss, wife) His ..... is in hospital having a baby.
- (room, corner) The boy was sitting in the .....
- (day, pay) When is ..... ?
- (week, holiday) Mary only had one ..... last year.
- (wine, glass) Would you prefer a ..... or a tumbler for your drink?
- (delay, moment) The decision was taken without a .....
- (Anne, best friend) ..... has just got a job in Milan.
- (door, handle) Take care with that ..... – it's loose.
- (field, sports) The team went out onto the ....., wearing their new strip.

Vocabulary

Prepositions

5 Read the article and fill the spaces with a suitable preposition.

SPOILT FOR CHOICE

There has been a huge rise (1) ..... the number of sports 'superstores' on the High Street. You go in and are faced (2) ..... a giant wall, consisting entirely (3) ..... shoes, each model categorised (4) ..... either sports affiliation, basketball star, economic class or consumer niche.

I noticed a boy (5) ..... even greater awe (6) ..... the towering selection of footwear than I was. His eyes were glazed (7) ..... a psycho-physical response (8) ..... the overwhelming sensory data. This phenomenon, known as the 'Gruen Transfer', is commonly observed (9) ..... a shopping mall or High Street store.

Having finished several years (10) ..... research (11) ..... this exact psychological state, I knew to proceed (12) ..... caution. I slowly made my way (13) ..... the boy's side and gently asked him, 'What is going (14) ..... in your mind right now?'

He responded (15) ..... the slightest hesitation, 'I don't know which trainer is me and I'm no good (16) ..... making choices!'

1 Discuss these questions in groups.

- Is there a certain advertisement that has appealed to you more than others? Why?
- What do you think makes a good advertisement?
- Do you think admen can sell anything? Think of some things that might be difficult to sell.
- Should advertising be curbed in any way? Should there be restrictions on, for example, junk food being advertised on TV?
- Do you think some people are more vulnerable to advertising than others?

2 Read the texts below on advertising.

Think about:

- where you would find these texts, e.g. in a newspaper, magazine, research paper, novel, encyclopaedia, leaflet, brochure, etc.
- what style the writer is using, e.g. formal, informal, journalistic, academic, personal, narrative, etc.

Text 1

Advertising and young people

It's been estimated that young people today shell out nearly £50 a week on clothing, entertainment, and fast food. And that's not all. It's now beginning to dawn on advertisers that, through nagging power, young people not only influence the purchases of the goods and services that appeal to them, but they also influence many of the purchases in the entire household, even down to the family car. This is an advertiser's dream. People, especially in the 13–19 age group, buy on impulse. They are less likely than others to weigh up price differences or get recommendations. They buy based on what their friends are buying, what will make them more popular with their peer group, or what a celebrity they are into says they need.

Text 2

Advertising: exploiting the vulnerable?

Concern about young people's lack of life skills and cognitive ability to evaluate advertisements has provided much scope for research and heated debate. Embedded within the discussion is the contention that advertising to this group is inherently 'unfair'. However, many now believe that the vulnerabilities of young people are often overstated and that, having grown up with the constant barrage of advertising, they are able to pay it little or no attention. There is also the argument that, by providing product information, advertising helps young people make more informed choices.

- 3 Find words in the texts which mean the same as the following in the context. (They are in text order.) Use an English–English dictionary to help you.

Text 1	Text 2
occur to	assess
pester	extent
including	claim
whim	essentially
evaluate	exaggerated

- 4 Read through the sentences below and decide which are the two main points that each text is making.

Text 1

- a Young people like to buy the same things that everyone else does.
- b Young people do not spend time carefully considering what to buy.
- c Young people have more money than ever to spend nowadays.
- d Young people have a great deal of influence on what is bought by their friends and family.

Text 2

- a Young people pay little attention to advertising as they are used to it.
- b There has been increased concern about the amount of advertising that is aimed at young people.
- c Advertising can be helpful to young people by providing them with product information.
- d Young people don't have the background knowledge to be able to make sensible choices.

- 5 Write two paragraphs, summarising and using your own words as far as possible, the information in the two texts. Begin with a sentence which tells the reader what the texts are generally about, for example:

The two texts discuss the pros and cons of advertising to young people.

Then continue, summarising the two points that each text makes. Begin:

Text 1 claims that ...

Text 2 argues that ...

Vocabulary

Abstract nouns

- 6 Being able to manipulate words is a very useful skill for both the Writing and Reading and Use of English Papers. Complete these sentences by changing the word in brackets into an abstract noun. Use a dictionary to help you.

EXAMPLE: I value her (friend) greatly. friendship

- a They quarrelled out of sheer (bored).
- b Some new products have built-in (obsolete).
- c Environmental (aware) has increased dramatically over the last decade.
- d He felt great (proud) when his youngest daughter won first prize.
- e He's got the (confident) to walk into an interview and get the job.
- f The government believes that its (austere) programme will reduce inflation.
- g His friends take advantage of his (generous), and borrow his things without asking.
- h Now she is 18, she is keen to have her (independent) from her parents.
- i He complained that the (inefficient) of the bus service was having an impact on employment.
- j His feelings of (insecure) made him desperate to get other people's approval.
- k Scrooge is a character in Charles Dickens' book A Christmas Carol who is famous for his (mean).
- l (Individual) is the idea that freedom of thought and action for each person is the most important quality of a society, rather than shared effort and (responsible).
- m Louise's (aspire) to help others come from her own misfortune as a child.
- n I think it's important to treat his articles with a degree of (sceptical).

Exam folder 3

Paper 1 Part 1 Multiple-choice cloze

This part of the Reading and Use of English paper is composed of a text drawn from a range of different sources of written English, for example from advertisements, newspaper articles, encyclopaedia entries, literary texts, etc. The text contains eight gaps and is followed by eight four-option multiple-choice questions.

The questions test your knowledge of the following.

Idioms

They had a terrible row, all because Mike had got hold of the wrong end of the ..... when Sonia was explaining what had happened at the beach.

- A line                      B stick                      C rope                      D ruler

The answer is B. To get hold of the wrong end of the stick means to misunderstand something. Idioms are expressions which cannot be changed.

Collocations

Primary education has been ..... underfunded in this area of the country for many years now, and it is about time something was done about it.

- A seriously                      B deeply                      C highly                      D remarkably

The answer is A. Seriously and underfunded are often used together. Words that are often used together in this way are called collocations.

Fixed phrases

Everyone quickly ..... their places on the stage in readiness for the curtain to go up.

- A made                      B had                      C saved                      D took

The answer is D. To take one's place is a fixed phrase. This means that it contains elements that can change with the sense of the sentence, e.g. he took his place, they took their places.

Complementation

The menu ..... of various starters, main courses and desserts, all, in my opinion, designed to please the eye rather than the palate.

- A consisted                      B composed                      C contained                      D comprised

The answer is A. Consist takes the preposition of. Your knowledge of prepositions, reflexives and verb patterns is tested in this type of question.

Phrasal verbs

Pete didn't bother to ..... up until nearly the end of the lesson, and then he just slouched into the room and flung himself into a seat with no apology.

- A come                      B show                      C catch                      D go

The answer is B. To show up means to put in an appearance.

Semantic precision

The rain ..... down slowly under his coat collar, making him feel thoroughly damp and miserable.

A crept      B waded      C trickled      D teemed

The answer is C. Trickled is the only option which refers to slow movement of water. The precise meaning of a word in relation to the whole context, either at sentence or whole text level, is tested.

Read the Exam advice and then do the task below.

For questions 1–8, read the text below and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0).

0    A brought    B given    C shed    D shown

EXAM ADVICE

- Read the whole text carefully before looking at the options.
- Think carefully about your choice of answer. Remember that you are often being tested not just on choosing a word which is grammatically correct, but also one which best fits the sense or tone of the text.
- Always choose an answer, even if you are not sure you are right. You are not penalised for wrong answers. You have a 25% chance of getting an answer right, even if you really have no idea what the answer is!

Speaking

- 1 Give your opinion on the following statements.
  - Listening to music helps me to concentrate, especially when studying.
  - Every child should have the opportunity to learn an instrument.
  - Some instruments are easier to learn than others.
  - Listening to pop music improves my mood.
  - Classical music is far superior to pop music.

Reading

- 2 You are going to read an extract from an article. Seven paragraphs have been removed from the extract. Choose from the paragraphs A–H the one which fits each gap (1–7). There is one extra paragraph which you do not need to use.

To help you, the first two answers have the links highlighted. Underline the links which give you the answers to the other gaps.

The enduring myth of music and maths

As a mathematician with strong musical interests who grew up in a family of musicians, I have been asked about the connection between music and maths many times. And I have bad news: although there are some obvious similarities between mathematical and musical activity, there is (as yet) no compelling evidence for the kind of mysterious, almost magical connection that many people seem to believe in. I'm partly referring here to the 'Mozart Effect', the hypothesis that children who have heard music by Mozart are supposedly more intelligent, including at mathematics, than children from a control group.

Of course, this conclusion does not show that there is no interesting connection between mathematics and music. It was always a little implausible that lazily listening to a concerto would earn you extra marks on that maths test you are taking tomorrow, but what about learning to read music or spending hours practising the piano? That takes genuine effort.

Demonstrating a connection of this kind is not as easy as one might think. To begin with, there are plenty of innumerate musicians and tone-deaf mathematicians, so the best one could hope to demonstrate would be a significant positive correlation between aptitudes at the two disciplines. And then one would face all the usual challenges of establishing a statistical connection.

3

And yet, the belief that the two are interestingly related won't go away without a fight. I cannot help observing that among the mathematicians I know, there do seem to be a surprising number who are very good indeed at the piano.

Indeed, yes, we can. For a start, both mathematics and music deal with abstract structures, so if you become good at one, then it is plausible that you become good at something more general – handling abstract structures – that helps you with the other. If this is correct, then it would show a connection between mathematical and musical ability, but not the kind of obscure connection that people hope for.

Of course, abstract structures are not confined to mathematics and music. If you are learning a foreign language then you need to understand its grammar and syntax, which are prime examples of abstract structures. And yet we don't hear people asking about a mysterious connection between mathematical ability and linguistic ability.

In an effort to dispel this air of contradiction, let me give one example of a general aptitude that is useful in both mathematics and music: the ability to solve problems of the "A is to B as C is to D" kind. These appear in intelligence tests (car is to garage as aircraft is to what?) but they are also absolutely central to both music and mathematics.

7

I take the view that the general question of whether mathematical ability and musical ability are related is much less interesting than some similar but more specific questions. Are musicians more drawn to certain composers (Bach, for instance)? Are musical mathematicians more drawn to certain areas of mathematics? One can imagine many interesting surveys and experiments that could be done, but for now this is uncharted territory and all we can do is speculate.

Exam spot

Read the introduction to get an idea of what the text is going to be about. Then read the text and the missing paragraphs.

Read through the paragraphs on either side of the gap very carefully. Don't just read the paragraph before the gap as this might not give you any clues to the missing text. This part of the exam is testing understanding of content as well as reference devices.

- A I feel that it would be more like the straightforward link between ability at football and ability at cricket. To become better at one of those then you need to improve your fitness and co-ordination. That makes you better at sport in general.
- B For example, identifying and controlling for other potentially influential factors is difficult, and as far as I know, there has been no truly convincing study of that type that has shown that musical ability enhances mathematical ability or vice versa.
- C The second phrase is a clear answer to the first. But one can be more precise about what this means. If you try to imagine any other second phrase, nothing seems 'right' in the way that Mozart's chosen phrase does.
- D Could it be that the rewards for that time-consuming dedication spill over into other areas of intellectual life, and in particular into mathematics? Is there any evidence that people who have worked hard to become good at music are better at mathematics than people who are completely unmusical? And in the other direction, are mathematicians better than average at music?
- E My guess is that that is because the link exists but not the uncertainty: grammar feels mathematical. Music, by contrast, is strongly tied up with one's emotions and can be enjoyed even by people who know very little about it. As such, it seems very different from mathematics, so any connection between the two is appealingly paradoxical.
- F It is not hard to see why such a theory would be taken seriously: we would all like to become better at mathematics without putting in any effort. But the conclusions of the original experiment have been grossly exaggerated. If you want your brain to work better, then not surprisingly, you have to put in some hard graft; there is no such thing as an intellectual perpetual-motion machine. Mozart CDs for babies and toys that combine maths and music might help, but not much, and the effects are temporary.
- G I believe that there is a study waiting to be done on this: are mathematicians more drawn to this rather than to other instruments? Of the mathematicians I can think of who are superb instrumentalists, all but one are pianists. While we wait for scientific evidence to back up the anecdotal evidence, can we at least argue that it is plausible that there should be a connection?
- H Music is full of little puzzles like this. If you are good at them, then when you listen to a piece, expectations will constantly be set up in your mind. Of course, some of the best moments in music come when one's expectations are confounded, but if you don't have the expectations in the first place then you will miss out on the pleasure.

- 3 What do you think about the idea that people who are good at music are also good at maths? Do you think listening to music or learning an instrument can improve your overall intelligence?

Phrase spot

Phrases with the verb take are often tested at this level. In the text there was take a test, take effort and take seriously.

Complete the gaps with one of the following words or phrases:

part	exception to the view	for granted
place	a stand	by surprise
issue	advantage
notice	into account/consideration
account of	second place

- a Alicia took great ..... the fact that her name had been left off the guest list.
- b Don't take any ..... of what Sue says – she's just in a bad mood.
- c The seminar will take ..... in the new lecture room on the fourth floor.
- d He rarely took ..... in proceedings, preferring rather to have a backseat role.
- e This institution takes ..... that all employees should be treated fairly.
- f When you add up your business expenses don't forget to take ..... hotel tips.
- g The Minister took ..... with the interviewer over whether the government was sticking to its manifesto pledges.
- h Mark took ..... of the breeze and went windsurfing.
- i His sudden appearance took me .....
- j Fathers tend to have to take ..... when a new baby comes along.
- k We need to take ..... the neighbours if we're going to have a party.
- l Luisa was fed up with being taken ..... and decided to leave both her husband and family.
- m The teacher decided it was time to take ..... on school uniform and not allow the children to wear trainers in class.

Likelihood ranges from absolute certainty to complete impossibility and can be expressed in a number of ways:

- with modal auxiliaries can, may, could, might, should, ought to, must be, can't be in the present and with a perfect infinitive in the past
- with a sentence beginning with It and followed by a that-clause
- by an adverbial such as perhaps, without a doubt, etc.

→ page 181

1 Which of the sentences below express the following?

- A complete certainty (negative and positive)
 B strong probability/possibility
 C weak probability/possibility
 D general or theoretical probability/possibility
- a The chances are it will rain tonight.
 b He can't have got home already, as I think the trains are delayed.
 c He couldn't have looked less enthusiastic if he'd tried.
 d Caroline is bound to pass her violin exam.
 e You shouldn't have gone swimming off the rocks, because you really could have had an accident.
 f You definitely won't have any problem with your application, as it looks fine.
 g The package ought to arrive in a couple of days.
 h The postman must've already called – look there's a letter on the table.
 i I may very well see you on Saturday.
 j There's every likelihood of rain this afternoon.
 k It can be interesting to re-read books you read as a child.
 l She's certain to get lost when she goes to Tokyo.
 m There's a faint chance I'll get a car for my birthday.

2 In pairs talk about the likelihood of the following happening.

- a The birth of another Mozart.
 b An asteroid hitting Earth.
 c People having brain transplants.
 d English no longer being the language of the Internet.
 e New Zealand winning the football World Cup.
 f Electric cars taking over from petrol-driven ones.

3 In groups decide what person or event the speaker might be talking about in these extracts from radio news bulletins.

EXAMPLE: '... and as the car slows down for him to wave to the crowds a shot is heard ...'

It may be a movie star.

The chances are it's a politician.

It's bound to be someone famous because he's waving at the crowds.

- a '... he's coming down the steps slowly, and with a final movement that looks like a small jump because of the atmosphere, he ...'
 b '... and the crowds are standing outside waiting for the happy couple to come out onto the balcony ...'
 c '... and she has been successful in both her singing and acting careers, having number one singles for the past twenty years ...'
 d '... he's won more championships than anyone else in his field and, though he's near retirement age now, I think he still has some more cups to win ...' e '... And scientists are saying that because of this breakthrough the world will soon be free of this disease ...'

Exam spot

In Paper 1, Part 4 transformations, you must use between three and eight words including the key word. Contractions (can't, won't, etc.) count as two words. Check your answers for length and accuracy before transferring them to the answer sheet.

- 4 Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

1 In all probability Alan will get a place to study music at Oxford.

The .....

6 There's a strong possibility the audience will ignore any mistakes she makes at the concert.
take

It's highly ..... of any mistakes she makes at the concert.

- 5 Quickly read through this extract from an article about pop music to get some idea of what it is about. Don't fill in any spaces at this stage. When you've read it, answer the questions below.

Band Manufacture

The fate of any pop band is a question that (0) ..... NO ..... longer is of interest to its fans alone. (1) ..... only have economists recognised pop music's importance (2) ..... a business, pointing (3) ..... that it contributes more (4) ..... export earnings than the steel industry, but strange as it (5) ..... seem, people in some countries spend more on pop than they do on fruit and vegetables. (6) ..... such serious money washing around, the question of (7) ..... will be the next big thing is (8) ..... too important to be left to random factors such as chance and talent. (9) ..... the great names of rock in the 60s and 70s formed bands spontaneously (10) ..... they were discovered and then marketed, their successors are increasingly (11) ..... to be brought (12) ..... by marketing men. Many groups, often sold as four young men or women in (13) ..... of their own destiny, were in (14) ..... dreamed up and promoted by middle-aged men. Designing a band is much the same as designing (15) ..... other product: take a basic, successful model and adapt it. The challenge, when everything has been tried already, is to persuade consumers that what you are doing is in some way innovative.

- a What is the writer's attitude to the pop industry?
b What comparison does the writer make in the article?
c What conclusion does the writer draw?

Now fill the spaces with one word only.

- 1 Link the following instruments with the category they belong in.

brass	electronic	keyboard
percussion	string	woodwind

violin	clarinet	drum
saxophone	cello	flute
triangle	piano	synthesizer
guitar	trumpet	xylophone

- 2  You are going to hear an interview with Sue Pearson, who teaches violin-making at a college. For questions 1–9, complete the sentences with a word or short phrase.

Steps to making a violin

The interviewer describes violins as being elaborately (1) .....

Sue prefers to have wood which has grown in a (2) ..... climate.

It's important for the grain to be uniform so that the violin will have (3) ..... as well as strength.

Sue explains that there is a great deal of (4) ..... when she makes a violin.

The thickness of the wood is reduced to make what Sue refers to as the (5) ..... of the violin.

(6) ..... is used to attach the top and bottom of the violin.

Students find the (7) ..... the hardest part of the violin to make.

Sue believes the (8) ..... can alter the sound of the violin.

Sue hopes that in the future the (9) ..... of one of her violins will be enhanced.

Style extra

In the interview you've just heard, wood was described as finely grained and incredibly strong

This kind of adverb–participle and adverb–adjective collocation is fairly common in English and you should try to familiarise yourself with them. Below are some more common collocations.

seriously ill	widely believed strongly worded	carefully chosen singularly successful	staggeringly expensive keenly priced

Write a sentence which includes the following words and one of the collocations above.

EXAMPLE: sister / food poisoning

My sister is seriously ill with food poisoning.

My sister sent a strongly worded letter to the restaurant when she got food poisoning.

- a a monster / Loch Ness
- b boyfriend / birthday present
- c designer clothes / out-of-town retail outlets
- d seats / rock concert
- e new album / number one

Idiom spot

Complete the following sentences using one of these words. One is used more than once:

tune chord song string note score

- a It was clear from people's reactions that the newcomer was someone of .....
- b The new college principal would appear to be in ..... with most of the students.
- c I put in a bid for that old piano because it was going for a .....
- d Rachel did an advanced IT course before she started work, to make sure she had a second ..... to her bow.
- e The fight occurred when the youths decided they needed to settle the ..... with the other gang.
- f The speech seemed to strike the right ..... with the crowd and they clapped loudly.
- g Her biography struck a ..... with quite a few elderly people who had had a similar experience.

Exam spot

In Part 2 of Paper 4, there is a two-way conversation between the candidates: a one-minute task, followed by a three-minute related task. In Unit 4 you looked at the one-minute task. In the three-minute task you are given visual material and asked to speculate, evaluate, compare, give your opinions and make decisions.

3 Look at photographs A–D. You need to imagine that a television documentary is being produced on music today. These pictures show some of the aspects that are being considered. You have about three minutes to decide which aspect is most representative of music today.

Try to include some mention of the following:

accessibility	popularity sound quality	value for money

Pronunciation

4 10 In 6.2 you looked at modals. The tone of voice that is used with certain modal auxiliaries can change the meaning. Listen to these sentences. What feeling is the speaker expressing? For example, irritation, anger, surprise, being reproachful, etc.

- a You could have rung me from the station.
- b You could have rung me from the station.
- c You might ask before you borrow the car!
- d You might ask Pete if you can borrow his car.
- e Liz should have got here an hour ago.
- f Liz should have got here an hour ago.

5 11 You are going to hear other examples of contrastive stress. Underline the word which is stressed in the sentence you hear and answer the question that follows.

EXAMPLE: I wanted white wine with the meal.

Did she get white wine? No.

- a I thought you'd gone home.
Is the person at home?
- b I thought you'd gone home.
Is the person at home?
- c She's an English teacher.
Does she teach English?
- d She's an English teacher.
Does she teach English?
- e I'm not buying a car.
Is he buying a car?
- f I'm not buying a car.
Is he buying a car?
- g She's not pretty.
Is she pretty?
- h She's not pretty.
Is she pretty?
- i I had wanted to see the paintings.
Did he see the paintings?
- j I had wanted to see the paintings.
Did he see the paintings?

Writing folder 3

Part 1 Essay

Look back at Writing folder 1 on pages 22–23 for basic facts about this compulsory question. An essay is a discursive task that expresses an argument. Clear organisation is required, together with a logical sequence of ideas. The register used should be ‘unmarked’ – that is, neither formal nor informal – and impersonal in tone, as there is usually no reference to personal experience.

- 1 Read the two texts below, which contain complementary ideas on the status of music in society. Express these ideas in sentences, using your own words.

Text 1

Music is something that we perhaps take for granted in our daily lives, particularly when it exists in the form of background music in public places or advertising jingles, and with the huge availability of downloadable music, we now have ready access to whatever we desire. However, do we as a society take music as seriously as we should? Professional musicians are highly-skilled individuals, yet many of them struggle to find regular work and their talent is seldom recognised. In most countries, they receive no state support and many are forced to abandon a career in music altogether. What a waste!

Text 2

Music has been downgraded in importance in our schools and is often the first subject to be withdrawn from the curriculum, with more and more emphasis placed on core subjects. Yet research has shown that those who learn music from a young age benefit in different ways. Music lessons are creative and engage children in a collaborative activity that has a real outcome. Even if parents are reluctant to contribute additional funding for instruments, they will usually come to see their offspring perform in the school concert. Let's give music back the status it deserves in education.

- 2 Choose sentences from a–f that are closest to your own wording. Decide whether the remaining sentences represent ideas in the texts.
  - a Music should have a special place in the school curriculum because it allows children to participate in something productive.
  - b The best-known performers earn a great deal, so state support cannot be justified.
  - c It is short-sighted to cut the study of music in schools, given its proven positive effects.
  - d Despite the widespread presence of music in the modern world, it tends to be under-valued.
  - e Parents should pay for their children's music tuition throughout their schooling.
  - f It is scandalous that promising young musicians are often unable to develop in their field.
- 3 Read these exam instructions, paying attention to the highlighted parts. Note down additional ideas of your own that are relevant to the topic.

Write an essay summarising and evaluating the key points from both texts. Use your own words throughout as far as possible, and include your own ideas in your answer.

- 4 When writing an essay, there are various ways of introducing an argument. Read these sentence openers and choose one from each section to preface your different ideas.

Generalising

It is often said that ...

It is usually the case that ...

People tend to regard ...

The reality is that ...

Specifying

From the classical performer's point of view, ...

Professional musicians are seen as ...

In terms of the school curriculum itself, ...

As far as parents are concerned, ...

Raising an argument

Considering ...

On the question of ...

No one would dispute ...

Giving one side

One argument in favour of this is ...

In support of ...

It is true that ...

Giving the other side

At the same time ...

In actual fact ...

On the other hand, ...

In contrast to ...

Set/Weighed against this is ...

This is not to say that ...

- 5 Plan your essay, organising your ideas in a paragraph plan. Then draft an introduction that outlines the scope of the essay.

EXAM ADVICE

- Refer to the four key points clearly in your answer.
- Introduce the main argument at the outset.
- Include ideas of your own that are relevant.
- Organise your ideas in logical paragraphs.
- Make sure your argument is coherent.
- Include an effective conclusion.
- Use a variety of sentence openers and linkers.
- Write in an unmarked register, using an impersonal tone.
- Use your own words wherever possible.

- 6 Now write your essay, following the Exam advice and the instructions in 3. You should write 240–280 words.

Listening

- 1 Identify each of the pictures opposite. What do they have in common with the unit title?

Exam spot

Part 1 of Paper 3 contains three short extracts, each with two multiple-choice questions. Read through the questions before you listen, to predict what to listen out for.

- 2 12 You will hear three different extracts. First, read the questions and check any difficult words in your dictionary.

For questions 1–6, choose the answer (A, B or C) which fits best according to what you hear. There are two questions for each extract.

Extract One

You hear a woman being interviewed on the radio about the eye.

- 1 What is the woman's profession?
A zoologist B psychologist C journalist
- 2 What point does she make about staring?
A Humans have to resort to less direct forms of intimidation.
B False eye spots on animals prove that the eye is irreplaceable.
C Animals make eye contact to signal they are about to attack.

Extract Two

You hear a woman talking about when her son was very young.

- 3 Why did the woman choose not to tell her son off when he drew on the wall?
A She felt guilty as she had not been keeping an eye on him.
B She thought his pictures added some much-needed colour.
C She believed it was wrong to put a stop to his creativity.
- 4 Now that he is grown up, how does she feel about the action she took?
A sceptical B justified C regretful

Extract Three

You hear a man talking on the radio about Percy Shaw, an inventor.

- 5 What prompted Percy Shaw to work on his invention?
A He was involved in a serious car accident.
B Something on which he had relied disappeared.
C His eyesight was no longer as keen as it once was.
- 6 Which part of his invention is likened to an eyelid?
A the pad B the base C the assembly

- 3 Explain the meaning of the phrases in bold in the recording scripts for Extracts Two and Three in your own words.

Extract Two

'It was always the same wall and he appeared to be attempting pictures, as well as showing a definite sense of colour ... As soon as Sam completed one magnum opus I would take it down and replace it with a fresh canvas, so to speak ... You see, he has absolutely no leanings towards art, being heavily into information technology!'

Extract Three

'Driving home through the unlit outskirts of Halifax at night, he found the perfect substitute for night vision, following the glint of his headlights in the metal tramlines. But he ran into a problem: no longer in use, these rails were soon taken up for good. With this serious setback, Shaw decided it was time to come up with something that would help him – and others – to steer in the dark. His now ubiquitous invention, modelled on the eye of a cat, consists of a mirror and a spherical lens mounted on a rubber pad.'

Idiom spot

Which of these idioms was used in the recordings? What do the others mean?

- |                         |                       |
|-------------------------|-----------------------|
| catch someone's eye     | turn a blind eye (to) |
| look someone in the eye | see eye to eye (with) |
| have an eye for         | be in the public eye  |

Use your imagination to the full to finish these sentences.

- The thing that really caught my eye was ...
- I shouldn't have turned a blind eye to ...
- My boss looked me in the eye and said ...
- I've never seen eye to eye with ...
- You definitely have an eye for ...
- People who are in the public eye should ...

Exam spot

The Paper 1 Part 3 word formation task tests related parts of speech and compound words. Read the text carefully – a space may require a plural or negative form.

- 4 Read the text about the French artist Georges Seurat. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

The Pointillist Georges Seurat

(1859–1891)

Few artists discover a (0) MEANINGFUL direction so young in life. Barely into his twenties, Georges Seurat did just this, developing one of the most lucid classical styles since the fifteenth century, the (1) ..... of which was the dot.

MEAN

ESSENTIAL

This was a radical departure from the style of Impressionist artists such as Pissarro and Renoir. ## Style extra

Look at this example from the text.

A child of late nineteenth-century positivism and scientific optimism, Seurat drew on ...

The use of an extended noun phrase to preface a sentence like this is common in biographical and other academic writing.

Complete the sentences a–d, which start with noun phrases, writing about people of your choice.

EXAMPLE: One of the most creative artists of the 20th century, Picasso produced many different styles in the course of his working life.

- A highly-regarded and ground-breaking film-maker,
- Best-known for their awe-inspiring poetry,
- The most significant political thinker of his generation,
- A leading innovator in her field of expertise,

Write two more complete sentences on subjects of your choice.

- 1 a Identify the part of speech of each underlined word in the following sentence, which is from one of the recordings in 7.1.

You may see a pair of dazzling headlights eyeballing you.

Exam spot

You can use participles in clauses, to give more information about a noun. Including these clauses in Paper 2 answers will impress the examiner, as your writing will be more complex and sophisticated.

- b Identify the participle and say what it refers to in these examples, also taken from 7.1.
- Driving home through the unlit outskirts of Halifax at night, Percy Shaw would follow the glint of ...
  - His invention, modelled on the eye of a cat, consists of ...
- c Sometimes the position of the participle clause in the sentence alters the meaning. Explain the difference in meaning of these two sentences.
- I saw our cat sitting precariously on the roof.
  - Sitting precariously on the roof, I saw our cat.
- 2 Compare the two pictures. One is by the 19th-century British artist J.M.W. Turner and the other was taken by the Hubble Space Telescope.
Would you describe each as beautiful? Why? / Why not?
How else might you describe these pictures? Would you use any of these words?

awe-inspiring	dazzling	flamboyant
indistinct	natural	spectacular unimaginable

- 3 Now read the article, ignoring the use of italics. Why does the writer draw a parallel between the Hubble image and Turner's work? What idea is expressed about art and beauty?
- 4 Say whether the italicised participles in the article are used actively or passively. Does each one refer to simultaneous action or to previous action? For example, Gazing is an active use, referring to the same time as the action in the main clause of the sentence (we are savouring).

Beauty written in the stars

Gazing at the smoky, glowing gas clouds of the 'starburst' galaxy shown here, we are savouring a beauty that is the accidental product of events that happened in a distant time and part of the universe. The result looks like a great painting. To be precise, it is reminiscent of the work of Turner, that masterly nineteenth-century British artist. For John Ruskin, Turner's champion and near-contemporary, the object of art was to reveal the divine hand in nature. That was what he meant by beauty. What might he have said today, having viewed the pictures taken by the Hubble Space Telescope?

Having been launched in 1990 with an inaccurately ground lens, Hubble was initially a huge embarrassment, sending back indistinct images that impressed no one. However, the picture changed, quite literally, in 1993. On being successfully repaired by shuttle astronauts, the telescope proceeded to relay the most spectacular images to us. Hubble is now like an eye with a cataract removed, seeing into deep space with a hard, bright precision that is almost uncomfortable.

There has never been a more gratuitous addition to our store of beauty. Ultimately, when we call a work of art beautiful we are comparing it to nature. The underlying structures of nature imitated by artists from ancient Greece until the middle of the twentieth century were chosen because nature was perceived as beautiful. If we don't talk much about 'beauty' in contemporary art, it is due to the fact that art is no longer concerned with the representation of nature. Arguably, the photographs taken by Hubble are the most flamboyantly beautiful artworks of our time.

5 Join a sentence from 1–6 with one from a–f, starting each new sentence with a participle clause. Think about timing in the two sentences you are joining. An example (0 + g) is given.

EXAMPLE: Having slashed the half-finished canvas with a knife, the temperamental artist threw his paints out of the seventh-storey window one by one.

- 0 The temperamental artist slashed the half-finished canvas with a knife.
- 1 The exhibition includes some rather shocking images.
- 2 Andy Goldsworthy's sculptures often occur in open landscape.
- 3 Physicists want to create order from chaos.
- 4 The photographer took quite a few warm-up shots.
- 5 People come in from the street for an hour's rest.
- 6 I have already bought two previous works by this artist.
- a They don't realise that the beds – and they themselves – are part of an installation.
- b They are constantly trying to reduce the universe to a set of basic principles.
- c It has received mixed reactions from members of the public.
- d I am looking out for a third.
- e Then he caught the model unawares in a more relaxed pose.
- f They are particularly effective during dramatic weather conditions.
- g He threw his paints out of the seventh-storey window one by one.

6 Complete the sentences with a suitable passive participle, formed from one of the verbs below.

announce	choose	damage	make search	sell	show

- a The sculptures ..... for the exhibition will all have to travel to New York by sea.
- b Many of the images ..... in advertisements at the moment are based on original artists' work.
- c The colourful posters ..... at the gallery could themselves become collectors' items one day.
- d Jewellery ..... from recycled glass and plastic is particularly popular.
- e Delays have mainly been caused by visitors' belongings ..... at the exhibition entrance.
- f The shortlist ..... yesterday has already provoked strong criticism.
- g The museum basement ..... by flooding last November will remain closed to visitors.

- 1 What is a visual cliché? Decide which of the images shown are the most clichéd, giving your reasons. Then describe something that is a cliché for you.

- 2 Read the two texts about clichéd images. Do they give complementary or opposing arguments? How far do you agree with the points made?

Text 1

When does a photographic style become a cliché? There can be little doubt that those images now deemed clichés were once powerful and stimulating photographs when they first appeared in the clubs, salons and magazines. Clearly, they merited the awards, and influenced many other photographers, and so photography could be seen to be moving forward. Such is the way of progress. But when an innovative winning image is copied by numerous others, hell-bent on walking off with the annual club trophy, a cliché is born. While the slavish copying of any image or existing style is the road to ultimate ruin, we should actively look at those images to find seeds of stimulation.

Text 2

When is a picture worth a thousand words? Some of nature's most remarkable images become clichés through familiarity, thanks to the commercial world we live in. Transferred to a squat greetings card or popular poster, the once exceptional representation of a radiant sunset over tranquil sea is rendered mundane. For consumer-driven websites, it is visual rather than verbal impact that counts, at least at the outset. The use of original, intriguing photos suggests creativity and innovation, while certain stock photos have become overused clichés, a disincentive to would-be customers. Images are more influential than ever in our digital age.

3 Which text gives specific examples of clichéd images? Why is this done, do you think? The comments in Style extra may help you.

Exam spot

In Part 1 of Paper 2, the texts are a starting point for your own ideas. Although you need to summarise and evaluate the points made, you should move beyond any specific examples given in the texts, to include different examples of your own. Spend five minutes before you start writing, listing other things you can mention to support your evaluation.

Style extra

Many adjectives carry disapproval, as in these examples from the two texts:

- slavish copying – the idea of copying is reinforced by the adjective and a lack of originality suggested
- squat greetings card – the adjective describes something that is small and ugly, so a contrast is emphasised between the exceptional and the mundane.

Here are other adjectives used to show disapproval, some of which occurred in earlier units.

- |                               |                              |
|-------------------------------|------------------------------|
| childish behaviour     | a fatuous remark      |
| florid poetry/speeches | glaring errors/faults |

4 Read these paragraphs, ignoring spaces 1–8 for the moment. Where does the writer make reference to specific examples? Underline the phrases used to introduce these.

Both texts consider the negative effect of clichéd images. The first text is concerned with photography as an art form and the important point made is that (1)..... remains vital, in the search for truly original photographic images. (2)..... portrait shots, such as those by Irving Penn and Diane Arbus among others, should be viewed by others in the profession as (3)..... triggers for new developments and techniques, rather than merely being replicated – the “slavish copying” that is referred to so (4)..... by the writer.

The second text outlines the pivotal position of imagery in our modern world, especially in relation to the use of photographs to sell goods and services on the Internet. Take for instance the cliché-ridden use of visuals like the business handshake or the world as a globe that appear on (5)..... marketing websites. Given that these images are ubiquitous, how can they be sufficiently (6).....? As the saying goes, “familiarity breeds contempt” – such a degree of overuse totally (7)..... what was initially a powerful image, making it banal and (8).....

5 Use the words given in capitals below to form suitable words to fit in spaces 1–8 in the text in 4. Questions 2 and 8 require a compound.

- |              |            |
|--------------|------------|
| 1 EXPERIMENT | 5 COUNT    |
| 2 LAND       | 6 PERSUADE |
| 3 INSPIRE    | 7 VALUE    |
| 4 DISMISS    | 8 PLACE    |

6 Select suitable phrases from a–d to insert in the final paragraph opposite, to produce an answer of the target exam length (240–280 words).

- a one of the most crucial aspects
- b innovative visual material
- c genuinely creative excellence
- d photography in its own right

Central to both these texts is a consideration of the role of (1)..... in the 21st century. The first text is quite specialist in its subject matter, focusing solely on (2)..... The second text is far more relevant to contemporary life. It rightly argues that “visual impact” is (3)..... to achieve – any company seeking to engage new customers via its website has no alternative but to invest in (4)..... and cannot afford to be satisfied with second-best.

Exam folder 4

Paper 1 Part 7 Multiple matching

This part of the Reading and Use of English paper focuses on your ability to retrieve specific information from a text. You are given 10 questions and you must find the answers either in a group of texts or in one which has been divided into sections.

Read the Exam advice and then do the task below.

You are going to read an extract from an article about paintings. For questions 1–10, choose from the sections (A–E). The sections may be chosen more than once.

In which section are the following mentioned?

the inscrutable nature of the subjects	1	<input type="text"/>
the artist's ability to give an insight into temperament	2	<input type="text"/>
the integrity of the image portrayed	3	<input type="text"/>
the view that the artist was an innovator	4	<input type="text"/> delight in a painting's ability to endure	5	<input type="text"/>
the background to a painting being well documented	6	<input type="text"/>
the view that a painting's impact depends on its surroundings	7	<input type="text"/>
a painting which gives an image of a lost world	8	<input type="text"/> admiration for an artist who dared to challenge conventional ideas	9	<input type="text"/> conflicting opinions about the subject of a painting	10	<input type="text"/>

EXAM ADVICE

- Read the title and, if there is one, the subtitle carefully.
- Skim the sections quickly to get an idea of the subject matter. Don't worry about vocabulary that you aren't familiar with.
- Read through the questions carefully.
- Scan the text to find the specific information that answers the questions. When you find an answer in the text, underline it and put the question number next to it.
- Don't spend too much time looking for an answer to a question. Leave it until the end and go on to the next question.
- At the end, go back to the questions you have no answer to or the ones which you are unsure of. Never leave a blank on your answer sheet.
- The questions ask you to locate words/phrases/sentences that mean the same as the ones used in the questions – a paraphrase. Often, an idea will be repeated in more than one section, but only one section really answers the question.
- Don't just look for a word in the question being repeated in the text. This will not be the answer, just a distractor.
- Check to make sure that the part of the text where you think the answer is fully answers the question. Sometimes the question comes in two parts, for example, a surprising view held on the integrity of a subject.

Paintings which inspire

Art experts give their opinions

A Luisa Sutton

A Bar at the Folies-Bergère, by Edouard Manet

Manet was inviting some kind of response in the way in which he presented women in his work and he succeeded in bridging the gap between classical traditions and painting modern life. Above all, I have tremendous respect for the fact that he was a breakthrough artist: a champion of realist modernism who was censured for breaking the mould. Through the medium of painting, Manet constantly reassessed the prevailing attitudes of the world he was living in. Today we are used to multiple perspective – seeing the same image from different angles. This was not so in Manet's time, and in this painting we see him crossing boundaries as he switches reality by employing a mirror to reflect his subjects.

B Paul Harris

Henry VII, 29 October 1505, by unknown artist

Visually, this is a stunning portrait; Henry moves towards the viewer from the parapet wearing the red robes of Lancaster, his hands on the ledge. It is immediately exciting and emotive. Henry VII was on the lookout for a new bride and this was painted to be sent to the court of Maximilian, much as we would send a photo today. So the provenance is clear. Portraits of other English monarchs, Richard III in particular, are, in comparison, stiff and remote. Henry VII's portrait speaks in a very particular way. His eyes look at one. He is Renaissance Man but, at the same time one sees a shrewd, wise and wily man who, throughout his reign, managed to amass the fortune of the Tudor dynasty.

C Tom Newman

James VI and I, 1618, by Paul Van Somer

I used to work for an art handling company in New York, and I came to realise how wonderful paintings are as entities. Old paintings last for so long because of the materials used – the oil is so robust, it expands or contracts depending on the heat. They can be rolled up and taken around the world, they'll never die. This portrait, in particular, made a huge impression on me. Works of art often lose their power as soon as they're placed in a museum. This painting is where it belongs – in a palace. Subject to who you speak to, James is either a buffoon or a tactical genius, but in this work he looks so stately. The painting was clearly commissioned to convey regality – and it worked on me, 400 years later.

D Paula Smith

Mr and Mrs Andrews, by Gainsborough

I chose this painting as it has personal relevance for me. I grew up in my grandmother's house in London. She was an excellent copyist of Gainsborough. We had copies of all of his paintings, except for this one, which my grandmother didn't approve of. I've always found it incredibly beautiful though. The two figures in this wonderful painting have very enigmatic expressions. What are they up to? What are they thinking? And then what are we to make of the landscape? It's an agricultural scene, in the middle of the day, but there are no agricultural workers anywhere to be seen. Where on earth is everybody? What a strange atmosphere the place has, a long ago era that will never be recaptured.

E Lynn D'Anton

An Old Woman Cooking Eggs, 1618, by Velázquez

What is most striking about this painting is surely its veracity. One gets the feeling that one is looking into a room in which there are no obstacles to understanding. Nothing comes between the subject and the observer. The artist here is the perfect observer. When I saw it a few years ago in the National Gallery of Scotland, set alongside many other works from Velázquez's youth, there was no doubt in my mind that it was a masterpiece. I think that it is easy for many people to empathise with this painting in one way or another.

Urban jungle

1 Rank these factors according to their likely importance for city residents. What would be the most important benefit for you?

- diverse employment opportunities
- low levels of pollution
- sufficient open spaces
- effortless access to amenities
- spacious living accommodation

Reading

2 You are going to read an extract from an article on urban planning (see page 67). First, look at questions 1–10 and check you understand the key words and phrases that have been highlighted.

In which section are the following mentioned?

- the interrelationship between metropolitan amenities and good conduct 1
- the failure to see through a project according to its original design 2
- an indication of the expectations held by a majority of citizens 3
- the lack of transport infrastructure in one development 4
- the avoidance of urban development on the periphery 5
- the apparent failure to foster sufficient urban renewal 6
- an experiment in mixed-use communities prior to the CNU 7
- an inability to identify adequate sites of a certain type 8
- the slow pace of change due to relatively recent construction 9
- an unforeseen environmental consequence of planning policy 10

3 For questions 1–10, choose from the sections (A–E) in the text opposite. The sections may be chosen more than once.

Vocabulary

Compound adjectives and their collocations

Several compound adjectives are used in the article, such as mixed-use, car-dependent. Compound adjectives are often formed from a present or past participle with a preposition, as in boarded-up, an adjective, as in slow-paced, or an adverb, as in forward-thinking.

4 Make compound adjectives using these lists and suggest noun collocations for each one. For example, well-constructed (house); smashed-up (car); quick-thinking (politician).

Adjectives	Adverbs	Participles	Prepositions
quick	well	constructed	down long	far	smashed	up
short	poorly	sighted	out
		blown	through running/run thinking/ thought

The New Urbanism architectural movement

A The Congress for the New Urbanism (CNU) was founded two decades ago by a group of talented architects in the USA, who were looking to create sustainable, walkable, mixed-use neighbourhoods. One of their most ambitious projects, by founder member Peter Calthorpe, was Laguna West, south of Sacramento. However, during the grim California recession of the 1990s, the original developer for this scheme went bankrupt and the entire project was taken over by a less sympathetic developer, who contravened virtually all of CNU's principles. Had Laguna West been completed as Calthorpe planned it, it would have been one of the great visionary new towns of the late 20th century. As things have turned out, it is just another conventional, car-dependent suburb. And the current extent of New Urbanist communities in terms of population absorption implies that if they are regarded as a solution to metropolitan problems, all the usual clichés – shuffling the deckchairs on the Titanic, fiddling while Rome burns, etc. – must apply.

B The key principles of the CNU remain unchanged. They seek to promote neighbourhoods that are diverse in terms of use and have mixed populations in terms of age, race and income. They believe in giving communities transportation alternatives – especially walking, cycling and public transit. They have a strong preference for 'infill' development – that is, the use of land within a built-up area, especially as part of a community redevelopment project – rather than the endless expansion of cities sometimes referred to as 'urban sprawl'. They give some priority to accessible public spaces, community institutions and a variety of parks and other green spaces, in order to foster exemplary civic behaviour.

C New Urbanist communities are intended to be more than residential subdivisions, with shops, a wide range of personal and consumer services, and workplace sites all conveniently accessible on foot. This is one of the plans for Kentlands, perhaps the most successful of the NU communities to date, and yet commercial development in terms of employment opportunities is lagging far behind. The same idea of 'self-containment' was one of the principles behind the creation of the British new towns of the 1960s, such as Milton Keynes and Telford. Job prospects were certainly good in these towns, though unfortunately the vacancies did not cater to the resident population, due to skill mismatch and other reasons. The overwhelming tendency was for residents to work elsewhere, with the jobs available in the new towns filled by commuters from outside, with the net result being more use of fossil fuels rather than less.

D Critics of the CNU say that it embraces pie-in-the-sky social engineering based on a false diagnosis of society's urban problems, an excessive faith in the ability to change the world, and the prescription of policies that are implementable only under very special circumstances. Urban capital stock is already largely in place and remains a constant, while much of the residential housing in the US has been built in the last 40 years, so innovation through renewal is off the agenda for the time being. Hence, the practical consequences of New Urbanism continue to be a small number of relatively small communities accommodating a minuscule proportion of metropolitan population growth. The US government-sponsored company Fannie Mae's research into housing preferences shows that up to 80% of US households would hope to live in a single-family dwelling with a garden, regardless of income, race or current tenure status. It is only possible to meet these preferences through high-density developments in the suburbs.

E As for the idea that somehow New Urbanism can contribute to the stability, if not revival, of city centers, it remains just that – an idea. Most NU communities are being built on green field sites some distance away from the central city, and infill development has been limited – probably of necessity because of land scarcity – to tiny pockets. Hence, there is no identifiable relationship between NU communities and the fate of central cities and those who live there. If there is some consensus for tackling the social problems found in the central cities (and it is by no means clear that this consensus exists), it would be far better to deal with these problems via direct, tightly-targeted measures rather than via land use controls and social experiments on the metropolitan fringe. The real issue for the city of today is how to counter or accommodate the obvious loss of commercial investment from its heart to its suburbs, which has created run-down central neighbourhoods supported by few amenities. The New Urbanists are largely silent on this.

1 This sentence from the article in 8.1 is an example of inversion.

...es. Had Laguna West been completed as Calthorpe planned it, it would have been one of the great visionary new towns of the late 20th century.

Inversion is often used in formal English, but in fact also appears in less formal writing and spoken English, to emphasise or contrast something.

The example above shows inversion in a conditional sentence with the past perfect. The fixed expression Had it not been for... also uses the past perfect, to talk about the reasons for changed results:
Had it not been for Ben, we would have got totally lost in Madrid.

Inversion is also commonly used after a time adverbial, like the next two examples.

No sooner had we left the building than it started to pour with rain.
Barely had Janie recovered from her operation when she was promoted.

Sometimes a full time clause precedes the inversion.

Only after a rigorous security check were we allowed to enter the building.

G → page 182

2 Finish the sentences using your own ideas and the tenses specified.

- Never before ... (present perfect)
- Only once in my life ... (present perfect)
- Scarcely ... (past perfect) when ... (past simple)
- No sooner ... (past perfect) than ... (past simple)
- Hardly ... (past perfect) when ... (past simple)
- Not until last month ... (past simple)
- Seldom ... (present simple)
- Rarely ... (future simple)
- Had it not been for the fact that ... (past perfect / past simple and would have + past participle)

Inversion also occurs in written description after adverbials of place (usually prepositional phrases).

Opposite the gallery entrance stands an imposing bronze statue.
Under the table sat a tiny mouse with bright, beady eyes.

Notice how the verbs used in these examples are to do with location. Verbs of movement, for example, come, go, run, are also used in this way.

Up the hill crawled the number 77 bus.
Alongside the road runs the River Avon.

3 Complete the short description in the grey panel using these verbs in a suitable past tense. Use each verb once only.

be do hang have sit stand stretch

Idiom spot

How can idioms be learned most efficiently? They can be grouped in various ways:

- as pairs of words: high and dry, touch and go
- by topic: eat humble pie, spill the beans
- by form: out of (the blue / this world), in (a nutshell / the bag)
- by key word: strike (it lucky / a chord / gold)

One of the key words in 3 is used in many other idioms. Which one? Use it in a suitable form to complete these idioms and then give an example situation to explain the meaning of each.

- a ... a hole in your pocket
- b ... the midnight oil
- c get your fingers ...
- d fiddling while Rome ...
- e have money to ...
- f ... your bridges

Exam spot

In Paper 4 Part 3, each candidate has an individual long turn of two minutes. You will be given a prompt card containing the question you have to speak about. Below the question are three ideas, which you can include or not, as you wish. The emphasis is on your ability to speak fluently and to organise your ideas into a coherent whole. Before you start speaking, use the ten seconds allowed to order your thoughts.

- 6 Look at the prompt card below. In groups of four, brainstorm and note down possible ideas, starting with the three areas listed but also including other aspects. Remember to think of both positive and negative points.

Are there more benefits or drawbacks to living in a city nowadays?

- employment
- amenities
- housing

- 7 Now form two pairs. Each pair should select three of the group's ideas and then decide how to organise these ideas into a short talk.

Things to consider are:

Balance

Both benefits and drawbacks need to be mentioned.

Discourse management

What is the clearest order of ideas?

How will you introduce the topic?

How can you signal a new point?

How will you round off?

Exemplification

Can you give examples to underline your point of view, either personal or general?

Since the sectarian troubles in Belfast, the city has undergone many changes and improvements, and PLACE has recently played a part in this 5 ..... . At the junction of the Falls and the Glen Road in West Belfast lies the site of the former Andersonstown Barracks, an oppressive presence in the 6 ..... for many years. Following the 7 ..... of the original building and several failed attempts to invest in the site, PLACE was asked to run a programme of public 8 ..... and participation, which was very successful.

Which organisational aspect does each of these phrases relate to? Write B, D or E beside each one.

EXAMPLE: Speaking personally ... E

- a The question is complex ...
- b All things considered ...
- c ... is a separate issue.
- d One definite disadvantage is ...
- e That is not to say that ...
- f The third and perhaps most important ...
- g Take the area of ...
- h To evaluate this ...
- i By way of illustration ...
- j Moving on to ...
- k Taking everything into account ...
- l More specifically ...

- 8 One person in each pair should now run through their long turn, with the second person time-keeping and taking notes as to where an idea could be developed or should be cut down. Aim for 30 seconds on each of three ideas, with a short introduction and conclusion.

Exam spot

Following each long turn in Paper 4 Part 3, the second candidate is asked a question by the interlocutor that relates to what they have been listening to, so you must pay attention during the two minutes when your partner is speaking, and listen carefully to what is said. One minute is allowed for your response to the interlocutor's question and further discussion with the other candidate.

- 9 Give your long turn to the rest of the group. One student in the second pair should take on the role of the interlocutor, asking Student B one of the questions below after Student A's long turn. The fourth student in the group should time the performance and indicate when the time allowed has elapsed (see Exam spot for details).

Choice of questions for Student B:

- What is the main drawback to city living, in your opinion?
- Do / Would you enjoy living in a big city, on the whole? (Why? / Why not?)
- If you could make one improvement to your neighbourhood, what would it be and why?

Part 2 Set text question: Film tie-in Question 5 of Paper 2 offers two options, a) and b) – one on each of the specified set texts. At least one of these texts will have a film version and it is acceptable to study the film in place of or alongside the book. This Writing folder suggests ways of approaching the set text through film, and includes an essay task. Writing folder 8 focuses on writing a book review.

- 1 Read the suggestions below about how to start out on the set text. Is there anything you would add?

Tips for the set text

- Use the Internet to familiarise yourself with the story you are going to study.
- Watch trailers of the film to get an impression of the main characters.
- Visit a bookselling website to find out more – check out any sample pages and customer reviews.
- Read online comments from people who have seen the film.
- Do an Internet search on the author's name to see whether s/he has an official website.

- 2 The Secret Life of Bees by Sue Monk Kidd was chosen as a set text for the Proficiency exam. Read this description of the story, taken from the author's website. Does the story interest you? Why? / Why not?

The Secret Life of Bees

It is the summer of 1964 in South Carolina, USA. Living on a peach farm with her harsh, unyielding father, 14-year-old Lily Owens has shaped her entire life around one devastating, blurred memory – the afternoon her mother was killed, when Lily was four. Since then, her only real companion has been the fierce-hearted, and sometimes just fierce, black woman Rosaleen, who acts as her 'stand-in mother'.

When Rosaleen insults three of the deepest racists in town, Lily knows it's time for them both to leave. They take off in the only direction Lily can think of, to a town called Tiburon – a name she found on the back of a picture amid the few possessions left by her mother. Lily and Rosaleen are given refuge in Tiburon by a trio of black sisters who run a bee-keeping business from their home, the Pink House.

- 3 While you are watching the film, think about the following questions.

- 1 Dakota Fanning, the young actor who plays Lily, was born in the southern state of Georgia. She was only 14 when the film was released. How might her age and background have helped her performance?
  - 2 The character of Rosaleen was recast as a younger woman in the film. Why do you think this was done?
  - 3 Through the book and film, we learn a great deal about the process of bee-keeping. Why is this theme important to the story?
  - 4 How do the three sisters, August, June and May, differ in character?
  - 5 The author, Sue Monk Kidd, has commented on the film's accuracy in terms of scene setting. What examples of this do you notice in the Pink House and its surroundings?
- 4 Read the exam task below and the sample answer on page 73, ignoring the spaces for the moment. How would you conclude the essay?

Your teacher has asked you to write an essay discussing how events and details included in The Secret Life of Bees reflect the historical period in which the story is set. You should give specific examples based on your knowledge of the book or the film.

Write your essay.

The story of 'The Secret Life of Bees' takes place in South Carolina in the summer of 1964, against the backdrop of the desegregation of the American south. It is clear through the many examples of meticulous 1 ..... that the director and the other members of her 2 ..... researched the historical background to the story thoroughly, in order to breathe life and authenticity into the story. The brilliant 3 ..... adds tremendous atmosphere, suggesting a long hot summer through its portrayal of harsh daylight and sultry nights.

Early on in the film at T. Ray's peach farm, we see President Johnson talking about the Civil Rights Act on a fuzzy black and white TV screen. This brief clip places the story very precisely in time. Other aspects that confirm the period of the 4 ..... are the 1960s cars, the commemorative plates of President Kennedy displayed on the parlour walls of the Pink House (the 5 ..... excelled itself in sourcing these), the old washing machine that sits out on the porch, and also snatches of popular music from the time. The 6 ..... must have spent a considerable number of hours researching the dresses and hats, as well.

One particularly moving event that highlights the continuing reality of segregation is when Zach and Lily go to see a film together. They buy their tickets separately and have to enter the cinema through separate doors – Zach goes through the one marked 'COLORED' – but once inside, they sit together upstairs and watch the film. However, this is not tolerated by some of the racist townspeople, who manhandle Zach and take him off to jail, where he is beaten up.

Rosaleen's thwarted attempt to register to vote on July 4 is the key event that prompts her and Lily to flee. During the scene, the state of Mississippi is mentioned, which is where the most brutal attacks on would-be black voters occurred. Here, the 7 ..... has decided to depart slightly from the book in transferring the mention of Mississippi from Lily's thoughts into Rosaleen's mouth, but it seems a valid change from book to 8 ..... , which serves to underline the reality of Rosaleen's position and the very real risk she is taking in a bigoted southern town.

5 Now complete spaces 1–8 with the correct word or phrase to do with film-making, choosing from the box. There are two extra words that you do not need to use.

action	cast
cinematography	crew
producer	props department
scene setting	screenplay script writer	wardrobe manager

6 Now write an essay based on the exam task in 4. If you have not read The Secret Life of Bees, refer to the book and film tie-in of your choice. Follow the advice given below.

EXAM ADVICE

- Don't be afraid to refer exclusively to the film of the book – you will not be penalised for doing this.
- Plan your answer, noting down specific examples that you can mention.
- Use an appropriate register for the task type required – this will be unmarked to formal for an essay.
- Summarise your views in a conclusion.
- Demonstrate a wide range of language, including vocabulary relevant to novels and film-making.

Vocabulary

3 Decide which word or phrase is correct in the following sentences.

EXAMPLE: You're well within your right/rights to complain to the manager.

The correct expression is 'be within your rights'.

- a Pablo couldn't find his credit card anywhere, even though it was right under his chin/nose all the time.
- b A burst/puff of applause greeted his entrance onto the stage.
- c Toni has been seriously/singularly unsuccessful in her attempts to sell her range of clothes.
- d It was a grain/stroke of luck that the plane was delayed because of bad weather, otherwise we would've missed it.
- e I'm fed up with being taken for granted/by surprise by my flatmates, who seem to expect me to do all the washing up.
- f Celebrities complain bitterly about being in the public eye/purse, but this is the price they pay for fame.
- g My neighbour took exception/part when I left my car parked outside his house.

- i It is widely/staggeringly believed that glaciers are not melting because of climate change.
- j A rumble of thunder/wind could be heard in the distance.
- k I think the festival succeeded because it was in chord/tune with what the audience expected.
- l Stefan takes the stand/view that people should be responsible for their own actions.
- m I have never been/seen eye to eye with my boss.
- n Lisa's behaviour at the party was incredibly childish/youthful.
- o I always knew that my sister would turn out to be someone of note/score.

Writing

4 Insert rhetorical questions A–E into this essay about modern art and music.

- A Is the world of contemporary music any better?
- B Yet is there genuine technical skill in Damien Hirst's sheep, pickled in formaldehyde?
- C What has happened to good judgement and common sense?
- D So should we look again to nature to provide us with the beauty that we crave?
- E Have these composers really nowhere left to go?

1  In my opinion, the art world lacks both. It has, moreover, abandoned its traditional role, that of being pleasing to the senses. Modern artists are merely out to shock, to be sensationalist. Bound up with this ruthless modernism is intense commercialism. Prices are inflated by urban galleries and urbane collectors, whose 'discerning' purchases appreciate by the day, as mediocre artists are successfully hyped as the latest Andy Warhol or Georgia O'Keeffe.

2  Here, too, we are no longer given works we can enjoy, but 'difficult' music with no discernible melody, that jangles the nerves and leaves us with a dreadful headache.

3  Yet perhaps I am making the very same mistake as contemporary critics of Georges Seurat's, who shunned his masterpieces and saw him die at the age of 31, poor and unappreciated. Maybe in another twenty years, the music that I personally cannot fathom will be regarded as safe and conventional; the art installations seen as old hat.

4  The jury's still out. Living in our post-industrial society, the vast majority of today's artists and musicmakers fail to give us any beauty in their work, exhibiting only their own creative frustration. 5  Or at least, as Andy Goldsworthy has proved, art could be transported to a more meaningful setting, where commercialism does not hold sway.

Speaking

- 1 Discuss the photos with a partner. Why do you think the people have chosen to wear those particular clothes?
- 2 What would you wear on the following occasions? Make sure you justify your decisions.
  - to a classical concert
  - to a rock festival
  - on a long-distance plane trip
  - on a first date
  - at a club
  - at a job interview
  - to a wedding
  - to the gym

Vocabulary

- 3 You are going to hear five people talking about what they wear. Before listening, complete the sentences below, which contain some of the words and expressions you will hear in the recordings. Choose the word or phrase in italics which best fits the meaning of the sentence. Use a dictionary to help you.
  - a The office manager decided that Friday should be dress-down/off day.
  - b I hated the thought of being glued/stuck behind a desk all day.
  - c The outlay/outgoings on my wedding dress was huge.
  - d I would steer clear/straight of having your hair dyed, if I were you.
  - e When I read about lip piercing, I was absolutely caught/hooked on the idea.
  - f My wearing jeans to the interview really raised some eyebrows/looks.
  - g Turning up to my ex-girlfriend's wedding in trainers really got up her nose/face.
  - h Alicia wasn't sure which pair of jeans to take/opt for as both fitted well.

Listening

4 14 You will hear five short extracts in which different people are talking about the way they dress. Read the Exam spot and complete Tasks One and Two.

Exam spot

In Paper 3, Part 4, you are tested on whether you can identify gist, attitude, main points and interpret context. You need to complete two tasks as you listen. Sometimes you will hear the answer to Task Two before you hear the answer to Task One. You hear the recording twice.

TASK ONE

For questions 1–5, choose from the list (A–H) what caused each speaker to choose a particular way of dressing.

- |  |           |                        |
|--|-----------|------------------------|
| A feeling a distinct pressure to conform | Speaker 1 | <input type="text"/> 1 |
| B being bullied at school                | Speaker 2 | <input type="text"/> 2 |
| C being influenced by a colleague        | Speaker 3 | <input type="text"/> 3 |
| D seeing an article                      | Speaker 4 | <input type="text"/> 4 |
| E attending a music festival             | Speaker 5 | <input type="text"/> 5 |
| F visiting another country               |           |                        |
| G wanting to rebel against society       |           |                        |
| H needing to make a good impression      |           |                        |

TASK TWO

For questions 6–10, choose from the list (A–H) what each speaker mentions is the benefit of the way they dress.

- |                                |           |                         |
|--------------------------------|-----------|-------------------------|
| A increased comfort            | Speaker 1 | <input type="text"/> 6  |
| B less expense                 | Speaker 2 | <input type="text"/> 7  |
| C instant recognition          | Speaker 3 | <input type="text"/> 8  |
| D improved safety              | Speaker 4 | <input type="text"/> 9  |
| E more authority               | Speaker 5 | <input type="text"/> 10 |
| F faster promotion at work     |           |                         |
| G higher self-esteem           |           |                         |
| H greater acceptance by others |           |                         |

While you listen, you must complete both tasks.

5 With a partner, talk about how you made your decisions.

6 What do you think about different ways of dressing? What would make you change the way you dress? Talk about your ideas with a partner.

Phrase spot

In the discussion you heard some expressions with come.

- It was funny how my look came about – meaning to happen or start to happen
- They'd soon come apart – meaning to be separated from something

Expressions with come are frequently tested in the Proficiency exam and you should try to familiarise yourself with them.

Complete the sentences below with the right expression, making any other changes you feel are necessary.

- |                           |                          |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|
| come over                 | come between             |
| come up with the goods    | come easily              |
| come in for               | be coming along          |
| come out in sympathy with | first come, first served |
| come round                | come to terms with       |

- Don't worry – he'll ..... to our way of thinking, I'm sure of it.
- We believed that the basic message of the TV programme ..... quite well.
- The pilots ..... the cabin crew during the one-day strike last week.
- Languages seem to ..... to Petra – she speaks at least five.
- Nobody is going to ..... me and my best friend.

- This chairman is good at making promises but he hardly ever .....
- My essay is ..... quite nicely, now I've found out which resources to use.
- Tony needs to ..... losing his job.
- The sales team ..... a lot of criticism at the meeting yesterday.

- 1 It is important to realise that verbs cannot be learned in isolation. You should always learn what follows a verb in order to use it accurately.

Finish these sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets. There may be more than one answer.

- a I stopped (wear) any sort of uniform the day I left school.
- b My brother used (wear) a grey sweater and black trousers to school.
- c I prefer (you/wear) a suit to work.
- d Tom prefers (wear) jeans at the weekend.
- e His boss forced (him/shave) his beard off.
- f Her mum let (her/wear) high heels to the party.

Corpus spot

One of the biggest problems students have when writing at Proficiency level is the use of gerunds and infinitives. Look at the following sentences taken from the Cambridge Learner Corpus and correct any mistakes.

- a I would have helped her finding the right wedding dress.
- b We shouldn't spend so much time try to find bargains in the sales.
- c I suggest to use a plaster if you have a blister on your foot.
- d The old uniforms in the museum are worth to be seen.
- e We enjoy ourselves to laugh at the stars at the Oscars.
- f My new glasses enable me to reading more easily.
- g We should let them to enjoy themselves while they are young.
- h I missed to talk to my sister when I was away from home.
- i I convinced him of applying to the Editor of the magazine.
- j You aren't allowed to coming into the hotel without wearing a tie.

- 2 Some verbs take either a gerund or an infinitive, but change their meaning accordingly. With a partner, discuss the difference in meaning of the following pairs of sentences.

EXAMPLE: Sheila stopped having a break at work. – 'stopped' means 'ceased', i.e. she didn't have a break any more
Sheila stopped to have a break before continuing her work. – the reason she stopped was to have a break

- a I mean to mark all these essays before ten o' clock.
- b It will mean having to start earlier.
- c We regret to inform you that you haven't been accepted at fashion college.
- d I regret wearing stiletto heels when I was young.
- e I remember going for long walks in the snow.
- f Remember to buy the milk, will you?
- g I hope you didn't forget to post my letter.
- h I can't forget meeting my first boyfriend.
- i Try to understand my feelings, will you?
- j Try opening the window, if you're feeling sleepy.
- k Professor Winters went on to speak about Paradise Lost after he'd introduced everyone present.
- l My mother goes on talking even when no one appears to be listening.
- m Roger came to accept she wouldn't marry him.
- n She came rushing into the room in some alarm.
- o I was lucky enough to hear Muse sing in London.
- p I heard the birds singing in the tree outside my room every morning.

- 3 Rewrite the following sentences by using the word or words in brackets with a gerund or infinitive. Do not change the meaning of the sentence.

EXAMPLE: (manage) I succeeded in passing my driving test first time.

I managed to pass my driving test first time.

- a (object) I don't mind if you leave early.
- b (allow) Do they let you smoke outside your office entrance?
- c (worth) There's no point asking her out, she's always busy.
- d (forbid) My father told my sister she mustn't go to the club in town.
- e (avoid) Book early and you won't have to queue.
- f (recommend) His doctor said, 'You should do more exercise.'
- g (promise) Don't worry, I'll post that letter for you.
- h (suggest) I propose we take our bikes with us.
- i (had better) 'Move your car immediately or else I'll call the police!'
- j (deny) Peter said he hadn't caused the accident.
- k (make) His mother forced him to apologise.

- 4  Listen to this woman talking about her time at school. What does she say about:

- the uniform?
- the teachers?

With a partner, talk about what you remember about the time you were at primary school. Talk about: the teachers, the building, your friends, what you wore, what was popular.

Vocabulary

Prefixes

- 5 In the listening for 4 you heard the speaker talk about feeling 'self-conscious' and her teacher was 'undervalued'. Look at the expressions below and decide how the prefix changes the word it is attached to.

EXAMPLE: redo – to do again

- |                      |                |
|----------------------|----------------|
| a self-conscious     | g superhuman   |
| b misheard           | h anti-smoking |
| c counter-productive | i pre-arranged |
| d pro-government     | j outdo        |
| e overworked         | k undervalue   |
| f sub-zero           |                |

- 6 Complete the sentences below using a prefix from 5 and the correct form of the word in brackets.

EXAMPLE: The experts managed to (construct) the three-hundred-year-old dress using information from a painting.

The experts managed to reconstruct the three-hundred-year-old dress using information from a painting.

- There's a shortage of (contain) flats in my neighbourhood.
- The local swimming pool is advertising itself as a '(tropic) swimming paradise'!
- I think this printer (live) its usefulness and should be sold.

- I didn't mean to (hear) the argument, but it was hard to avoid.
- As I didn't have a suitable (argue) I decided to back down and apologise.
- Their teacher is very (America), and is always praising that educational system.

- 7 Quickly read this extract from an article about dress to get some idea of what it is about. Don't fill in any spaces at this stage. Answer the following question.

What changes does the writer say have occurred in the way we dress?

SUITABLY DRESSED

Today the notion of 'suitable clothing' is dying (0) OUT. It (1) ..... now appear that, to all (2) ..... and purposes, anything goes. At one (3) ....., it was possible to (4) ..... at a glance the difference (5) ..... someone dressed for work and someone en route to a nightclub. And, needless to (6) ....., the same clothes would never have been worn to both.

However, in the last thirty years, we have undergone a sea change in (7) ..... ideas of what a dress code consists of. Even well (8) ..... the 1960s, male air travellers were expected to wear a suit; these days it would (9) ..... as no surprise to find them in shorts and trainers.

In fact, (10) ..... has been the revolution in our own dress codes that we may find (11) ..... dressing down to go to work and dressing up to go (12) ..... in the evening. That (13) ..... said, there are occasions, a wedding or a funeral, for example, (14) ..... only certain clothes will (15) .....

Now fill in the spaces. Having a good idea of what the text is about will help you.

- 8 Do you think that clothes are as important as personality? How do you respond to people who dress very differently to you? How do you respond to the way people in government or celebrities dress?

Speaking

1 With a partner, talk about the following.

- How important is it to look attractive?
- What do you think makes a face attractive?
- What's your opinion of
  - cosmetic surgery
  - nose and lip piercing
  - make-up
  - wigs
- How important are good looks to a politician?
- Would you describe yourself as a) immaculate, b) smart or c) neither?
- Do you ever look a) scruffy or b) unkempt?

2 Read both texts. With a partner, decide which points the writer is making in each.

Text 1

Recently, a politician was mocked in the press for having a digitally enhanced poster of himself produced. Gone were the receding hairline and wrinkles and a younger, more attractive face peered down from the hoarding. However, there does seem to be evidence that, although they may be unaware of it, a considerable number of people vote according to a candidate's looks. A scientific experiment which used photos of just under 2,000 political candidates and over 10,000 voters took place recently. It found that if a candidate was attractive, then both men and women were more likely to believe that he or she was trustworthy and very able. When a candidate's educational background and occupation were included as an additional check, it was found to have no effect.

Text 2

The images we see on magazine covers today are not what they used to be. A few clicks of the mouse on Photoshop can easily transform models and celebrities into living Barbies. It seems as if advertisers and photojournalists are on the quest to define and sell 'ideal beauty'. Female models have their spots and wrinkles airbrushed out, their legs and eyelashes are made to look longer than they really are and faces magically become more symmetrical. Perhaps the time has come for legislation prohibiting editors from using these techniques? Or, maybe, as some people think, all this is nothing new. Artists have been doing something similar for centuries and we have accepted it as normal.

3 Now look at this summary of the two texts. There are five linking words missing. Decide which answer A, B or C, best fits each space. Use the information in the Phrase spot to help you.

According to the first text, research has shown that both people involved in the political process and, (1) ..... , the public at large, unconsciously give more weight to a candidate's attractiveness than to their background skills. (2) ..... , good-looking candidates were seen to possess very positive personal qualities.

Text B puts forward the opinion that (3) ..... , modern technology enables people in the media to idealise faces and bodies. It (4) ..... goes on to question whether this is really a problem and (5) ..... it asks whether this issue is entirely modern.

- |              |                |                     |
|--------------|----------------|---------------------|
| 1 A thus     | B additionally | C finally           |
| 2 A Moreover | B Then         | C On the other hand |
| 3 A although | B besides      | C firstly           |
| 4 A besides  | B then         | C therefore         |
| 5 A finally  | B equally      | C although          |

4 Now write two paragraphs of about 120 words each, giving your opinion on the points mentioned in the two texts. Try to link your sentences effectively.

Phrase spot

In the Paper 2, Part 1 writing task, it is important to use linking devices effectively. This means choosing your words with care. Avoid beginning a sentence with these words – And, Or, But.

Link your points together using a variety of linking words and phrases, such as the following.

Introducing	Adding	Conceding
First of all,	Besides,	however
Firstly,	Moreover,	even though
Secondly,	In addition,	although
At the same time,	Additionally,	on the other hand
	Above all,	then again
	Not only, ... but also
Equation	Summarising	Result
Equally,	Finally,	therefore
Likewise,	In short/brief,	thus
Similarly,	In conclusion,	consequently
In the same way,	To conclude,	so

5 The following are definitions of personality types. With a partner, decide if the definition is correct or not. If you think the definition is wrong, write a correct version.

EXAMPLE: An observant person is one who is always interested in everyone else's business.
Wrong. An observant person is one who is good at noticing things.

- a A morbid person is one who is interested in unpleasant subjects, especially death.
- b Someone who is opinionated has a lot of excellent suggestions to make when there is a problem.
- c A pompous person is one who is full of their own importance.
- d Someone who is vivacious is likely to get angry quickly.
- e An acquisitive person likes to buy lots of presents for their friends.
- f A meticulous person checks everything they do very carefully.
- g A discriminating person is racially prejudiced.
- h A complacent person is one who is easy-going and pleasant to be with.
- i Someone who is unobtrusive is shy and introverted.
- j A manipulative person likes making things by hand.
- k Someone who is boastful is inclined to tell everyone about their possessions and successes.

Paper 1 Part 6 Gapped text

This part of the Reading and Use of English paper consists of one text, from a range of sources, which has had seven paragraphs removed and placed in jumbled order after the text. You must decide from where in the text the paragraphs have been removed. This part tests knowledge of cohesion (the relationship of the words/sentences and paragraphs to each other), text structure and global meaning.

Read the Exam advice and then do the task below.

Questions 1, 2 and 3 have some clues to help you. Some words have been underlined in both the main article and the missing paragraphs. When you have the answers to questions 1, 2 and 3, do the same with the other questions. Find the words which tell you which paragraph goes where and underline them. Some words will be topic words and others grammatical links.

You are going to read an article about telling lies. Seven paragraphs have been removed from the extract. Choose from the paragraphs A–H the one which fits each gap (1–7). There is one extra paragraph which you do not need to use.

Would I lie to you?

Blatant dishonesty has invaded our culture. Sue Jackson explains how to spot a liar.

Who hasn't told a lie? Even the most upstanding individual probably utters one occasionally to help the day to run more smoothly. But, according to experts, the extent to which people regularly tell serious untruths has exploded. Lying has pervaded every aspect of our lives.

Research in California reveals that people lie up to 20 times a day, while in a poll last year, a quarter of respondents admitted being untruthful on a daily basis. Only 8 per cent claimed they had never lied – although there is always the chance that even then they weren't being honest. Many of these will be sweet little lies, the type psychologists refer to as 'false positives' and the sort we are all guilty of committing when we want to appear more enthusiastic about something than we really are.

2

Until recently it was thought that only manipulative and Machiavellian characters were prone to excessive fabrication of this sort, but research has proved otherwise. According to experts, anyone under pressure or with a big enough incentive is prepared to say something that isn't true.

3

That figure rose to one in three among people with university qualifications. Apparently, this sort of background gives people the vocabulary and the confidence to deceive. The lies are more sophisticated and plausible than you might find elsewhere in society.

The proliferation of lying in corporate culture means that there are huge profits to be gained by companies who can weed out real-life fraudsters before employing them. Numerous studies have been conducted, including some using video cameras, to analyse people who lie. There are two main methods of ousting liars, although one, the mechanical lie detector or polygraph, requires subjects to be trussed up in electrodes, so it hardly lends itself to interviews. That leaves body language and psychological testing.

5

However, sometimes the subconscious takes over. Liars often start blinking fast, a visual sign that the brain is concentrating hard on the task in hand, and are likely to frequently touch their body and face with their hands. Liars are also more likely to tap or swing a foot as they speak.

6

Everyone seems to agree that good liars don't show non-verbal signals, so you need to know what to look for. Lying takes a lot of effort, so often they will rely on past experience to see them through and reduce the cognitive load.

Experts, however, agree that the one person you shouldn't deceive is yourself – and that, once you begin to do so, it is a sure sign that your untruthfulness is getting out of hand.

A This makes detecting the charlatan who fibs his way through a CV very difficult. In the film Liar, Liar the comedian Jim Carrey played a smooth-talking lawyer and consummate liar who specialises in dealing with untrustworthy clients whom no one else will take on. Only when his young son made a wish to see his father get through an entire day without lying was Carrey's character forced to tell the truth. Mayhem ensued.

B Things like 'That was delicious, thank you', 'You look great in that dress' and 'Of course I want to see you'. They are mostly considered harmless social lubricants. But at the other end of the spectrum are the compulsive liars who are effortlessly dishonest.

C Visual clues are not wholly reliable, as experienced deceivers are aware of the common give-away signs and take calculated measures to avoid them. Shifty eyes, for instance, are traditionally thought to be a sure way to tell whether someone is being dishonest, but experienced fabricators will capitalise on this myth.

D So, for instance, people who are lying about where they have been may declare they were at the cinema or the gym so that their untruth doesn't take too much mental planning. It is easier to make up a story about something they know well and have done many times.

E 'We are experiencing an epidemic of lying,' says Professor Leo Damak, an expert in lie detection at a leading university. 'It has always been around, but we are much more aware of it now.' In one study of college students, 85 per cent of couples reported that one or both of them had lied about past relationships or recent events. In another, it was found that dating partners lie to each other in about a third of their conversations.

F A recent study found that pathological liars are just as likely to be self-confident, attractive and popular as they are introverted and withdrawn. It also seems that the better educated a person is, the higher their level of deceit. It was found that falsehoods typically occurred in one fifth of all ten-minute conversations they have.

G Obviously, many won't stand for ambiguity any more. By being more aware of how and why someone will tell a lie, they have more chance of catching him before he tells another and causes real harm.

H However, vocabulary and sounds are generally considered more reliable indicators than body movements. Liars tend to use fewer words, take longer to start answering a question and pause a lot as if to mentally rehearse what they are about to say. Their voices may adopt a high pitch and they are prone to repetition.

EXAM ADVICE

- Read through the base text for general meaning and then read the removed paragraphs very carefully. Go back and read the base text more carefully.
- Highlight any words which will help you to find which paragraph goes where.
- You need to fully understand what is going on in each paragraph to be able to do this task. However, both subject and grammatical links are important.
- Try to find a suitable paragraph for each gap. Check it fits by reading both the paragraph before and the paragraph after.
- Go back at the end and check that the whole passage makes sense.
- As a last check, make sure the extra paragraph wouldn't fit in any of the gaps. If it would, you will need to check all your answers carefully again to see where you have gone wrong.

Speaking

- Before reading the article, talk about these questions with a partner.
  - Look at the words above. Can you recognise the languages?
  - Roughly how many languages are there in the world?
  - Approximately how many languages do you think die out every year?
  - Which language is spoken more than any other?
  - Do you think your language is worth learning by other people?

Reading

- Read through the article quickly and then answer these questions.
  - Why do you think the writer chose the title Death sentence for this article?
  - Do you think the writer is in favour of or against having a world language? Underline the part of the text which gives you the answer.
- Read the article again more carefully and then answer the questions which follow.

DEATH SENTENCE

A language dies only when the last person who speaks it dies. One day it's there; the next it is gone. Here is how it happens. In late 1995, a linguist, Bruce Connell, was doing some fieldwork in the Mambila region of Cameroon. He found a language called Kasabe, which no westerner had studied before. It had just one speaker left, a man called Bogon. Connell had no time on that visit to find out much about the language, so he decided to return to Cameroon a year later. He arrived in mid-November, only to learn that Bogon had died on November 5.

On November 4, Kasabe existed as one of the world's languages; on November 6, it did not. The event might have caused a stir in Bogon's village. If you are the last speaker of a language, you are often considered special in your community. You are a living monument to what the community once was. But outside the village, who knew or mourned the passing of what he stood for?

There is nothing unusual about a single language dying. Communities have come and gone throughout history, taking their languages with them. But, judged by the standards of the past, what is happening today is extraordinary. It is language extinction on a massive scale. According to the best estimates, there are now about 6,000 languages in the world. Of these, about half are going to die out during this century. This means that, on average, there is a language dying out somewhere in the world every two weeks or so.

A survey published by SIL International, formerly known as the Summer Institute of Linguistics, established that there were 51 languages with only one speaker left – 28 in Australia alone. There are almost 500 languages in the world with fewer than 100 speakers; 1,500 with fewer than 1,000 speakers; more than 3,000 with fewer than 10,000 speakers; and a staggering 5,000 languages with fewer than 100,000 speakers. Ninety-four per cent of the world's languages are spoken by only 6% of its people. No wonder so many are in danger.

Many languages die as a result of cultural assimilation. When one culture assimilates another, the sequence of events affecting the endangered language is usually characterised by three broad stages. The first is immense pressure on the people to speak the dominant language. The second stage is a period of bilingualism; people become increasingly efficient in their new language while still retaining competence in their old. Then, often quickly, bilingualism starts to decline, with the old language giving way to the new. This leads to the third stage, in which the younger generation increasingly finds its old language less relevant.

Is language death such a disaster? Surely, you might say, it is simply a symptom of more people striving to improve their lives by joining the modern world. So long as a hundred or even a couple of thousand languages survive, that is sufficient. No it is not. We should care about dying languages for the same reason that we care when a species of animal or plant dies. It reduces the diversity of our planet. In the case of language we are talking about intellectual and cultural diversity, not biological diversity, but the issues are the same.

Increasing uniformity holds dangers for the long-term survival of a species. The strongest ecosystems are those which are most diverse. If the development of multiple cultures is a prerequisite for successful human development, then the preservation of linguistic diversity is essential, because cultures are chiefly transmitted through spoken and written languages. Encapsulated within a language is most of a community's history and a large part of its cultural identity.

Sometimes what we might learn from a language is eminently practical, as when we discover new medical treatments from the folk medicine of an indigenous people; sometimes it is intellectual, as when the links between languages tell us something about the movements of early civilisations. Sometimes it is literary. Every language has its equivalent – even if only in oral form – of Chaucer, Wordsworth and Dickens, and of course, very often it is linguistic: we learn something new about language itself – the behaviour that makes us truly human, and without which there would be no talk at all. Ezra Pound summed up the core intellectual argument: 'The sum of human wisdom is not contained in any one language, and no single language is capable of expressing all forms and degrees of human comprehension.'

Not everyone agrees. Some people believe that the multiplicity of the world's languages is a curse rather than a blessing. If only we had just one language in the world – whether English, Esperanto, or whatever – we would all be better off. World peace would be established. Or so they think.

4 What do the words in italics in the article refer to?

- a Here is how it happens. (lines 3–4)
- b It had just one speaker left (lines 8–9)
- c Of these, about half are going to die out (lines 32–33)
- d This means that, on average (line 34)
- e No wonder so many are in danger. (line 49)
- f Surely, you might say, it is simply a symptom (lines 65–66)
- g It reduces the diversity of our planet. (lines 73–74)
- h sometimes it is intellectual (line 94)
- i Or so they think (line 116)

Exam spot

A good understanding of reference devices will help you in the Reading parts of the exam.

5 Read the article again and answer these questions.

- a What does the writer mean by ‘caused a stir’ in line 17?
- b Explain in your own words what happens during ‘cultural assimilation’? (lines 50–51)
- c What point is the writer making when he gives a comparison between languages and animals? (lines 71–73)
- d Why does the writer believe that ‘linguistic diversity’ (line 84) is important?
- e What examples does the writer give of what we can learn from a language?
- f Explain in your own words what Ezra Pound stated. (lines 105–109)

6 Esperanto is an artificial language, based on Western European languages, which was once believed to have a future as a world language. It has never become popular. Why do you think that is? Do you think that your first language could be a world language? Why? / Why not?

7 Read through the text below. Where would you find this type of text? Give your reasons.

Pidgin and Creole

Just as a language may develop varieties in the form of dialects, languages as a whole may change. Sometimes rapid language change occurs as a result of (1) ..... between people who each speak a different language. In such circumstances a pidgin language may (2) ..... Pidgins usually have low (3) ..... with respect to other languages. They are grammatically (4) ..... on one language but are also influenced, especially in vocabulary, by others; they have relatively small sound systems, reduced vocabularies and simplified and altered grammars, and they rely (5) ..... on context in order to be understood.

Pidgins are often the result of traders meeting island and coastal peoples. A pidgin has no native speakers: when speakers of a pidgin have children who learn the pidgin as their first language, that language is then called a creole. (6) ..... the creole has enough native speakers to form a speech community, the creole may (7) ..... into a fuller language. Many Creole speakers think of their languages as dialects of some colonial language (e.g. dialects of French or English). Linguists nearly always disagree with this view – from our (8) ....., Creoles have independent grammars and all the equipment of full, proper languages.

For questions 1–8, read the text above and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

- 1 A approximation B acquaintance C link D contact
- 2 A issue B stem C spring D arise
- 3 A prestige B credit C esteem D stature
- 4 A based B derived C built D hinged
- 5 A decisively B thoroughly C closely D heavily
- 6 A Whereas B Promptly C Once D Presently
- 7 A increase B expand C enlarge D swell
- 8 A perspective B outlook C context D view

Wish and if only

- 1 Read this business anecdote and then answer the question below.

The British company was chasing a multimillion-pound deal to sell slate from a quarry that it mined to a Spanish customer. The meeting was arranged, the plane arrived and the guests were whisked off to a smart restaurant. Everything was in place – but the interpreter failed to turn up. The directors managed to say the five words of holiday Spanish that they knew between them – several times – but most of the meal passed in embarrassed silence. The guests returned to Spain the next day and, needless to say, there was no deal.

One of the directors might have said to his colleague during the meal 'I wish I had learned Spanish' or 'I wish the customers could speak English'. What else might have been said using wish?

- 2 What verb form do you use after wish when you want to talk about
- the present?
  - the past?
  - something that is annoying you?
- 3 What difference does it make if you begin a sentence with If only ... rather than I wish?

Hope and wish are often confused. If you want something to be true or to happen in the future and you believe it's possible, then a structure such as I hope is required. Wish is used for things which you want to happen but think may not happen.

 Corpus spot

Look at the following sentences. They are all taken from the Cambridge Learner Corpus and contain errors that Proficiency candidates have made in the exam when using wish. Work with a partner to correct them.

- I do wish I will turn out to be a good doctor.
- I wish I will be able to suppress my laughter when he speaks, but I can't.
- She wishes she would be more positive about the future.
- I wish you like the present I've got you for your birthday.
- I hope you to have a pleasant stay.
- I wish they allowed us to enter the club last night.
- He hopes he would remember things more easily.
- I really wish to hear from you soon.
- I wish her children can be as well-behaved as yours.
- I wish they stopped smoking; it's making me cough.
- I wish there'll always be green hills and rivers.
- We spent hours in the forest wishing to see an elk.

- 4 What do you wish for? Talk with your partner about things that you wish for now, in the past and in the future:

- your family
- your country
- your job/studies
- the world

Would rather, It's time, etc.

- 5 With a partner discuss how you would complete these sentences. Give reasons for your choice.
- It's time (go) home. (said as a general statement)
  - It's time (go) home. (said to a particular person)
  - I'd rather (spend) my money on clothes than cigarettes.
  - I'd rather Michael (leave) his bicycle somewhere else.
  - I'd rather she (give) me some flowers instead of chocolates yesterday.
  - It's high time (do) his own ironing.
  - It's about time (take) a more serious attitude to her job.

6 For questions 1–8, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

1 I really think you should be more assertive about your rights.

up

It's about time ..... more.

2 You should really stop behaving like a child.

though

It's high time ..... a child.

3 They should do a proper review of teachers' salaries.

out

It's time ..... a proper review of teachers' salaries.

4 I think it preferable for all students to write in ink.

rather

I ..... in ink.

5 I regret now spending so much money on that car.

splashed

I wish now ..... so much money on that car.

6 It's a pity that he turned up without warning me.

let

I wish ..... he was coming.

7 It's a shame she wasn't aware how much I cared for her.

strength

If only ..... of my feelings for her.

8 Please don't wear shoes in the house.

rather

I ..... your shoes in the house.

Phrase spot

The interpreter failed to turn up to the meal with the British company. Turn up is a phrasal verb that means 'to come or arrive rather casually'. Turn is often tested at Proficiency, as a phrasal verb, a phrasal noun or in an expression.

The following are all expressions with turn. Read the sentences below and rewrite them using one of the expressions in the box.

to take a turn for the better	not to turn a hair to have a nice turn of phrase	to toss and turn not to know which way to turn	to take it in turns to turn as red as a beetroot	a turn-up for the books
the turn of the century

a Well, there's a surprise – I never thought he'd get a girlfriend.

b He expresses himself well.

c He went scarlet when she asked him to dance.

d From 1900 we see a change in attitudes towards the countryside.

e I didn't know what to do when the airline told me they'd lost my luggage.

f I couldn't sleep last night for worrying.

g My dad was ill in hospital but he's suddenly improved so he'll be home at the weekend.

h Muriel wasn't the least bit put out when we told her the awful news.

i Now, everyone must wait to have a go with the new computer game.

Listening and Speaking

- 1 With a partner, look at the photos and talk together about whether or not you think that the photos show positive aspects of globalisation. You have about a minute to do this.

- 2 Now, you have three minutes to talk together about the aspects of global culture that the photos show.

Things to think about:

- Does it make you feel excited or depressed when people say we live in a 'global village'?
  - In what ways do you think it affects culture in your country – for example, in music, food, education, work, family life, language?
  - Does global culture widen or cross the generation gap?
- 3  16 You will hear three different extracts. For questions 1–6, choose the answer (A, B or C) which fits best according to what you hear. Read through the questions carefully before you listen. After listening, discuss your answers with your partner.

Extract One

You will hear part of an interview with a politician called Steven Bright, in which globalisation is being discussed.

- 1 Steven Bright is concerned that globalisation means a country
- A losing employment opportunities.
  - B having a lack of economic control.
  - C losing its sense of individuality.
- 2 Which aspect of loaning money to developing countries does Steven Bright disagree with?
- A the reasons for giving out loans
  - B the unrealistic amount of money loaned
  - C the imposition of certain conditions

Extract Two

You hear a woman called Paula Drinkwater talking about her research into bilingualism.

- 3 Why did Paula do research into bilingualism?
- A She needed a research project for her psychology doctorate.
  - B It was a natural development of a project she was involved in.
  - C She was keen to get into a new and exciting field.
- 4 What does Paula say about the experiment she did?
- A She thought it was too dangerous to repeat.
  - B She realised that any results would be questioned.
  - C She wasn't particularly surprised by the outcome.

Extract Three

You will hear a man called Bob talking about learning Chinese.

- 5 What is Bob doing when he speaks?
- A justifying the learning method he used
  - B criticising the way languages are often taught
  - C advising other people to learn Chinese
- 6 What does Bob say about some of Elena's ideas?
- A Some of them were more useful than they first appeared.
  - B They were based on what she had picked up in Spain.
  - C They didn't help with every aspect of learning Chinese.

Pronunciation

- 4 In the recording in this unit you heard the words homework and bookshelves. Where is the main stress in these words? Make as many combinations as you can from the following words and say where the main stress should go. Some combinations are written as one word, some as two words and others take a hyphen. Use a dictionary to check.

EXAMPLE: old house

boathouse

old	seat	back	tea	house	woman
carpet	bag	horse	dog	red	boat
wine	sheep	road	sign	glass	race

- 5 For questions 1–8, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Remember the words must be spelled correctly. Use your dictionary to check.

MODERN CULTURE?

When people talk about contemporary culture they are just as (0) ..... LIKELY ..... to be talking about fast cars, trainers or high heels as they are to be talking about Shostakovich or Shakespeare.

Goods have become as (1) ..... a measure and marker of culture as the Great and the Good. The word 'culture' can now cover just about anything. Culture is no longer merely the beautiful and singular.

It wasn't until the late twentieth century that a (2) ..... interest in objects began to replace the traditional interest in -isms, with historians, (3) ..... critics and philosophers all suddenly becoming fascinated by the meaning of objects, large and small. Is this a sign, perhaps, of a society cracking under the strain of too many things?

Our current (4) ..... with material culture, one might argue, is simply a (5) ..... to the Western crisis of abundance. There are obvious problems with this materialist (6) ..... of culture. If our experience of everyday life is so (7) ..... , then how much more so is the (8) ..... of our everyday things under scrutiny?

Part 2 Article

For Part 2 of Paper 2, you may have to write an article on a certain topic or discussion point. Real-world articles carry an eye-catching title, open with a thought-provoking statement and use stylistic devices to hold the reader's interest throughout.

- 1 These quotes are all to do with globalisation. Match each one to the organisation or product to which it refers.
  - a 'It can locate thousands of sites on your chosen topic within seconds and operates at country-level, so you won't need to wade through lots of irrelevant American stuff.'
  - b 'Name me one bar in the whole world where you can't get this or its local equivalent – they'll be serving it on the moon next!'
  - c 'Their innovation revolutionised the music industry and led to a worldwide collapse in CD sales.'
  - d 'The company has a high profile and its logo pops up everywhere, even at sports events – driving one is a real status symbol.'
- 2 Read the article below and choose the best title, a, b or c.
  - a GLOBALISATION MEANS STANDARDISATION
  - b LIKE IT OR LUMP IT
  - c DON'T WORRY, BE HAPPY

Nowadays, we hear a lot about the growing threat of globalisation, accompanied by dire warnings that the rich pattern of local life is being eroded, and that its many dialects and traditions are on the verge of extinction – but stop and think for a moment about the many positive aspects that globalisation is bringing. Read on and you are bound to feel comforted, ready to face a global future.

Consider the Internet, that prime example of our shrinking world. Leaving aside the all-too-familiar worries about pornography and political extremism, even the most parochial must admit that immeasurable benefits are offered by it, not just in terms of education, the sector for which the Internet was originally designed, but more importantly, the dissemination of news and comment worldwide. With global internet access and Smartphone technology, it is increasingly difficult for dictators to maintain regimes of misinformation, and any oppressed group is able to organise themselves quickly and effectively.

Is the world dominance of brands like Nike and Coca-Cola so bad for us, when all is said and done? Sportswear and soft drinks are innocuous products when compared to the many other things that have been globally available for a longer period of time – dangerous drugs, for example. In any case, just because Nike trainers and Coke cans are for sale, it doesn't mean you have to buy them – even globalisation cannot negate the free will of the individual.

Critics of globalisation can stop issuing their doom and gloom statements. In the final analysis, life goes on, and undoubtedly has more to offer for many citizens of the world than it did for their parents' generation.

- 3 Do you agree with the views expressed? Why? / Why not? Note down some counter-arguments to this positive viewpoint.
- 4 Look back at the article to find these expressions, which are used to underline an opinion.

when all is said and done (line 25)
in the final analysis (lines 37–38)

Do you know these similar expressions? Fill in the missing words.

- a at the ..... of the day b ..... things considered c when you ..... to think of it d in the ..... light of day e ..... in all

- 5 Read this rhetorical question, which introduces the third paragraph of the article.

Is the world dominance of brands like Nike and Coca-Cola so bad for us, when all is said and done?

Turn statements a–c into rhetorical questions, using one of the expressions from 4 and making any changes necessary.

EXAMPLE: The net effect of globalisation is to standardise everything.

Isn't the net effect of globalisation to standardise everything, when you come to think of it?

- a American products impose a way of life that many of us regard as alien.
 b Globalisation could bring more equality to the world.
 c It's very depressing to find a McDonald's in every town.

Write two more rhetorical questions on the negative aspects of globalisation, referring to the notes you made in 3.

- 6 Write a paragraph of 50 words to insert into the article, to give a more balanced answer. Start your paragraph with a rhetorical question.
- 7 Use the advice above to answer the following Part 2 task. Write 280–320 words.

An international current affairs magazine has invited readers to contribute articles entitled 'Globalisation – good news or bad?' for its next issue. You decide to write an article explaining your personal views on this topic.

Write your article.

EXAM ADVICE

- Read the question carefully.
- Spend a few minutes making notes of ideas to include.
- Order these ideas logically and to best effect.
- Present a balanced argument or personal view.
- Use rhetorical questions to maintain interest.
- Write in an appropriate register.
- Include a punchy final message.

Speaking

- 1 What causes ups and downs in relationships? What external factors can put stress on a marriage or partnership? What character traits and personal attributes contribute to a successful long-term relationship?
- 2 Rank these aspects from 1 to 7, with 1 being the most important factor. Then summarise what counts in a relationship, justifying your ideas.
  - sharing a sense of humour
  - being honest and trustworthy
  - lending emotional support
  - taking the lead in a crisis
  - being willing to compromise
  - having interests in common
  - being loyal and dependable

Exam spot

In Paper 3 Part 3, the multiple-choice task, you have to understand detail and infer meaning. This will include identifying attitude or opinion in what is said. Read the five questions carefully before the recording starts and read them again before the second listening. They provide clues on what to listen out for.

Listening

- 3 You will hear an interview with Steve, who talks about the love of his life, Abby. For questions 1–5, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which fits best according to what you hear.
  - 1 How did Abby feel about Steve five years ago?
    - A She felt the same way as Steve did about her.
    - B She was uncertain about starting any relationship.
    - C She thought he was fun to be with occasionally.
    - D She looked up to Steve, but didn't love him.
  - 2 How did Steve explain Abby's change of heart initially?
    - A He saw it as an aberration, brought on by boredom.
    - B He thought she was having a laugh at his expense.
    - C He put it down to her being lonely and unattached.
    - D He decided something at work must have upset her.
  - 3 What did Steve's work colleagues suddenly notice about him?
    - A He was putting in longer hours than he had done.
    - B He was showing more commitment to his work.
    - C He seemed preoccupied by a personal problem.
    - D He spent less time chatting with them in the office.
  - 4 On hearing Steve's declaration, the first thing Samantha did was to
    - A get some flowers for Abby.
    - B tell Steve's office he was sick.
    - C burst into tears at his news.
    - D rush round to Abby's place.
  - 5 At the family wedding, Steve
    - A announced his plan to get married to Abby.
    - B showed an American how to drive a British car.
    - C was given advice by someone he didn't know well.
    - D was attacked by his mother for ditching Samantha.
- 4 Will Steve and Abby's marriage work out? Why? / Why not?

- 5 Steve says Abby has always had a streak of theatricality. What does he mean by this?

Many adjectives collocate with streak, for example jealous, nasty, romantic, ruthless, sadistic, vicious. Are all of these attributes negative?

Fill the spaces in the 'problem page' letter with words from the recording. Then decide what advice you would give Christine.

Can too much romance be a bad thing? I'm beginning to think so! I met Max at my local gym seven months ago and it was love at (1) ..... I soon discovered his deeply romantic (2) ....., which I absolutely revelled in to begin with. He would bombard me with chocolates and fluffy toys, turn up on my doorstep with champagne and roses and text me every day with really (3) ..... messages. The trouble is, he still does. I feel our relationship should have moved beyond these excessively romantic (4) ....., but he obviously sees it differently. I'm sure Max is the (5) ..... for me, and I'd say 'yes' immediately if he (6) ..... the question. But I really can't take much more romance. It's suffocating! What should I do? I don't want to hurt his feelings.

Christine (22)

Vocabulary

Phrasal verbs

- 6 Look at these examples of nouns that collocate with phrasal verbs.

To fend off the problem, I threw myself into my job.
I couldn't keep up the pretence any longer.

Make similar expressions, choosing from the lists below. Some of the nouns will be used more than once. Suggest other noun collocations for each phrasal verb if you can.

blurt out	an argument
bottle up	a problem
choke back	a secret
fend off	criticism
keep up	appearances
shoot down	emotions
sweep aside	tears
tease out	rage
tone down	blows
whip up	accusations

Now use some of these expressions in sentences of your own based on the following situations.

- a You have seen your best friend arm-in-arm with someone other than their partner.
- b A publisher doesn't want to hurt a new writer's feelings but thinks their novel is rubbish.
- c At a protest rally, a student is giving a passionate speech to the crowd.
- d Two teenagers are having an argument which has degenerated into physical violence.
- e You had to give some disappointing news to your family and it has affected them, though they don't want to show this.
- f A politician is demolishing a member of the opposition party's reasoning in a debate.

Idiom spot

Explain the meaning of these idioms from the recording.

- |                        |                               |
|------------------------|-------------------------------|
| a tying the knot       | g rolled up her sleeves       |
| b cast my net          | h at death's door             |
| c bolt from the blue   | i giving me the cold shoulder |
| d time on her hands    | j get a grip                  |
| e calling the tune     |                               |
| f carrying a torch for |                               |

Now complete these idioms, four of which contain keywords from a-j.

- k The union has its ..... tied, as it can no longer support any form of industrial action.
- l The party has been losing its ..... on those middle class voters who have traditionally been so loyal.
- m I've got a cunning plan up my ..... which I think you're going to approve of.
- n We're ..... at straws here – there's no way a deal is going to be struck.
- o Once again, it seems that the government has failed to ..... the nettle on transport.
- p I haven't quite got to ..... with Jack's eccentric behaviour, though I'm learning fast!
- q Marion played right into management's ..... by voicing her concerns so blatantly.
- r There are several jobs up for ..... in the marketing department.

- How many new friends have you made via the Internet? What are the advantages and disadvantages of social networking sites that you have used?
- Skim the text below to find out why the Internet was especially important for Richard and Cindy. Ignore spaces 1–8 for the moment.

Love on the INTERNET

Richard and his American wife Cindy are extremely affectionate towards (0) ..... EACH ..... other and talk constantly – using sign language. Cindy has been deaf (1) ..... birth, but Richard lost his hearing only recently. He had had problems as a child, although doctors failed to find (2) ..... amiss. However, on finishing university, his hearing difficulties became acute. He was so depressed he (3) ..... ate and his weight dropped to 44 kilos. (4) ..... been surrounded by sound his whole life, he found living in this new silent world completely devastating.

Richard learnt sign language so (5) ..... to be able to communicate again and his audiologist suggested finding new friends online. (6) ..... hours of getting this advice, Richard was in contact with other deaf people. For the (7) ..... part, he chatted to Americans, finding them particularly upbeat. No (8) ..... had he got chatting to Cindy than he was bowled over. Their signed wedding took place on a Mississippi riverboat only a few months later.

Now complete 1–8, using only one word in each space.

- Look back at the beginning and end of the first paragraph. Are the degree adverbs extremely affectionate and completely devastating interchangeable? Why? / Why not?

Which degree adverbs can only modify the adjectives in column A? Which only relate to column B? Three adverbs can be used with both sets of adjectives. Which ones?

→ page 184

- Choose adverb–adjective combinations from the box to complete sentences a–f. Use each one once only. Then make two sentences of your own with the remaining phrases.

absolutely staggering doubly disappointing fairly laid-back highly suspicious remarkably accurate slightly embarrassed somewhat envious utterly miserable

- It's been ..... around here without Tom, but we're all putting on a brave face until he gets back.
- I missed out on a trip to the States because I was ill – and what makes it ..... is that they were going to fly me business class!
- The guys are ..... by their poor performance in front of the home fans and hope to play better in Australia next month.
- Since the phone-hacking scandal, many celebrities have become ..... of the press and its motives.
- I find it ..... that anyone manages to have a proper social life, given the hours we work here!
- Both girls were ..... of their brother's trip to Mauritius and would have liked to accompany him.

- 5 Although adjectives are generally classified as either gradable or ungradable, some are used in both ways, often with a change in meaning. Consider these examples of the adjective dead.

The tiny bird had fallen from its nest and was dead. (Literal use – ungradable – a bird is either dead or alive.)

The town centre is completely dead after eight o'clock at night. (Figurative use – gradable, with degree adverb used for emphasis.)

Compare the use of British in these examples. Which is ungradable?

Richard is British by birth but moved to Spain 20 years ago.

Despite living in Spain, Richard remains very British in his behaviour.

- 6 Comment on the differences in meaning in these pairs of examples. Which pairs include a meaning that is restricted to informal use?

- a I couldn't get to the market today, so we'll have to use frozen spinach instead.
It's minus 15 outside and I had to walk home – I'm absolutely frozen!
- b Your glass is empty. Shall I get you another drink?
Margit's life is totally empty without him.
- c Brad won't listen to me – he's being utterly impossible!
It was impossible to drive the car as all four tyres were flat.
- d The crowd went absolutely insane when the band came on stage.
He was finally diagnosed as insane and remained in an institution until his death.
- e Right now, Shirley feels she has an utterly bleak future ahead of her.
The house stands on a bleak, windswept moor and is very isolated.
- f They eventually dished up a pretty tasteless bowl of lukewarm soup.
George's jokes in the wedding speech were fairly tasteless in my view.

- 7 Choose suitable suffixes from the box to make adjectives from these verbs and nouns, making any necessary changes to the base word and being careful with spelling.

EXAMPLE: adore adorable

-able -ary -ible -ical -ive -ous -some

- |             |              |             |
|-------------|--------------|-------------|
| a alternate | f labour     | k tenacity  |
| b caution   | g loathe     | l theatre   |
| c collapse  | h hypocrisy  | m virtue    |
| d detest    | i philosophy | n volunteer |
| e honour    | j repel      |             |

- 8 For questions 1–8, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

MAKING CONTACT IN TOMORROW'S WORLD

The Lovegety is a matchmaking device that has become a (0) ..... MASSIVE ..... hit in Japan, selling well over a million units. It is a pendant-shaped radio transmitter that sends out simple offers of activities, from rather (1) ..... things, MASS such as 'fun', to more specific invitations, like 'movie'. When a pink plastic female Lovegety approaches a blue one on the same (2) ..... , green lights flash. DETERMINE

Indeed, Regan Gurung, a professor of human development and psychology, argues that badge technology could be designed to (4) ..... highly significant information. He suggests that (5) ..... based on similar levels of self-esteem are absolutely (6) ..... to lasting relationships. SET

Gurung postulates that sophisticated matching software might achieve a 60 to 65% success rate in terms of partner (7) ..... DECIDE

Bullish though this statement may be, social engineering technology looks set to make (8) ..... into our lives. LOSE

ROAD

- 1 Why do people feel the need to conform in society? How important is it for an individual to feel part of a group? What is the attraction of belonging to a particular club – or a gang?
- 2 Read these two texts about belonging to a group. Where do they overlap in subject matter?

Text 1

There are between 100 and 200 gangs in London alone, and their members are getting younger – down to ten years old in some cases. In an inner-city area dominated by gangs, it's almost impossible to improve people's quality of life, so addressing gang culture is a critical element in tackling social breakdown.

There is a need for more male role models in schools, as constructive fatherhood has disappeared in many of these communities. The original value set has collapsed and often, a gang provides a kind of structure, promoting a sense of belonging and a perverse sense of purpose.

Text 2

A group is a collection of individuals, and the prejudices and shortcomings of individuals are likely to be found at group level too. However, groups often behave bullishly, reaching more polarized decisions than individuals. Irvin Janis has studied the rationality of group decision-making, using the Orwellian term 'groupthink' to refer to poor group thinking. Janis identifies three aspects to groupthink: a tendency to overestimate the group, giving rise to the illusion of invulnerability; a lack of open-mindedness in decision-making, disregarding additional (outside) information; a craving for uniformity, leading to self-censorship, with direct pressure being exerted on dissenters in the drive towards unanimity.

- 3 Which two statements below accurately reflect the content of text 1? Identify where the ideas come in the text.
  - 1 Damaged communities will only be rebuilt once gang culture is dealt with.
  - 2 With so few male teachers, schools need to seek positive parental support.
  - 3 In the absence of a social code, gangs offer a substitute group dynamic.

4 Reformulate phrases a–h from text 2 concisely, including some of the words below.

absent/absence	biased/bias deceive/deceptive(ly)/deception	desire/desirability extreme/extremist	failings/failure
homogenous/homogeneity	inclined/inclination
inflexible/inflexibility	invincible/invincibility oppose/opposition	radical/radically rigid/rigidity	suppress/suppression

- a the prejudices and shortcomings of individuals
- b groups often behave bullishly
- c a tendency to overestimate the group
- d the illusion of invulnerability
- e a lack of open-mindedness
- f a craving for uniformity
- g self-censorship
- h direct pressure being exerted on dissenters

5 Read the sample answer below. How successfully does it summarise and evaluate both texts? Identify examples of where the writer has reformulated the original wording. Replace any 'lifted' words and phrases in red with your own words.

Becoming an accepted member of a group is a natural human desire that is present in all walks of life, from football supporters and music societies to the hardest of street gangs. Both texts raise the phenomenon of the group mentality – the first considers the social context, while the second is possibly more rooted in the commercial world.

The first text is a simple description of the harsh realities of 21st century inner-city life, where children from broken homes join gangs in their search for acceptance and a perverse sense of purpose. The writer believes that only by addressing gang culture will society be improved.

The second text reflects complex ideas about the dynamics of a group, suggesting that any prejudices or shortcomings that an individual has will also be present in a group. This text cites the work of Janis on group decision-making, which he terms "groupthink". According to Janis, groups often behave bullishly when making decisions. He identifies a trio of "groupthink" characteristics: the illusion of invulnerability, a lack of open-mindedness in decision-making and a craving for uniformity.

The second text offers a plausible scenario in the world of business, where poor boardroom decisions are often the result of blinkered vision and where disregarding external advice often leads to poor decisions. However, do Janis's ideas extend outside the realm of business? Up to a point: two of his three criteria could even be applied to gang culture, where there may well be a feeling of invincibility and a desire to conform. However, decision-making itself is unlikely to form part of gang mentality, where actions are taken largely on impulse.

Paper 3 Part 4 Multiple matching

This part of the Listening paper consists of five short themed monologues, lasting approximately 35 seconds each, with ten multiple-matching questions. In Part 4 you will need to identify gist, attitude, main points and interpret the context. It is divided into two tasks, each with a different focus. Each task contains five questions and requires you to select the correct option from a list of eight. You hear the information to complete each task in random order – i.e. you might hear the information for Task One before you hear the information for Task Two. You hear the recording twice.

1 Read through both tasks extremely carefully.

You will hear five short extracts in which different people are talking about their relationships.

TASK ONE

For questions 1–5, choose from the list (A–H) each speaker's reason for being initially attracted to their partner.

TASK TWO

For questions 6–10, choose from the list (A–H) which quality each speaker appreciates most in their partner now.

While you listen, you must complete both tasks.

A having a sense of humour

B being tolerant of others

C being clever

D being shy around others

E being outgoing

F being well-dressed

G having lots of energy

H being good-looking

Speaker 1  1

Speaker 2  2

Speaker 3  3

Speaker 4  4

Speaker 5  5

A their conscientious approach to work

B their determination

C their ability to judge character

D their grasp of detail

E their attitude towards money

F their affectionate nature

G their patience

H their loyalty

Speaker 1  6

Speaker 2  7

Speaker 3  8

Speaker 4  9

Speaker 5  10

- 2  18 Now, you are going to hear Speaker 1. Look at both Task One and Task Two and decide which answers are true for the first speaker. You will hear the recording twice.

The answer for 1 is E and the answer for 6 is H. With a partner, look at the recording script for Speaker 1 below. Underline the parts containing the answers. Also look to see where distraction is being used.

Speaker 1

I was at a 21st birthday 'do'. I'd just broken up with a beautiful girl who I'd been head over heels in love with and my loyal friends thought it was time to find me someone else. I'm quite shy but I was instantly taken with this girl they introduced me to, called Sarah. She struck me as really fun and sparkling, ready to chat to anyone, even me! Anyway, we were married a year later. She's a wonderful person – she must be to have stayed married to me all these years. She's been there through thick and thin, and I can tell you there have been times when money's been extremely tight.

- 3  19 Now listen to Speaker 2 and, with a partner, decide on the answers for questions 2 and 7. When you have decided what the answers are, look at the recording script below and underline the part of the text which gave you the answers. You will hear the recording twice.

Speaker 2

I'm a bit of a workaholic and so actually finding someone to have a relationship with was always tricky. I'm at the top of my game, head of a large fashion house, and I've found that men find me a bit intimidating because I'm so determined to succeed. I guess that's why I've always liked older men – they are usually less insecure. My partner is great, so shrewd about people, much better than me, although when I first met him, even though he was as stylish as everyone around me, it was his intellect that drew me to him. I like to think we're really well matched.

EXAM ADVICE

- You have 45 seconds to read through both tasks before you hear the recording. Make good use of this time.
- Always put an answer, even if you aren't sure.
- You hear the extract twice, and it is very important that you take the opportunity to check your answers carefully during the second listening. If you make a mistake with one answer, it could affect your answers to the other questions.
- Don't put an answer because you hear the same words in the recording as you see in the question. It is very unlikely to be correct and much more likely to be distraction.

- 4  20 You will notice that the order in which the information is given to complete the tasks is different. Speaker 1 mentions information for Task One first whereas Speaker 2 mentions information for Task Two first. The order in the exam can vary so you need to keep both tasks in mind when you are listening. Now listen to the other three speakers and for questions 3–5 and 8–10, choose from the lists A–H. Use each letter only once. There are three extra letters which you do not need to use. You will hear the recordings twice.

1 Discuss these questions on the role of science today.

- How have the lives of ordinary people been affected by recent scientific advances?
- In what areas are scientific discoveries likely to be made in the near future?
- Should scientific research be subject to tighter governmental controls?

Some years ago, scientists at Cornell University released photographs of a guitar no larger than a human blood cell, its strings just one hundred atoms thick. This Lilliputian instrument was sculpted from crystalline silicon, using an etching technique involving a beam of electrons. The implications of being able to develop machines that are too small to be seen with the naked eye are breathtaking, but we should not lose sight of the fact that nature got there first. The world is already full of nanomachines: they are called living cells. Each cell is packed with tiny structures that might have come straight out of an engineer's manual. Minuscule tweezers, scissors, pumps, motors, levers, valves, pipes, chains and even vehicles abound.

Individually, atoms can only jostle their neighbours and bond to them if the circumstances are right. Yet collectively, they accomplish ingenious marvels of construction and control, unmatched by any human engineering. Somehow nature discovered how to build the intricate machine we call the living cell, using only the raw materials to hand, all jumbled up. Even more remarkable is that nature built the first cell from scratch.

2

Like any urban environment, there is much commuting going on. Molecules have to travel across the cell to meet others at the right place and the right time in order to carry out their jobs properly. No overseer supervises their activities – they simply do what they have to do. While at the level of individual atoms life is anarchy, at this higher level, the dance of life is performed with exquisite precision.

3

Even nowadays, some people flatly deny that science alone can give a convincing explanation for the origin of life, believing that the

Reading

- 2 You are going to read an extract from a 'popular science' book that gives information about living cells and DNA. This is presented as a gapped text, as in Paper 1, Part 6. First read the text, ignoring the missing paragraphs. How has the writer tried to simplify the subject for the non-scientific reader?

living cell is just too elaborate, too contrived, to be the product of blind physical forces alone. Science may give a good account of this or that individual feature, they say, but it will never explain how the original cell was assembled in the first place.

It would be wrong, however, to suppose this is all there is to life. To use the cliché, the whole is more than the sum of its parts. The very word 'organism' implies cooperation at a global level that cannot be captured in the study of the components alone. Without understanding its collective activity, the job of explaining life is only partly done.

5

With the discovery of DNA, however, this mystery was finally solved. Its structure is the famous double helix, discovered by Crick and Watson in the early 1950s. The two helical strands are attached by cross-links and we can imagine the whole shape unwound and laid out to make a ladder, where the handrails are the two unwound helices and the rungs the cross-links.

6

Each rung is actually a pair of bases joined end to end and it is here that geometry comes in. A is tailor-made to butt neatly with T, while C and G similarly slot together snugly, though the forces that bind these base pairs in their lock-and-key fit are in fact rather weak. Imagine the two handrails being pulled apart, breaking all the base pairs, as if the ladder had been sawn up the middle. Each would be left with a row of complementary projecting arms.

7

So long as the base-pairing rules work correctly, this is guaranteed to be identical to the original. However, no copying process is perfect, and it is inevitable that errors will creep in from time to time, altering the sequence of bases – scrambling up the letters. If the message gets a bit garbled during replication, the resulting organism may suffer a mutation. Viewed like this, life is just a string of four-letter words, for we are defined as individuals by these minuscule variations in DNA.

3 Now read paragraphs A–H and use the underlined parts to help you fit them into the text correctly (there is one extra). Remember to look for links before and after a gap.

A Can such a magnificently self-orchestrating process be explained or might the mystery of life be, in the end, impenetrable? In 1933, the physicist Niels Bohr, one of the founders of quantum mechanics, concluded that life hides its secrets from us in the same way as an atom does.

B It is this templating that is the basis for the replication process and ultimately, the recipe for life. If a DNA molecule is pulled apart and if there is a supply of free base molecules – As, Gs, Cs and Ts – floating around, they will tend to slot in and stick to these exposed stumps and thereby automatically reconstruct a new strand.

C Near the top of my list of its defining properties is reproduction. Without it, and in the absence of immortality, all life would sooner or later cease. For a long time, scientists had very little idea how organisms reproduce themselves. Vague notions of invisible genes conveying biological messages from one generation to the next revealed little.

D Of course, there's more to it than just a bag of gadgets. The various components fit together to form a smoothly functioning whole, like an elaborate factory production line. The miracle of life is not that it is made of nanotools, but that these tiny diverse parts are integrated in a highly organised way.

E Boiled down to its essentials, this secret can in fact be explained by molecular replication. The idea of a molecule making a copy of itself may seem rather magical, but it actually turns out to be quite straightforward. The underlying principle is in fact an exercise in elementary geometry.

F I beg to differ. Over the past few decades, molecular biology has made gigantic strides in determining which molecules do what to which. Always it is found that nature's nanomachines operate according to perfectly ordinary physical forces and laws. No weird goings-on have been discovered.

G The former perform a purely scaffolding role, holding the molecule together. The business part of DNA lies with the latter, which are constructed from four different varieties of molecules or bases, with the chemical names adenine, guanine, cytosine and thiamine – let's use their initials for simplicity's sake.

H As a simple-minded physicist, when I think about life at the molecular level, the question I keep asking is: How do all these mindless atoms know what to do? The complexity of the living cell is immense, resembling a city in the degree of its elaborate activity. Each molecule has a specified function and a designated place in the overall scheme so that the correct objects get manufactured.

4 At the end of the first paragraph, the writer refers to a set of technical things, from tweezers to chains. Decide which is suitable for these actions.

- a The floodwater was extracted by means of .....
- b A trumpet is played by shutting off a series of .....
- c Julie's hair had been hastily lopped off with .....
- d The splinter was finally pulled out with .....
- e The bike had been secured to the railings with .....

Idiom spot

Many technical words are used in other contexts, for example, a negotiating lever, a chain of supermarkets. They also occur in some idioms. Choose the correct word to complete idioms a–j and explain their meanings.

bolt	chain	fuse	gear	knife
nail	spade	strings	tubes	wires

- a the final ..... in the coffin
- b to call a ..... a .....
- c to go down the .....
- d a weak link in the .....
- e to blow a .....
- f with (no) ..... attached
- g to get your ..... crossed
- h to shoot your .....
- i to get into .....
- j to twist the .....

When should the passive be used? In this example from 12.1, it is not important to know who made the nano-guitar – the emphasis is on the innovation itself.

This Lilliputian instrument was sculpted from crystalline silicon.

1 When is it more appropriate to use a passive rather than an active form? Match examples a–e to the explanations 1–5 below.

- a The world record for the men's 200 metres was broken by Usain Bolt in 2009.
- b Over a thousand people have been affected by the recent flooding.
- c Kerstin's knee is being operated on tomorrow at the City Hospital.
- d The front of the building has been severely damaged.
- e Jonathan's apartment was broken into twice last year.
- 1 the action is emphasised, but the sentence still mentions who is or was responsible for it
- 2 who is or was responsible for the action is not important or not known
- 3 the action is emphasised, but the sentence still mentions what was responsible for it
- 4 what is or was responsible for the action is not important or not known
- 5 who or what is or was responsible for the action is obvious so does not need to be mentioned

2 Rewrite these sentences in the passive, making the underlined words the subject of each sentence and deciding whether the agent needs to be mentioned.

- a They gave the Nobel Prize for Chemistry to Marie Curie for her discovery of radium.
- b Lengthy power cuts have affected homes in and around the city all this week.
- c Researchers found that the 'miracle' drug had unpleasant side-effects.
- d Scientists have found meteorites in Antarctica which they believe have come from the Moon.
- e Astronomers say that there is dark matter in the universe, but they haven't been able to detect this as yet.
- f Due to recent global restructuring, they will no longer manufacture the car in Europe.
- g Mark McGurl won the Truman Capote Award for Literary Criticism in 2011.
- h You should install the latest version of Adobe Flash to get the best from this application.

Jamaican athlete Usain Bolt

3 In the rewritten sentence h in 2, the use of the passive reflects not only the chosen emphasis, but also a shift in register, producing a more formal sentence and an impersonal tone. Rewrite these sentences in the passive to change their register.

EXAMPLE: You must supervise young children on this play equipment.

Young children must be supervised on this play equipment.

- a You mustn't bring food and drink into the lab.
- b You can't take any photographs inside this museum.
- c They're using infra-red equipment to search for further survivors.
- d Three postgraduate students will share the award for best innovation.
- e They are to carry out thorough safety checks immediately.

Corpus spot

Example e in 3 requires a passive infinitive. The Cambridge Learner Corpus shows that even at C2 level, candidates sometimes find it difficult to use passive infinitives and participle forms accurately. Correct the errors in these sentences.

- a I did not have to be remind of what had happened on that day.
- b If your boss doesn't mind you delaying some mornings, public transport could be a solution.
- c Protect tender plants from being damage by frost.
- d It was strange to been invited by his brother rather than by John himself.
- e Despite asked to attend a second interview, I wasn't offered the job.
- f Even though it may prove impossible for all the reasons to discover, research continues.

4 Complete the text below using suitable passives. Where a modal passive is required, be careful with the tense choice.

THE END OF THE DINOSAURS

In 1990, ten years after Nobel prizewinner Luis Alvarez first suggested a link between the extinction of the dinosaurs and an asteroid collision, a huge impact crater (1) ..... (discover) underground, near the village of Chicxulub in the Yucatan, Mexico. Recent research has shown that this crater (2) ..... (could not + cause) by volcanic activity. This is because a significant quantity of the element iridium, which is extremely rare on earth, (3) ..... (detect) at the crater site, supporting the view that the crater (4) ..... (must + form) by an asteroid. 65 million years ago, iridium-enriched dust (5) ..... (would + throw) up into the atmosphere, causing the sun (6) ..... (blot out) for many weeks. As a result, the temperature would have plummeted and the plants which (7) ..... (eat) by the dinosaurs (8) ..... (would + kill) by the accompanying acid rain. With the removal of their food chain, the dinosaurs could not have survived.

5 Rewrite these sentences using a noun formed from the underlined verb. You should add a new verb of your choice in the passive, making any other changes necessary.

EXAMPLE: They will only confirm a place on the course upon full payment.

Confirmation of a place on the course will only be issued upon full payment.

- They won't publish these scientific papers until next year.
- They have just announced big job losses on the local news.
- They are considering the planning application for a new sports centre.
- They will recommend the immediate closure of the hospital.
- They are to investigate the case in more depth.
- They didn't explain how much the project would cost.

6 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

1 The European Space Agency's Rosetta mission aims to land a probe on a comet.

for

The aim of the European Space Agency's Rosetta mission is ..... on a comet.

2 It will be necessary to wear safety gloves throughout this experiment.

duration

Safety gloves

..... of this experiment.

3 Using electron beams, it is possible to manufacture machines that are too small to see.

naked

Tiny machines that cannot

..... are manufactured by means of electron beams.

4 Recently, astronomers have been finding more and more planets outside our solar system.

increasing

Recently, an ..... outside our solar system.

5 Advances in science should soon yield a cure for cancer.

brink

Scientists are thought

..... finding a cure for cancer.

6 Although they tried to dissuade Josh from continuing with it, he has opted for physics as a career.

advised

Despite

..... Josh has chosen a career in it.

- 1 You are going to listen to a recorded task for Paper 4, Part 3, where one candidate will speak for two minutes and a second candidate will be asked a question. First, look at the prompt card below and decide what aspects might be covered in the recording.

What are the implications of scientific research today?

- career opportunities
- commercial interests
- moral issues

- 2  21 Now listen to the recording. How many of your ideas are covered? Do you agree with the speakers? Why? / Why not?

Pronunciation

- 3 Here are some expressions that Jana could have used to show more advanced language. Match them to their meanings 1–6.

- a in the vanguard
  - b a double-edged sword
  - c the lay person
  - d for its own sake
  - e subject to enough regulations
  - f the greater good
- 1 as an end in itself
  - 2 effectively controlled by law
  - 3 at the cutting-edge
  - 4 having advantages and disadvantages
  - 5 non-expert
  - 6 the benefit of society at large

-  22 Now listen to Jana using these expressions. Notice how she stresses certain words and slows down or pauses when making an important point. This can be quite effective in a two-minute talk – and will allow you time to think about what you want to say next.

- 4  23 Practise using the following words, building them up into the phrases and sentences you hear on the recording.

- a concern
- b duty
- c repercussions
- d significance
- e cusp
- f reservations

Phrase spot

In the recording Jana used the idiom set the ball rolling, which means initiate a course of action. Make further idioms and expressions with set, choosing from the phrases below.

Which two other common verbs combine with the remaining phrases?

the wheels in motion

your teeth on edge	the world on fire your sights on	rings round
a fast one	the scene
in stone	the risk of a tight ship	out your stall
the strings	your weight
counter to	your heart on the other one	your socks up
a dangerous precedent	the record straight

set

5 Use expressions with set to describe the situations below.

EXAMPLE: The investigation has found Peter Gresham to be entirely innocent and will publish their findings.

The investigation will set the record straight about Peter Gresham.

- a As soon as Jenny spotted the new gadget in the shop window, she was determined to buy it.
- b The consultant explained in detail to the whole department how she could help them.
- c Allowing her teenage son to stay out late last Wednesday night has given him an argument for doing so again.
- d No contract has yet been signed and both sides are keen to be flexible.
- e The vivid description of the Martian landscape at the beginning of the book helps the reader to visualise it better.
- f The sound of a young child attempting to play the violin never fails to irritate me.
- g No sooner had the brilliant young scientist finished his PhD than a leading biotech company took steps to recruit him.
- h Carla's a good singer, but she's never going to be outstanding.

6 Read this extract about scientific risk and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0).

The Precautionary Principle

How far should members of the public have to run the risk of personal (0) ..... where scientific or technological innovation is concerned? In some legal systems, including European Union law, the (1) ..... of the 'precautionary principle' is a statutory requirement. The precautionary principle advises society to be (2) ..... about a technology or practice where there is scientific uncertainty, ignorance, gaps in knowledge or the likelihood of (3) ..... outcomes.

This runs (4) ..... to the optimistic notion that any adverse effects that (5) ..... unintentionally can be addressed. Indeed, some claim these may provide an opportunity to develop new solutions, and in this way (6) ..... to economic growth. For this reason, the US Chamber of Commerce dislikes the precautionary approach and prefers: 'the use of sound science, cost-benefit analysis, and risk assessment when assessing a particular regulatory issue.' Its (7) ..... is therefore to: 'Oppose the domestic and international adoption of the precautionary principle as a basis for regulatory decision making.' Yet history reminds us that asbestos, halocarbons and PCBs seemed like miracle substances at first, but (8) ..... to be highly problematic for human and environmental health.

Writing folder 6

Part 2 Report

If you choose to write a report for Part 2 of Paper 2, make sure you use impersonal language and adopt a neutral tone. It is appropriate to include passive structures to achieve this. Sub-headings and other organising devices such as bullets will make your report easier to read.

- 1 Look at the sub-headings opposite, then read the report below, which is on career opportunities for science graduates. Decide where the sub-headings fit, and suggest where bullets would be helpful for readability.

Exciting new opportunities
A more unconventional path
Academic research
Next steps
A broad scope of employment
Education as a career

This report summarises the current career opportunities for science graduates, drawing largely on the experiences of past and present students. Many final-year students have already been invited to interviews and some have even been offered jobs, conditional on graduation.

The first point to stress is that interesting opportunities exist outside the specialist scientific fields. This is dealt with in the final section of the report.

Returning to pure science, it has been estimated that there will be over a thousand post-graduate posts available for the next academic year, countrywide. Students should consult their tutor for advice in the first instance. High-achievers should contemplate applying for scholarships to the U.S.A., where so much research is at the cutting edge. Students wishing to follow up on specific research possibilities in the States are advised to consult Professor Grimbleton.

The fast-moving developments in biotechnology and genetics look set to provide good job opportunities, as many companies are being expanded in their bids to become market leader. Four local companies have specifically requested graduate trainees from this college. They are Bio-futures, Genotech, PJF Seed Research and Railton Systems. Application forms can be obtained from the Administration Secretary.

Several past students have opted for jobs in teaching and it is recommended that anyone considering such a career should attend the information day planned by this department. At this event, it will not only be possible to meet Head Teachers and Science Coordinators from schools in the region, but also former college students who are now qualified and practising teachers.

As indicated above, any report on current opportunities would be incomplete without mentioning other non-scientific jobs that past students have taken up with relish. While none of these jobs can be said to demand the recall of actual science, the generic skills that students have been given through their undergraduate courses are directly relevant. Here are some of the more unusual career moves: accountancy, stockmarket brokering, counselling, air-traffic control and casino management.

More details can be found on the student website. A booklet is also in preparation.

- 2 The report contains some ‘signposting’ devices, for example, As indicated above. These are included to help the reader to process the report without undue effort. What other examples of signposting can you find in the report?

Here are some more useful signposting devices. Which are looking forward and which refer back?

- a As already discussed ...
- b Alongside this decision ...
- c Below is a different interpretation of ...
- d The previous statement confirms that ...
- e Further ideas will be elaborated in the next two sections.
- f As mentioned at the outset ...
- g It should now be considered whether ...
- h It would appear then that ...
- i The aspects covered earlier suggest ...
- j This does not necessarily mean that ...

- 3 Find examples of the following in the report opposite.

- a compound nouns
- b compound adjectives
- c prefixes
- d suffixes
- e topical expressions, e.g. market leader

- 4 Now look at the following exam task.

You belong to an international film club and have been asked to write the club’s annual report this year. This report is written for club members and has to include information about the main events held over the last twelve months, to present plans for activities in the coming year and to summarise the current financial position of the club in respect of money received and payments made.

To plan your report, make a spider diagram like the one below. Spend at least five minutes thinking of what to include under each of the three areas, adding to the ideas given. Then draft suitable sub-headings, further dividing the three main sections if necessary.

- 5 Now use this advice to write your report, in 280–320 words.

EXAM ADVICE

- When writing a report, make a detailed plan.
- Draft sub-headings for each section.
- Add bullets when listing information.
- Signpost the information clearly.
- Write in a neutral and impersonal style.
- Include passive structures.
- Use a range of relevant vocabulary.

Units 9–12 Revision

Use of English

- 1 Read this extract from an article about socks. For questions 1–14, think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

SOCKS

Mr Twenty-First Century strikes a pose on (0) THE ..... pages of a 1939 issue of British Vogue magazine. He wears a jump-suit, belt and waistcoat festooned (1) ..... hardware. His hat is 'an antenna snatching radio out of the ether', Vogue tells (2) ..... (3) ..... quite today's mobile-phone man, (4) ..... close. However, as we reach his socks, the best Vogue's futurologist can (5) ..... up with is 'disposable'.

Throwaway insults are (6) ..... new for socks. And that's not (7) ..... they have to put up with. Over a day, the average human foot (8) ..... off at least half a cup of moisture – manna from heaven for those odour-causing micro-organisms. Yet socks are (9) ..... the most ancient of human inventions – an Egyptian mummy's knitted socks are arguably the oldest surviving examples, (10) ..... hand-sewn versions may (11) ..... back to the Bronze Age. They surely deserve a better future than consignment to the bin.

Not (12) ..... appreciates the sock's versatility, though. Albert Einstein famously eschewed socks altogether, apparently regarding them as an unnecessary luxury. I too go sockless in the summer. (13) ..... the frost begins to bite, I can't help wondering, (14) ..... Einstein have been wrong?

- 2 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

1 The children agreed they would each tidy the playroom on alternate days.

turns

The children ..... the playroom.

2 Professor Smith talked firstly about living on Mars, and then discussed the Space Lab.

went

After talking about living on Mars, Professor Smith ..... the Space Lab.

3 It's a shame Peter didn't wear a suit to the wedding.

put

If only ..... the wedding.

4 Everyone remembers my great-uncle because he was always having arguments with his wife.

having

My great-uncle ..... arguments with his wife.

5 We must always bear in mind that many scientific breakthroughs are due to luck.

sight

We must ..... plays a large part in many scientific breakthroughs.

6 When it comes to friendship, I prefer having a few close friends to many acquaintances.

rather

As far ..... a few close friends than many acquaintances.

Vocabulary

3 For questions a–n, decide which word is correct.

- a His plans came in for/came up with fierce criticism at the meeting.
- b My English teacher always had a nice turn/set of phrase when he commented on essays.
- c Lisa is such a bright, meticulous/vivacious girl, always fun and cheerful.
- d That new girl is never going to set/put the world on fire, I'm afraid.
- e I'm sorry to say that Pete is the one weak link in the wires/chain.
- f Karen gave me the cold elbow/shoulder when we were introduced.
- g The little girl just stood there, trying to choke back/fend off the tears.
- h Tom's really pompous/morbid now he's been promoted – he never lets you forget he's boss.
- i Eating really cold ice-cream puts/sets my teeth on edge.
- j The news of his engagement to Elisa arrived like a bolt from the sky/blue.
- k My brother admires anyone who calls a knife a knife/a spade a spade.
- l The dress I'm making is coming along/round well and will be ready for the weekend.
- m I really think the council needs to grasp the thistle/nettle and decide whether to have more rural buses or not.
- n I have a terrible habit of whipping up/blurting out the first thing that comes into my mind.

Writing

4 Improve this report on an exchange visit by inserting suitable compound adjectives where the symbol * appears, choosing from the list below.

deep-sea	record-breaking	long-standing	glass-bottomed	wider-ranging inter-continental	easy-going	trouble-free	meticulously-planned	half-day

Here is my report on our club's recent exchange visit to Australia. Without exception, members who participated in this trip were highly appreciative of the * itinerary, not to mention the warm welcome extended by our * Australian hosts. This * relationship continues to flourish and we will be hosting a * number of visitors this summer (see below).

Travel

The * flights went smoothly and we arrived in Melbourne on schedule. A coach had been organised to transport us to the civic reception, where our individual hosts awaited us. Travel within Australia was mostly by plane – unfortunately, our visit coincided with industrial action, so our transfers were not entirely *.

Trips

The highpoint was the Great Barrier Reef, where two exhilarating days were spent * diving. Those members who chose not to dive were given the alternative of a * cruise in a * boat, which was said to be very enjoyable for all concerned.

Some members have suggested that the visit to the Kakadu National Park could have been extended, as it was rather rushed. In subsequent years, it might also be more informative to visit during the dry season, which would allow * access to the park.

Return visit

There will be 48 visitors to us in July, including six families with young children. In view of this, it will be necessary to find extra hosts. Strategies for achieving this should be agreed at the next club meeting. In anticipation, could the following suggestions be tabled:

- advertising in relevant journals
- feature in local newspaper
- posters in public places, e.g. library
- mailshot to schools and colleges
- interview on KJY radio
- club website?

Perhaps other members should be asked for further suggestions in advance of the meeting.

Vocabulary

Environment collocations

- 1 Match a word in A with one in B to make the correct collocation. Some words may be used more than once.

A	B
fossil	resources
severe	environment
pristine	sea levels
finite	famine
greenhouse	density
water	ice cap
climate	expectancy
solar	gases
population	shortages
melting	energy
rising	fuel
life	change

Speaking

- 2 Are we doing enough to save the planet? Look at the photos and discuss the problems shown. Try to think of some solutions. Use some of the collocations above.
- 3 Think about your daily routine and make a list of ways you could help the environment. With a partner, choose three things that you would both find the easiest to put into practice.

Listening

- 4  24 You are going to hear three different extracts on subjects relating to the environment.

Read through questions 1–6 opposite. Choose the answer (A, B or C) which fits best according to what you hear. There are two questions for each extract.

Extract One

You hear a woman talking about her job.

- 1 How does the woman get her message across to the school children?
- A She helps teachers to make their lessons more relevant.
B She takes advantage of their interests.
C She believes in getting them out of the classroom.
- 2 What does she find frustrating?
- A The lack of time she has in the classroom.
B That more waste could be recycled.
C The low prices paid for recycled waste.

Extract Two

You hear part of an interview with a climate change expert.

- 3 What does the man say about solar and wind as sources of energy?
- A They are often unreliable.
B They are costly to install.
C They are unlikely to be adopted in some countries.
- 4 What is the man's attitude to biomass energy?
- A It wouldn't supply enough of the world's energy needs.
B It may be politically more unacceptable than other renewables.
C It is untenable in the long term.

Extract Three

You hear two people talking on the radio about a controversial theory.

- 5 What does the man say about the theory?
- A It was ahead of its time.
B It wasn't a very scientific theory.
C It has never been acknowledged by the government.
- 6 What do the speakers agree about?
- A Lovelock's approach was too amateurish.
B Lovelock was rather an odd person.
C Lovelock alienated fellow scientists.
- 7  24 The extracts you heard illustrate different registers. Listen again, and then with a partner decide whether the extract is formal, informal or unmarked in tone. Give reasons for your decisions.

6 The following are all examples of words which have been used inappropriately by Proficiency candidates. The words are either formal, informal or unmarked. Decide when it would be appropriate to use each word.

EXAMPLE: kids / children

'Kids' is informal and used mainly in speaking; 'children' is unmarked.

- a people / persons
- b amelioration / improvement
- c bloke / man
- d stuff / things
- e frequented / went to
- f reckon / think
- g boozing / drinking
- h mates / friends
- i fellow / guy
- j snaps / photographs
- k pluses / advantages
- l lousy / terrible
- m prudent / careful
- n mad / annoyed

The words in the exercise above are all synonyms – that is words with the same or similar meaning. Synonyms can rarely be used interchangeably, either because of difference in register (as above), or because of a difference in use. For example, rife and widespread have a similar meaning – 'existing in many places':

Many illnesses are rife in areas with a poor water supply.

There is widespread flooding of coastal areas.

However, rife suggests something unpleasant, whereas widespread is a more unmarked or neutral word.

7 Decide which of the words in italics in each sentence below fits best. Justify your answers and think of a sentence using the alternative word.

- a I can't afford to buy a new car this year – I'm broke/destitute.
- b Her grandmother is always telling her she should eat more, as she's much too slender/skinny.
- c Dr Pitt has made many opponents/enemies because of his rudeness.
- d I have a feeling my horrible sister's been sneaking into/entering my room and reading my diary while I'm out.
- e The evening will commence/kick off with a short speech, given by Sir John Bertram.
- f The left back lost his cool/became displeased with his opponent and socked him in the jaw.
- g Pablo struck/touched the jammed window forcibly with his fist to make it open.
- h I felt the rain trickling/flooding slowly down the back of my collar.

8 For questions 1–8, read the text below and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

THE FUTURE

The environmental (1) ..... for the future is mixed. In spite of economic and political changes, interest in and (2) ..... about the environment remains high. Problems such as acid deposition, chlorofluorocarbons and ozone depletion still require solutions and (3) ..... action is needed to deal with these. Until acid depositions (4) ....., loss of aquatic life in northern lakes and streams will continue and forest growth may be affected. Water pollution will remain a growing problem as an increasing human population puts (5) ..... stress on the environment. To reduce environmental degradation and for humanity to save its habitat, societies must recognise that resources are (6) ..... . Environmentalists believe that, as populations and their demands increase, the idea of continuous growth must (7) ..... way to a more rational use of the environment, but that this can only be brought (8) ..... by a dramatic change in the attitude of the human species.

- |   |              |              |                  |                 |
|---|--------------|--------------|------------------|-----------------|
| 1 | A outline    | B outset     | C outcome        | D outlook       |
| 2 | A concern    | B attention  | C responsibility | D consideration |
| 3 | A affiliated | B shared     | C concerted      | D pooled        |
| 4 | A wane       | B diminish   | C depreciate     | D curtail       |
| 5 | A untold     | B uncounted  | C unrelated      | D undreamed     |
| 6 | A finite     | B restricted | C confined       | D bounded       |
| 7 | A make       | B force      | C give           | D clear         |
| 8 | A on         | B about      | C off            | D in            |

- 1  25 You will hear part of a radio interview with a woman who helped save a type of rhino from extinction in the wild. Before you listen, read through the notes below.

Area visited: .....	1
Habitat of rhino: .....	2
Susan was there to .....	3
She found a .....	4
People she met: .....	5
People who gave her a lot of help: .....	6
Condition of rhino today: .....	7

Now, listen and complete the notes.

- 2 With a partner take it in turns to report verbally to each other what you heard in the interview. Try to put in as much detail as possible.

EXAMPLE: The man said that we were all aware of the need for biodiversity.

 page 185

- When reporting, it's usual to go back one tense. This is called 'backshifting'.
'I saw her yesterday.' She said she had seen her the day before.
'I'll email her now.' He said he would email her then.
- In conversations, people sometimes don't backshift if what they are reporting happened not long ago.
'I saw Rachel this morning. She says she'll meet us at the cinema at seven, if that's OK?'
Backshift also doesn't need to happen if a fact is still true or the speaker believes it is true.
He said that elephants are still in danger today.
- There are some structures which are more difficult than others when reported because they do not always follow either of the patterns outlined above.

- 3 Report the following. Begin each sentence with She said ....

EXAMPLE: 'I shall see you at the meeting.'

She said she would see me at the meeting.

- 'My grandmother could walk to school without worrying about traffic.'
- 'You must come to tea sometime!'
- 'You must remember to recycle the rubbish.'
- 'You mustn't smoke in the restaurant.'
- 'Companies which pollute rivers must be fined.'
- 'If I were mayor, I'd make public transport free.'
- 'If the children picked up the rubbish regularly, I'd pay them.'

When reporting, it is often possible to use a verb or a verb plus an adverb which carries much of the meaning of the sentence.

'I hate you! You're scum!' she said to Tom and then she walked out of the door.

She screamed abuse at Tom before walking out of the door.

'Shh! You're not supposed to talk in here!' the librarian scolded us.

The librarian sternly told us off for talking.

- 4 Use the following verbs to convey the meaning of the sentences below. Take care with these verbs – some are followed by a gerund, others by an infinitive and others by a clause. Sometimes a preposition is required.

claim	decide	declare	insist object	refuse	sigh	suggest

- 'What about going to Crete this year for our holiday?' Tina said.
- 'I will always love you, Daphne!' Fred said.
- 'I've made up my mind – I'm going to take the job, but I'm not keen!' Colin said.
- 'It can't be helped. I know you didn't mean to drop it,' my mother said.
- 'Leave that window shut. We don't want to catch our death of cold,' the old man said.
- 'That's my book you've got in your school bag!' Rose said.
- 'I'll go out if I want to!' my brother said.
- 'I have no intention of going by train, thank you very much,' Lucy said.

5 Which of the following adverbs would fit with the reporting verbs on page 112? Insert one adverb in each of the sentences you wrote in 4.

passionately	confidently	categorically	peevishly
tentatively	reluctantly	resignedly	stubbornly

6 Write a sentence in direct speech which ends with these adverbs. (Use a dictionary to help you.)

- a '.....' the shopkeeper exclaimed angrily.
- b '.....' the police officer said sarcastically.
- c '.....' the teacher stated pedantically.
- d '.....' my grandfather muttered absent-mindedly.
- e '.....' Theresa said decisively.
- f '.....' the doctor murmured reassuringly.
- g '.....' my neighbour retorted rudely.
- h '.....' his boss said cautiously.

7 For questions 1–15, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

The first naturalists

There came a time, maybe 20,000 years ago, (0) WHEN..... man, instead of being merely a hunter, started to domesticate animals. The dog helped in his hunting activities and geese and ducks were kept and bred (1)..... a source of food, which was easier than (2)..... to go out and hunt them. Once humans had domesticated animals they (3)..... their attention to plants. Instead of being nomads, drifting from place to place following the game animals, they began to create farms and thus enter upon a more settled (4)..... of life. Villages and towns sprang (5)..... in places where previously there had been only a hamlet. Now animals and plants began to be kept (6)..... merely for food but also for interest's (7)..... or for their beauty.

The first writers on animal life were Aristotle, in 335 BC, and Pliny, in 75 AD, but for many hundreds of years after Pliny the subject of natural history, in (8)..... with many other areas of knowledge, (9)..... progressed at all. For the most part (10)..... zoos as existed were in the hands of the dilettante nobility and were no (11)..... than second-rate menageries, (12)..... any scientific purpose.

However, in the seventeenth century, naturalists began to realise that they needed a system for classifying living things (13)....., as more plants and animals were discovered, (14)..... was difficult to (15)..... track of them all.

8 In the recorded interview, it was pointed out that biodiversity was important for a healthy planet. In groups, talk about which of these methods you think is the best way to maintain biodiversity. Present your ideas to the rest of the class.

- Keeping animals in zoos.
- Having more national parks.
- Having egg and sperm banks of endangered species or collecting and preserving the DNA of endangered species.

- How much do you know about endangered species? The five animals above are examples of animals which are or have been endangered. With a partner, decide which animal you think is no longer endangered.
- All these words are useful when talking about the environment. Complete the table with the correct form of the word given.

Noun	Verb	Adjective
predator predation a .....	b .....	c .....
demography e .....	x	d .....
x	sustain	f .....
conifer i .....	x	domestic

- The impact ..... climate change has been greatest in the polar regions.
- The attitude of this community ..... recycling has been very positive.
- Research ..... solar power has shown it can be cost effective.
- Analysis ..... the data will be done later in the year.
- What the outcome ..... the scientific report will be, no one yet knows.
- The rise/increase ..... the cost of petrol continues to trouble the government.
- An increase/rise ..... 12% on heating bills will prove unsustainable.
- A change ..... the law against polluting streams is long overdue.
- The impact ..... polar bears of the ice cap melting will be huge.
- The objection ..... the legislation was not based on scientific evidence.

- 4 In Paper 2, Part 1 you will need to write a well-structured essay summarising and evaluating the main points of two short texts and also giving your own opinions. Read the two texts below and decide what are the key points in both texts.

THE NEED TO SAVE THE TIGER

Tigers are an important part of the planet's rich diversity of life. As top predators in their food chain, they feed on a variety of prey species and help maintain the structure and functioning of the ecosystems they inhabit. Tigers, therefore, are considered a keystone species. If tigers disappear, there will be far-reaching and negative consequences for other parts of the ecosystem. Protecting tigers, therefore, helps many other species as well. For example, protecting tiger habitats in India and Bangladesh has helped to protect human habitats by reducing land erosion, stabilising ecosystems and encouraging wise land use. It has also led to an increase in global awareness of climate change and the problem of rising sea levels.

Conservation: Is it worthwhile?

A majority of professional conservationists believe it is time to consider shifting efforts away from some of the world's most famous species, such as the polar bear, to concentrate on others which have a greater chance of survival. The scientists believe a serious loss of biological diversity is 'likely, very likely or virtually certain'. Some experts have rejected the idea on the grounds that it is impossible to make judgments about one species at the expense of another, given the complexity of the ecological interactions in the natural world. However, others are starting to question the value of spending millions of pounds on one celebrated species, such as the panda, or a big predator such as the tiger, where loss of habitat is almost inevitable.

- 5 With a partner, brainstorm ideas that you can use in the personal opinion part of the essay. There are some suggestions in the box below.

tigers/polar bears/useful symbols people attracted to cuddly animals/good publicity important to save unattractive animals too global warming/unlikely to decrease

Exam spot

In Paper 2 Part 1, as well as summarising the information from two texts, you are asked to give your own ideas. You gain higher marks for linking your points clearly and for showing that you can use a range of phrases to do so.

- 6 Now, write an essay summarising and evaluating the key points from both texts. Use your own words as far as possible, and include your own ideas in your answers. Use the sentence openers below and some of the phrases from the Useful language in your answer.

Sentence openers

The two texts contrast differing views of ...

According to the first passage ...

Personally, I ...

The second text puts forward ...

I believe that ...

In conclusion, it is my opinion that ...

Paper 1 Part 5 Multiple-choice text

This part of the Reading and Use of English paper consists of a text from a range of sources with six four-option multiple-choice questions. The questions may test any of the following: detail, opinion, attitude, tone, purpose, main idea and implication. They may also test organisational features such as exemplification, comparison and reference.

Read the Exam advice and then do the task below.

You are going to read an extract from an article where two books are reviewed. For questions 1–6, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which you think fits best according to the text.

EXAM ADVICE

- Read through the text carefully.
- Read through the questions very carefully to make sure you really understand what the question is asking. Then find the answer in the text.
- Underline your answer in the text and then find the option, A, B, C or D, which best matches your answer.
- Read the text again to check you are right.
- Don't spend too much time worrying about a word you can't guess the meaning of.

Wild flowers

The journalist Simon Jenkins considers two books on wild flowers.

We all find solace in flowers. I go when times are hard to the wild dune church of Aberdaron in north Wales, where is pinned up (or was) a list of flowers that battle against the wind in the graveyard outside. Here is an uplifting array of thrift, vetch, yarrow and dozens more that toss and chatter, apparently immune to the salty south-westerlies. I hardly know these flowers, let alone could recognise them. Nature's wilderness is a foreign land, yet its tongue is strangely comforting. It is a realm of unrivalled colour and richness, defying time and order.

Hence when Sarah Raven's colossal new compendium, Wild Flowers, thudded into my lap, it was not to the pictures that I turned but to the index. The names are, in truth, the pictures, recording how country people down the ages have seen in nature a mirror of their lives. Here are adder's tongue, autumn lady's-tresses and betty-go-to-bed-at-noon. Flower names can be peculiar down to individual parish, corrupted by geographical accent and dialect. They can be vulgar, poignant and romantic. What pain yielded traveller's-foot? What anguish went into heartsease, love-in-a-mist and love-lies-bleeding? The poet and botanist Geoffrey Grigson traced more than 6,000 English common names for plants. There are 50 for dandelion alone and 90 for lords-and-ladies: starchwort, cuckoo pint and jack in the pulpit. Only the dreariest Linnaean sergeant-major could want to dragoon all these into arum maculatum.

Raven cries for us to save the homesteads of her beloved friends. Ninety-seven percent of England's lowland wilderness has gone in the last sixty years.

A quarter of all hedgerows have been destroyed since 1980 alone. Marshes are drained, woods conifered, meadows concreted. In South Africa an appeal is being launched this week to save the world capital of wild flowers, the Cape's unique Fynbos landscape, threatened with mass development spreading out from Cape Town. Fynbos is the most florally diverse ecology on earth. Yet wild flowers are wild. They are nature's flotsam, survivors, anarchists, freelancers, defying the horrors of modern life. I am drawn to a different botanical lifestyle, that of the weed-seekers. While Raven wanders her moors, urban geeks are scrambling over rubbish tips and railway sidings in search of vagabond exotics. Their champion is the naturalist Richard Mabey, whose Defence of Weeds must be the most eye-opening book I have read. De-industrialisation has led to a new, mostly urban British landscape which is fertile ground for the invaders.

Mabey tears back the city's familiar curtain to reveal a jungle of migrant species beneath. They bear with pride the seedsman's definition of weeds as 'plants in the wrong place'. They are tramps, rebels, defying the laws of municipal authority. Moving in among the empty factories and canal banks are giant hogweeds, buddleias and rosebay willowherbs. They come with sinister names such as winy Jack and stinker Bob. Exotics arrive from round the globe, spilling from cargos on to roads and railway lines. Mabey finds specimens from Africa dropped from the hems of Commonwealth conference visitors in Buckingham Palace gardens.

Wild flowers have evolved a class system of their own: effete respect is shown to Raven's country cousins while war is declared on Mabey's 'vegetable guerrillas that have overcome the dereliction of the industrial age'. Many wild flowers are protected so that roads and footpaths must be diverted round them. Biodiversity grants are awarded for endangered species such as corn buttercup and pheasant's eye.

Despite the damage they do to other flora, that splendid weed, the daffodil, is planted out 'wild' by councils to give 'a splash of spring colour' to verges. Yet even weeds must conform. When a friend of mine drove round the M40-M25 interchange after it was built, hurling poppy seeds from his car and delighting in the subsequent harvest of red, he found a year later that it had fallen foul of ministry herbicide. Mabey even admires those mighty bolsheviks who are determined to defy humankind's occupation of the earth. Buffel grass, tumbleweed, hogweed, Indian balsam, Japanese knotweed and kudzu grow a metre and more overnight. They can upheave motorways and tear down houses in days. Acts of parliament have been passed against Japweed, the cost of clearing it now exceeding £150m a year. 'Weeds are the tithe we get for breaking the earth,' cries Mabey. They are feral biology.

- 1 How does the writer react to the church at Aberdaron?
  - A He finds consolation in the barren appearance of its surroundings.
  - B He is embarrassed that he knows so few of the names of the flowers.
  - C He is cheered by the abundance of flowers in such a windswept place.
  - D He takes pleasure from the care that has been lavished on the flowers.
- 2 What point is the writer making about wild flower names in the second paragraph?
  - A They are more evocative than the correct botanical names.
  - B They can differ from one period of time to another.
  - C There are a few which keep the same name throughout the UK.
  - D There are still many that haven't yet been recorded.
- 3 What is the writer's attitude to wild flower habitat destruction?
  - A He is pleased that Raven has made a very clear case for calling a halt to it.
  - B He is saddened that wild flowers have to work so hard to survive nowadays.
  - C He is concerned that the threat to Fynbos is inevitable, given the circumstances.
  - D He is enthusiastic about the possibility of there being another viewpoint.
- 4 What does the writer say about the contents of Mabey's book?
  - A It contains a number of anecdotes about the introduction of new species.
  - B It is groundbreaking in its attempt to put a name to unusual species.
  - C It includes plants which are unintentional immigrants to the UK.
  - D It charts the evolution of a number of plants of foreign origin.
- 5 What does the writer suggest about wild flowers in the fifth paragraph?
  - A They are only to be found nowadays in rural areas.
  - B They are treasured but weeds are vilified.
  - C They are easier to protect than other types of plant.
  - D They are too expensive to preserve.
- 6 What point is the writer making in the final paragraph?
  - A More money is needed to stem the tide of seriously destructive weeds.
  - B People should be encouraged to sow seeds in unlikely places.
  - C It is hard not to respect the tenaciousness of some plants.
  - D The authorities have a contradictory attitude towards weeds.

Speaking

- 1 Work with a partner and decide whether the following statements are true or false.
- Most people get enough exercise from their normal daily routine.
  - The younger you are, the less active you need to be.
  - It's a good idea to eat pasta or a banana before you exercise.
  - It's better to eat a large meal at lunchtime than in the evening.
  - Running is the best form of exercise.
  - To live longer you need to give up smoking, drinking alcohol and coffee and become a vegetarian.
  - You will only really get fit if you have a personal trainer.

Reading

- 2 You are going to read a magazine article about health and fitness. For questions 1–10, choose from the sections (A–D). The sections may be chosen more than once.

Which person

mentions being disconcerted by their lack of ability when faced with a completely new activity?

1 was grateful for having been spurred on in their efforts?

2 suggests that prior experience of the exercise method can be advantageous?

3 suggests that they have overreached themselves during their first session?

4 is sceptical about whether a way of exercising would really appeal to them?

5 suggests that their chosen exercise programme seemed to be based on a slightly eccentric premise?

6 rejects the idea that they are following an exercise programme to improve fitness?

7 comments on the relentless nature of the trainer?

8 contrasts the amount of pleasure to be gained from different types of exercise?

9 suggests that the outcome of their exercise programme was not wholly positive?

10

Chloe:
New Pilates

A I'll be honest, I have never felt the natural high which scientists claim follows a bout of intense exercise. The empirical evidence of my own body tells me that the only thing exercise releases in my brain is loathing. So I scoff when the people at the gym tell me I'll be hooked on a new type of Pilates in two sessions. My first session is an hour's one-on-one with Daniel, my trainer; a good idea for any beginner. Although I, disappointingly, don't actually lose any weight over my six sessions – personally, I find it rather ups my appetite – I can attest to its toning abilities. The classes themselves – which take a maximum of six people – are entertaining, and as agreeable as enforced muscle fatigue can ever be. It definitely helps if you'd already got to grips with some basic Pilates techniques before you start, but, once you've got the hang of commands such as 'squeeze that imaginary grape under your armpit', it provides a great variety of exercise.

Mark:
Personal training

B A month of sessions with a personal trainer three times a week seems like the perfect springboard to a better future. My personal trainer, Tony, asks me what I hope to achieve. I mutter something about losing a few pounds and toning up a bit, but the truth is I want to get back into my tailored suits. It's the gap between my expectations and reality that is hardest to contend with. I know that no matter how healthy I become at the age of 36, I will still be less fit than I was as a lazy 18-year-old who did no exercise at all. But if I'm honest, I secretly believed I wouldn't actually be all that bad at this. The problem is weights. I've never bothered with them before. I take it slowly for the first few sessions but it's hard going and I eventually pull a muscle in my right arm. It's time for a few days off. I greet a four-day respite with enthusiasm, but actually find myself in the gym, running faster and longer than before and lifting weights well.

Ben:
Sport Active

C I go along to my nearest fitness centre and decide to try out the DVD of Sport Active, which has more than 70 different exercises on it. The programme can measure and display your heart rate, thanks to a monitor that straps to your forearm which sends information to the console. I start with tennis and get an enormous kick out of hitting balls into an onscreen net. I quickly move on to mountain biking, or, as I now call it, 'total physical punishment'. However, even though I am an old hand at cycling, by halfway round, I have clearly lost all ability to show off. On screen, my heart rate has rocketed up to 178. 'You're definitely getting a good cardio workout here,' encourages Robert, the fitness centre trainer. Could these games damage people by suggesting the wrong positions? Robert is dismissive: 'It's unlikely you're going to hurt yourself.' I decide to carry on and after a few weeks begin to see the benefits.

Tasha:
Wild fitness

D Wild Fitness is more than a form of exercise, Matt, my trainer, told me that it was a whole philosophy of life: to transform yourself by learning to move and eat in the way of our hunter-gatherer ancestors and to become strong, fast and agile. It all sounded a bit bizarre but I was more than happy to give it a go. The first session began at 8am on a Monday morning in Regent's Park, London, with some introductory exercises. The hardest session came the next week when Matt told us we would sprint around the 400-metre running track four times, with a short rest in-between – no excuses allowed. I did my best and then discovered that the so-called rest was going to involve squat thrusts; 20 of them. Matt didn't stop there. It was thanks to him that I did far more than I would ever have done exercising alone and I looked thinner and was far more toned as a result, especially around my thighs and stomach.

- Which of the ways of exercising mentioned in the texts would appeal to you? Why / Why not?
- The choice of verb you make will often change the tone of what you are saying. For example, in the first text, the writer talked about 'loathing' exercise. This is a more emphatic way of saying dislike.

For each sentence, replace the words in italics with one of the verbs in the box and make any other necessary changes. Decide what difference the new verb makes. Use a dictionary to help you.

yank	harangue	resolve	swear	seethe
unearth	crave	flout	scrounge

- She lectured me for over an hour about the need to keep fit.
- Laura decided to give up chocolate at New Year.
- I promise I won't use your bike again without asking first.
- 'Can I borrow £5 from you, do you think?'
- My sister really wanted to eat coal when she was pregnant.
- Jo was very angry when his mobile was stolen.
- Don't pull the door open like that – you'll only break it.
- The boys found some interesting old photos.
- Trevor ignored the rules of the gym and used the new equipment without permission.

Phrase spot

Read the sentences below and replace the words in italics with one of the phrases with live. Use an English–English dictionary to help you.

live through	live it up	learn to live with live down	live by your wits	live up to your expectations

- James really had a good time when he was in Ibiza last summer.
- The neighbours are the original neighbours from hell, but short of moving, we have to get used to them.
- The yoga class was brilliant – it was everything we wanted.
- No one will let me forget my tennis skirt falling down.
- We experienced two revolutions while we were abroad but survived both.
- Tom lived on the streets from an early age, but cleverly managed to survive through his ingenuity.

- With a partner, do the quiz below to see how much you know about articles. When you have finished, check your answers with the Grammar folder on page 185.
- Read through this article and fill in the spaces with a suitable article: a, an, the or – (no article). There is sometimes more than one possibility, depending on meaning.

1 Which of the following do not need an article?

the USA, the Indonesia, the Netherlands, the Gambia, the Antarctic, the Hague, the Berlin, the North Pole, the Europe, the European Union, the Oxford University, the Sahara, the Sierra Nevada, the Times, the Olympics

2 Which of these words requires a rather than an?

European, apple, university, hour, one-day ticket, household, union, MP, hotel

3 Decide which of the sentences below is correct, i) or ii), and say why. If both are correct, then say what the difference in meaning is.

- Ken is a personal trainer.
  - Ken is personal trainer.
- I've been to the gym.
  - I've been to a gym.
- My coach makes a great energy drink.
  - My coach makes great energy drink.
- I love rich food.
  - I love the rich food I had at the festival.
- Japanese enjoy sumo.
  - The Japanese enjoy sumo.
- Come to dinner.
  - I went to the dinner on Saturday.
- I play violin.
  - I play the violin.
- I play tennis.
  - I play the tennis.
- I want a drink of water.
  - I want one drink of water.
- The weather is wet at the moment.
  - Weather is wet at the moment.
- You need to wash the face.
  - You need to wash your face.
- Go to bed!
  - If you look under the bed you might find the book.

The perils of keep fit

(1) ..... exercise season is upon us and January is (2) ..... busiest time at any gym as (3) ..... old members work off (4) ..... excesses of (5) ..... holiday period and new ones (6) ..... excesses of (7) ..... past five years. But (8) ..... experts warn that we should proceed with (9) ..... care; throwing yourself too vigorously into (10) ..... new fitness regime can make you vulnerable to (11) ..... number of (12) ..... health risks.

'(13) ..... exercise is (14) ..... stress on the body,' says Dr Nick Webborn, (15) ..... medical advisor to (16) ..... National Sports Medicine Institute. 'That's how it makes you fitter. You stimulate your body and it adapts to this stimulus by building (17) ..... muscle and strengthening (18) ..... heart and lungs.'

Done correctly, this will be one of (19) ..... most potent things you can do for your health – (20) ..... moderate exercise has been shown to lower (21) ..... risk of (22) ..... endless day-to-day ailments.

Prepositions

Corpus spot

The Cambridge Learner Corpus shows that prepositions often cause problems at Proficiency level. Complete the sentences with a suitable preposition. There may be more than one possible answer.

- a Most sportswear commercials are produced by companies that specialise ..... this type of advertising.
- b Town planners have not paid enough attention ..... the need for recreational areas such as parks.
- c You shouldn't laugh ..... Tony, he can't help being a slow runner.
- d Melissa shouted ..... the player to look behind him.
- e What are you thinking ..... right now?
- f If I catch you throwing your ball ..... my house again, I'll tell your father.
- g I don't object ..... you watching the Olympics, as long as you don't stay up all night.
- h His professional approach is typical ..... our team.
- i The Sports Council voted ..... the amendment late last night.
- j You can't insist ..... a refund of your gym membership you know.
- k Let me congratulate you ..... your fine achievement.
- l Sal certainly doesn't care ..... running, but enjoys long walks.
- m We discussed it for ages before we finally agreed ..... a solution.

- 4 With a partner, ask and answer using the verbs below and the correct preposition. Use an English dictionary if you need help.

EXAMPLE: apply

- What did he apply for?
He applied for a grant.
- Who did he apply to?
He applied to the manager.

- |                |             |

| a rely         | f interfere |
| b take pride   | g admire    |
| c look forward | h apologise |
| d prohibit     | i accuse    |
| e consist      | j believe   |

Word formation

- 5 Look at the following words from the text in 14.1. What part of speech is each word? What other forms of the word are possible?

EXAMPLE: abilities (plural noun)

able, disability, disabled, unable, inability, ably

- |           |              |              |            |
|-----------|--------------|--------------|------------|
| Section A | abilities    | agreeable    | imaginary  |
| Section B | expectations | reality      | enthusiasm |
| Section C | measure      | dismissive   | clearly    |
| Section D | transform    | introductory | excuses    |

- 6 Use an appropriate form of one of your answers to 5 to complete each sentence below.

EXAMPLE: His complete inability to grasp the essentials of the exercise left him feeling downhearted.

- a The departure of the gym manager was totally ..... – he never said a word about leaving.
  - b The committee ..... their complaints as having no basis in fact.
  - c We are very ..... about going on biking holidays.
  - d I think your worries about your weight are all in your .....
  - e Steve's behaviour was ..... last night for some reason – I can't believe he was so rude.
  - f The football manager is well known for his ..... of vision – he can see how certain players will fit well with the team.
- 7 For questions 1–4, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given. These all include some type of word formation.

- 1 Helen's running style seems to be improving now she has lessons.
signs
Helen's running style ..... now she has lessons.
- 2 I really admire the changes you have made to your diet.
full
I ..... the changes you have made to your diet.
- 3 Sam is reputed to inspire young athletes.
has
Sam ..... young athletes.
- 4 I would have arrived even later at the meeting, if Professor McDougal hadn't kindly assisted me.
kind
But ....., I would have arrived even later at the meeting.

- 1 Do you know of any health scares in your country about any of these products?

Do they make you anxious or are you complacent and take no notice of them?

- 2 02 You will hear Alice Brown interviewing Professor Robert Atkins about health scares. For questions 1–5, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which fits best according to what you hear.

- 1 How does Professor Atkins feel about the frequency of health scares in the media?
  - A irritated that the media print nonsense
  - B reconciled to health scares being a necessary evil
  - C resigned to the media misunderstanding science
  - D worried that the health scares might be real
- 2 What is Alice's attitude to the threat of lethal diseases?
  - A She worries that new ones will occur.
  - B She is doubtful that they can be contained.
  - C She is concerned that they are spread more easily today.
  - D She believes they pose less of a danger today.
- 3 Professor Atkins believes that the concerns people have today arise from
  - A a lack of spiritual belief.
  - B being misled by scientists and doctors.
  - C bewilderment when their assumptions are challenged.
  - D worry about how diseases are communicated.

- 4 What do Alice and Professor Atkins agree about when it comes to health scares?
  - A some businesses have a vested interest in promoting them
  - B some manufacturers see them as the best form of publicity
  - C some doctors are at fault for not criticising them sufficiently
  - D some researchers are looking for publicity
- 5 What worries Professor Atkins about health scares?
  - A They could lead to people taking too many pills.
  - B They are more damaging than real diseases.
  - C They might make people disregard potential risks.
  - D They are difficult to disprove.

Pronunciation

- 3 In the recorded interview, Alice and Robert used the following words.

object	frequent	discount
--------	----------	----------

- 2:02 Listen to the interview again. How were those words pronounced?

Underline the part of the word which was stressed. Which part of speech are they?

Certain words have a variable stress pattern, depending on whether they are used as a noun, adjective or verb, for example: object.

I don't object to your opening the window.

The boy tripped up over some object in his path.

- 4 Work with a partner and make up sentences which show the difference between the way the words below are pronounced, depending on the part of speech.

alternate	discount	entrance	frequent incense	invalid	present	produce

- 5 With a partner, look at the photos below. You will need to compare and contrast them. Think about:

- the lifestyles of the people represented
- the possible implications for their future
- how modern life has impacted on health

You have about a minute to do this.

- 6 Work in groups to make a joint presentation about the following topic.

Imagine that there is going to be an advertising campaign to persuade young people to keep fit and healthy. Decide what form the campaign should take in order to have the greatest impact, e.g. online/phone/posters/TV/cinema/magazines/talks in schools, colleges, etc.

Also think about what aspect of health and fitness should be highlighted – should it be cigarettes/diet/exercise/drugs, etc?

You will need to give opinions, make decisions and evaluate the potential impact of the advertising campaign.

Writing folder 7

Part 2 Letter

In Part 2 of Paper 2, you may be asked to write a letter. This will be formal in register and the target reader may be the editor of a newspaper or magazine. You are not expected to include postal addresses but the letter should be paragraphed and have a suitable opening and close.

1 Read this exam task.

You have read a critical article in the local newspaper about the sports provision at your college. As a member of the sports committee, you discover that substantial national funding is available for the upgrading and enlargement of facilities. You decide to write a letter to the editor of the newspaper, responding to the article and requesting suitable publicity for a grant application.

2 Look at the draft answer on page 125. An R or T to the right of a line means that the register or tone needs improving. Underline the parts to be edited and then suggest improvements to make the letter consistently formal in register and less aggressive in tone. An example is given.

3 The following expressions are useful when arguing for or against a course of action. Decide what each refers to, writing

- A do something positive without delay
- B deal with at some stage but low priority
- C stop working on.

- a give priority to A
- b take the initiative in
- c place less emphasis on
- d set in motion immediately
- e put on hold (temporarily)
- f allocate minimal resources to
- g back the establishment of
- h freeze the development of
- i sanction major investment in
- j pull out of 4 Now, using some of the expressions above, answer the task below in 280–320 words.

An international student magazine has invited its readers to submit a letter arguing for immediate action on a key environmental issue. You decide to write a letter, briefly describing an environmental problem that concerns you, explaining why you are arguing for immediate action and recommending appropriate measures to rectify the situation.

Write your letter.

Dear Sir or Madam

Following your <sup>rather negative</sup> damning article on this college's current sports provision, we demand that you think again and print an apology - most of what you have written is garbage! We also want your help regarding a funding application - please see below.

Your article claims that a lack of adequate facilities is hurting our basketball and swimming teams, yet both have represented the college at the highest levels of competition and done brilliantly over the years. Indeed, your newspaper featured the recent success of the basketball team in an article published in May. How ironic is that?

Still, you're not wrong to say that the main sports hall requires some work, especially the dodgy flooring and the pathetic lighting - you can't even see the ball sometimes! In connection with this, we've just spotted that funding is available nationally, which our college would be in a good position to apply for. We reckon that getting a grant would enable us to undertake the repairs alluded to above, and also allow for an extension of the present changing facilities, whereby separate 'wet' and 'dry' areas could be introduced, to service the pool and hall respectively.

What do you think? Would you be willing to run an article in support of our grant application? It would be in the public interest, given that members of the public have daily access to our sports facilities.

Hear from you soon, ok?

EXAM ADVICE

- Read the question carefully to understand the scenario.
- Think about the purpose of your letter – what should it achieve?
- Use a suitably polite tone for the target reader specified.
- Write in a consistently formal register.
- Use suitable paragraphing and a range of cohesive devices.
- State your reason for writing at the outset.
- Conclude your letter clearly and add a formal close, such as Yours faithfully.

1 Discuss these questions in pairs or groups.

- How likely are you to stay in the same field of work throughout your working life?
- Why are some people reluctant to switch career?
- How important is staff continuity in the workplace?
- What expectations do you have about job security in the long term?
- In what ways might the workplace change in the next ten years?

Listening

2 You will hear an interview with the head of an employment agency about job expectations. First read questions 1–5 and underline any unfamiliar vocabulary.

- How does Diane Webber view 'jobs for life'?
  - She regrets the fact that this situation is no longer the norm.
  - She feels that many long-serving employees failed to make a useful contribution.
  - She believes that people should have challenged their employers' motives more.
  - She wishes the workplace had been more secure in the past.
- According to Diane, younger workers in today's workplace
  - learn all the skills they need early on.
  - accept lateral moves if they are attractive.
  - expect to receive benefits right from the start.
  - change jobs regularly to achieve a higher level.

- What does Diane say about staff continuity in companies?
  - It is desirable in both junior and senior management.
  - It is impossible to achieve in today's more competitive environment.
  - It is unimportant, due to the greater emphasis on teamwork.
  - It is necessary, but only up to a point.
- According to Diane, what is the actual benefit of higher levels of personnel movement?
  - higher levels of output
  - better problem-solving
  - more creativity
  - greater efficiency
- Diane considers that nowadays, companies are at most risk from
  - run-of-the-mill employees who play safe.
  - successful high-fliers who quickly move on.
  - unreliable staff who lack commitment.
  - external advisors who have undue power.

2 03 Now listen to the recording and, for questions 1–5, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which fits best according to what you hear.

3 2 03 Listen again and then explain what Diane meant by the following expressions.

- |                          |                        |
|--------------------------|------------------------|
| a a golden handshake     | h a track record       |
| b cut their teeth        | i mindset              |
| c progress up the rungs  | j the jury's still out |
| d a mixed blessing       | k a quantum leap       |
| e dog-eat-dog            | l quick fixes          |
| f the slightest whiff of | m keep their heads     |
| g snapped up             | down                   |

Vocabulary

Collocations

- 4 The expressions quick fix and quick exit were used in the recording. Many other nouns collocate with adjectives describing speed. Explain the meanings of the underlined phrases in a–h.
- Let's get a quick bite before the play starts.
  - Life in the fast lane was proving even more hectic than Henry had imagined.
  - Benson had a reputation for trying to make a quick buck.
  - Travellers in business or first class may use our fast track channel.
  - With only a brisk nod in our direction, the man carried on with his presentation.
  - Both parties issued a swift denial, but most of the tabloids ran the story in any case.
  - The team pride themselves on their rapid response, generally one to two days maximum.
  - After a quick catnap, he was ready to face the press.
- 5 Conversely, the adjective slow collocates with several nouns in the business context. Choose nouns from the box to complete these sentences from the Cambridge English Corpus. There are three nouns which you do not need to use.

decline	growth	lane	motion	pace
process	signs	speeds	tempo

- With 40% unemployment, extremely slow ....., and a massive trade deficit, the economy remains dependent on foreign aid.
- Although sales nearly tripled that year, they grew at a slower ..... than in the previous 12 months.
- The retail industry is showing slow ..... of recovery.
- Overcoming the legacy of low-trust industrial relations is necessarily a slow .....
- The recession has turned the long, slow ..... of newspapers into a brisk fall.
- Rural residents are too often stuck in the slow ..... of the information highway, shut off from education and employment opportunities.

Idiom spot

Neologisms

Many of the expressions in 3 have only entered the language recently and are used particularly in business and in journalism. Complete these examples with one of the idioms or expressions (a–m) in the correct form.

- It appears that ..... on the question of the newspaper's survival.
- The spin-off from his success is ..... in attendance and greater commitment all round.
- It only takes ..... lower interest rates for the retail industry to get excited.
- We live in a solution-hungry time, where people are confused, busy, and anxious to latch on to any ..... they can.
- The applicant who was chosen for the post had an excellent ..... in hedge fund trading.
- The arrival of the so-called independent advisors was ..... for staff, who were asked to produce fresh data almost overnight.

The term golden handshake now has its opposite in business, referring to someone's entry into a company. Match the colours to the nouns given (one colour is used twice). Then use the expressions in sentences a–f.

blue	goods
golden	ink
green	chip
red	knight
white	hello
	shoots

- In spite of substantial investment, the company is still bleeding ..... and drastic action is likely before the year end.
- Although we cannot report much that is positive, some encouraging ..... are starting to appear, particularly in certain export markets.
- Typically, ..... companies have been in business for a long time and are dominant in their particular markets.
- Sales volumes of ..... such as dishwashers and freezers are virtually static.
- It is thought that top executive James Eagleton received a ..... of around $2 million on joining the corporation.
- Rumours that a ..... was about to step in proved unfounded and the company was taken over within a matter of weeks.

- 1 Read this article on internships. Do you think interns receive fair treatment in the workplace? Why? / Why not?

LANDMARK VICTORY SEES JOURNALISM INTERN AWARDED OVER £2,000 IN PAY AND DAMAGES

In the current period of austerity, employers are becoming more and more attracted to the creation of internships, as a cheap way of extending their workforce – and young people are usually more than willing to work unpaid or for minimal wages, in order to gain valuable experience and get them closer to the first rung on the career ladder. Unpaid interns are in a vulnerable position, often afraid to take action against their employers for fear that they might be shown the door.

However, a journalism intern has scored a victory for interns everywhere by successfully suing her publishing company employer, for whom she interned unpaid for several weeks. Keri Hudson, 21, proved in an employment tribunal that she had the right to be paid for two months' work she carried out last year, despite having no written contract with her employer.

The tribunal heard that Keri had received no pay from her employer, despite working 10am to 6pm every day, being responsible for a team of writers – and even for hiring new interns. Apparently, “the company had told her she was not eligible for any pay because they considered her an intern”.

But the judge was having none of it. After hearing a description of the work she had carried out, he ruled that she was a “worker” by law – and was therefore entitled to the National Minimum Wage and holiday pay.

- 2 Suggest alternative linking words or phrases that could replace the two highlighted phrases in the first paragraph without changing the grammar of the clause that follows. What type of clause do they introduce?

G → page 185

- 3 What does the title of the article opposite suggest to you in terms of gender differences at work? Read the article to see if your ideas are covered. Ignore spaces 1–8 for the moment.
- 4 Now fill in spaces 1–8 with one word only.

THE SECRETARIAL GENDER DIVIDE

Male PAs are (0) .....on..... a fast track to the top. Or (1) ..... their female counterparts think, according to a new survey by a leading recruitment consultancy. In (2) ..... is a female-dominated profession, these concerns clearly deserved to be investigated, yet in reality, there is absolutely (3) ..... truth in them whatsoever.

It seems that men are increasingly applying for support roles in (4) ..... to get on the career ladder. With nigh (5) ..... double the number of students in higher education compared to a decade ago, graduates have had to find new ways into over-subscribed professions. And, (6) ..... it appears that men are indeed mega-quick in getting promotion, this is fully explained by (7) ..... active seeking out of higher-status roles, (8) ..... than by anything more sinister.

5 Join the following clauses with suitable linking phrases from the box, paying attention to the register of the sentences. In some cases, more than one answer is possible. Be careful with negatives!

for fear that	in case	in order (not) to so as (not) to	so that	lest

- a Ambrose Greene checked everything at least three times ..... he should fail to notice an error.
- b Buy the relevant magazines every week ..... miss any job advertisements.
- c The company took up both references ..... satisfy themselves that he was the right man for the new position.
- d Always dispatch vital documents by registered mail ..... they go astray and you need to trace them.
- e It is worth allowing extra time if travelling on public transport ..... you won't be in a rush at the other end.
- f I used to commute into the office at the crack of dawn ..... have to travel in overcrowded trains.
- g The clients are being sent a map ..... they don't know their way around.
- h Elzevir paid great attention to his feet, ..... he should slip on the ferns and mosses with which the steps were overgrown.

6 Finish these statements so that they are true for you, including an appropriate linking phrase of your choice. Use each phrase once only.

EXAMPLE: I would like to work abroad at some point, ...

in order to learn another language.

- a I would like to work abroad at some point, ...
- b When I'm older, I won't stay in the same job for more than two years, ...
- c I want to continue my English studies, ...
- d It would be useful for me to have my own website, ...
- e I want to find work that I can do from home, ...

Corpus spot

The Cambridge Learner Corpus shows that even at C2 level, learners continue to make mistakes with linking words and phrases.

Choose one of the phrases in brackets to correct the underlined mistakes that exam candidates have made, making any punctuation changes necessary.

- a I'm giving you the address of the school here if you want further information. (so that / in case)
- b Everybody will agree that a bad product is only bought once. Therefore, provided that the advertising is dishonest and misleading, it will only cheat us once when we buy the advertised product for the first time. (even if / for all)
- c Tourism will increase on the grounds that air travel will develop. (in the same way as / along the lines of)
- d On the other hand, living longer could lead to some everyday difficulties. Likewise not being able to look after ourselves. (lest / such as)
- e Even so, people ought to be more careful as not to damage the good things we have. (in case / so as not to)
- f After all, I hope you are now persuaded to spend the money on a computer room. (Otherwise / In conclusion)

Style extra

In English, some words to do with people refer only to men or women, either because they are gender-specific, e.g. maid, or because usage is just like that. (Corpus evidence suggests that taciturn is only used of men.)

Group the nouns and adjectives below under these three headings. Decide also whether they are formal, informal or unmarked in terms of register, and whether there are any further restrictions on their use, e.g. offensive, old-fashioned.

used of men    used of women    used of both nouns			adjectives

actor	bag	bimbo	bullish
bounder	chairman	charmer	chivalrous
chav	duchess	freshman	doting
geek	lout	mate	effeminate
neanderthal	nerd	partner	laddish patriarch	sibling	spouse	lanky
thug	vamp	whizz kid	prickly wimpy

Now combine each adjective with a noun of your choice and produce an example sentence to illustrate usage and meaning. Use a dictionary if necessary.

EXAMPLE: The bullish whizz kid had a reputation for making wild predictions about the futures market.

1 Which of these leadership qualities are the three most important for each of the following people? What are the other characteristics of a successful leader?

- a a company chairman
- b a college principal
- c a military commander

decisiveness	intuition
vision	assertiveness
flexibility	fairness
good humour	openness
determination	humility
specialist knowledge	stamina

2 Read the texts on two contrasting leadership styles, ignoring the highlighting for the moment. Which style appears to be the more effective? Do you agree with what is said?

Text 1

The 'Affiliative Style' revolves around people – its proponents value individuals and their emotions more than tasks and goals. The affiliative leader strives to keep employees happy and to create harmony among them, building strong emotional bonds and then reaping the benefits of such an approach, commanding fierce loyalty.

There is a markedly positive effect on communication, and flexibility also rises because the affiliative leader gives people the freedom to do their job in the way they think is most effective. However, this style can allow poor performance to go uncorrected and, since affiliative leaders rarely offer advice, employees can be left in a quandary.

Text 2

The 'Pacesetter Style' focuses on tasks and goals, with the leader setting extremely high performance standards and exemplifying them personally. Underachievers are swiftly identified and more demanded of them – if they don't rise to the occasion, they are replaced. Employees tend to feel overwhelmed by the pacesetter's demands for excellence, and morale drops. Guidelines for working may be clear in the leader's head, but are often not stated clearly. People feel that the pacesetter doesn't trust them to take any initiative. Flexibility and responsibility evaporate; commitment dwindles because people have no sense of how their personal efforts fit into the big picture.

- 3 It is important to use your own words in the Part 1 essay. Find words or phrases in the texts that have a similar meaning to a–h.

Text 1

- a advocates
- b ties
- c profiting from
- d predicament

Text 2

- e deliver the goods
- f motivation and confidence
- g resourcefulness
- h the operation as a whole

- 4 Text 2 contains three verbs describing downward movement or decline. What are they? Suggest three more verbs you could use in their place. Then find the verb that describes an upward trend in Text 1 and think of two others to replace it.

- 5 Tick the linkers that can be used to contrast information.

Be that as it may	Even so	Nonetheless
By the same token	In contrast	On the other hand
Conversely	In other words	Similarly
Despite this	Likewise	Whereas

- 6 Read the paragraph below about effective leadership and complete linking phrases 1–5 with one or two words. Which phrases are used to contrast information?

To be an effective leader in business, it is essential to have vision, with a steady grasp of the bigger picture. 1 What is ....., senior management figures need to show determination and a firm belief in their ideas for change.

2 That ....., assertiveness can sometimes go too far and this will only serve to alienate staff. To avoid this

3 ..... the case, any major shift in direction must be fully explained to all members of the company.

4 In much ..... way, organisational change needs to be handled carefully, within an adequate timeframe that allows for some downward consultation. 5 .....

that, strong leadership requires decisiveness and hasty U-turns should be avoided at all costs.

- 7 Choose linkers from 5 and 6 to contrast the colour-coded information in the two texts, using your own words as far as possible – you can include the words and phrases from 3 and 4. Write one or two sentences for each point.

EXAMPLE: Within the Affiliative Style of leadership, individuals count, and appropriate concern is shown for their welfare, whereas under the Pacesetter Style, the primary focus is on the achievement of objectives according to ambitious targets.

- 8 Now evaluate these four ideas in turn, making notes of your own views. Combine this evaluation with your sentences from 7.
- 9 Write an essay in 240–280 words, summarising, contrasting and evaluating the ideas in the two texts. Start by introducing the two management styles in general terms (see the example in 7 for ideas, but use your own words). Then include your ideas from 8, suitably paragraphed. Finish off the essay with an appropriate conclusion.

Exam folder 8

Paper 3 Part 2 Sentence completion

In Part 2 of the Listening paper, you will hear a monologue or prompted monologue (that is someone introducing the main speaker). You will need to listen for specific information and stated opinion in order to complete spaces in sentences. There are nine spaces altogether. You will hear the piece twice and you must write your answer – in the form of a word or short phrase – on an answer sheet. You must spell the word or short phrase correctly.

- 1 Read through questions 1–9 and try to predict what the answers might be.
- 2  04 You will hear a man called John Farrant talking about his job working for a car hire company. For question 1, listen to the first part of the recording as far as ‘... a plastic wallet’. Then, with a partner, decide which is the word you heard which fits in the space.

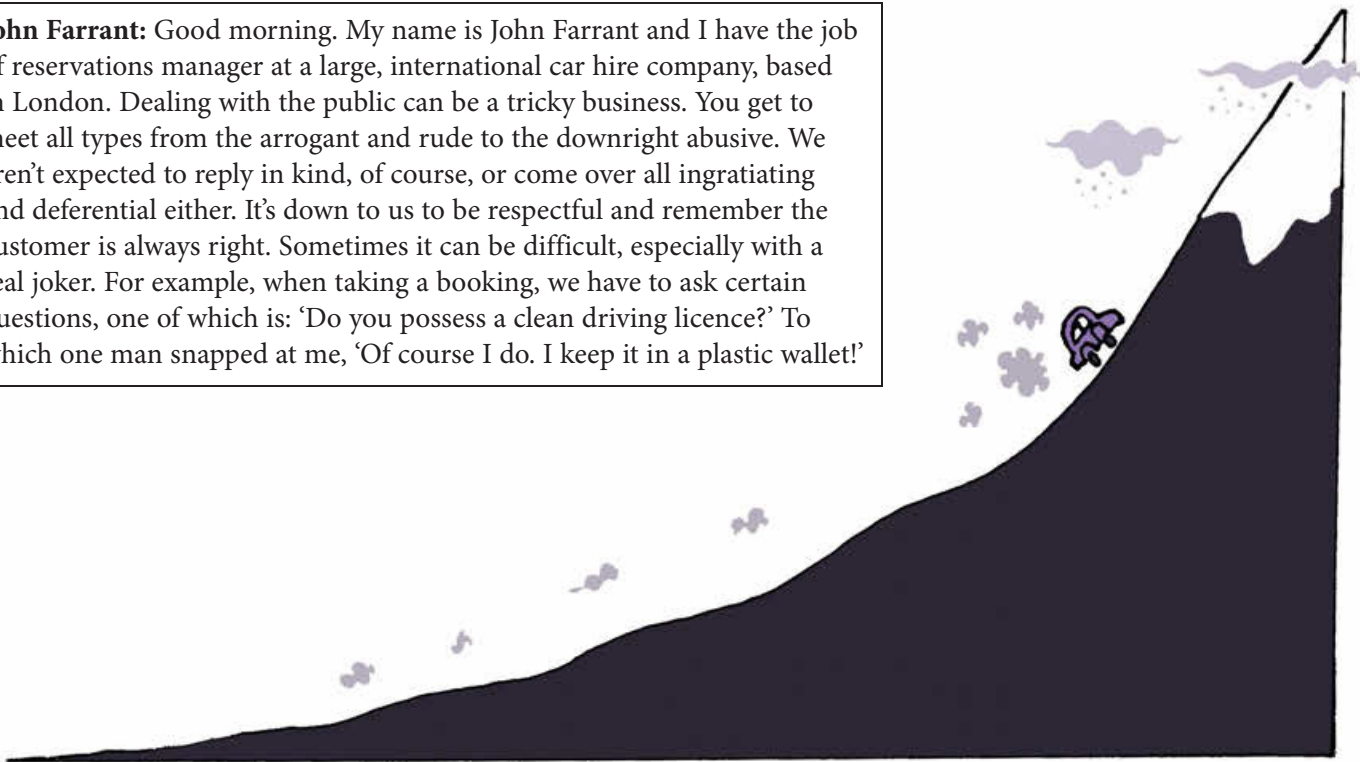

John Farrant says that people doing his job have to act in a (1) ..... way.

- 3 Underline the adjectives in the recording script below which describe the way people act. Why is there only one possible answer?

John Farrant: Good morning. My name is John Farrant and I have the job of reservations manager at a large, international car hire company, based in London. Dealing with the public can be a tricky business. You get to meet all types from the arrogant and rude to the downright abusive. We aren't expected to reply in kind, of course, or come over all ingratiating and deferential either. It's down to us to be respectful and remember the customer is always right. Sometimes it can be difficult, especially with a real joker. For example, when taking a booking, we have to ask certain questions, one of which is: 'Do you possess a clean driving licence?' To which one man snapped at me, 'Of course I do. I keep it in a plastic wallet!'

EXAM ADVICE

- You have 45 seconds to read through the questions before you hear the piece. Make good use of this time.
- Make sure you read ahead or else you will get lost and begin to panic. Always know the topic of the next question.
- You should write what you hear; there is no need to change the words into a different form. Make sure the word or short phrase you write fits the sense of the sentence to be completed.
- Look out for clues – e.g. an before the space; the use of a particular preposition, in, on, etc; the use of many rather than much to show a countable noun is needed.
- You shouldn't write a whole sentence.

4  05 Now, listen to the rest of the recording and then do the task below.

For questions 2–9, complete the sentences with a word or short phrase.

John was asked by an older customer to talk him through a (2) ..... on the phone.

One tourist from the USA was worried about driving in the UK because he had little or no experience of (3) .....

John says that car hire companies like customers who require (4) ..... because they make more profit from it.

A car which had been taken to Spain was covered in (5) ..... when it was returned.

One customer with a medical condition was given a (6) ..... near a car depot office.

The depot manager needed to use a car (7) ..... to avoid being in a collision.

John thinks that many customers don't believe that reservations clerks look after their (8) .....

One customer needed a car which had (9) ..... in order to travel to Oxford.

Reading

1 What are the challenges and constraints of writing a short story, as opposed to a novel? Think about characters, chronology, detail and so on.

2 Read the text below, taken from An old-fashioned story, a short story by American writer Laurie Colwin, that was published in 1981. What is the significance of the title, in your opinion?

Nelson Rodker was two years Elizabeth's senior, and was a model child in every way. Elizabeth, on the other hand, began her life as a rebellious, spunky and passionate child, but was extraordinarily pretty, and such children are never called difficult; they are called original. It was their parents' ardent hope that their children might be friends and, when they grew up, like each other well enough to marry.

In order to ensure this, the children were brought together. If Elizabeth looked about to misbehave, her mother placed her hand on Elizabeth's forearm and, with a little squeeze Elizabeth learned to dread, would say in tones of determined sweetness: 'Darling, don't you want to see Nelson's chemistry set?' Elizabeth did not want to see it – or his stamp collection. As she grew older, she did not want to dance with Nelson or go to his school reception. But she did these things. That warm pressure on her forearm was as effective as a slap, although her compliance was not gained only by squeezes and horrified looks. Elizabeth had begun to have a secret life: she hated Nelson and the Rodkers with secret fury. While she was too young to wonder if this loathing included her parents, she felt that if they forced Nelson upon her and chose the Rodkers for their dearest friends, they must in some way be against her. At the same time she realised that they were foolable. If she smiled at Nelson, they were happy and considered her behaviour impeccable. If rude, she spent weeks in the pain of constant lectures. Thus, she learned to turn a cheerful face while keeping the fires of her dislike properly banked. The fact of the matter was that an afternoon of Nelson's stamp collection was good for two afternoons hanging around the park with her real friends.

The beautiful daughters of the nervous well-to-do are tended like orchids, especially in New York. Elizabeth's friends were carefully picked over. The little O'Connor girl was common; that her father had won a Pulitzer prize was of no matter. The one friend her mother approved of was Holly Lukas, whose mother was an old friend. Elizabeth never brought her real friends home, since, with the exception of Holly, they were all wrong: the children of broken homes, of people with odd political or religious preferences or of blacklisted movie producers. Elizabeth learned the hard way that these children would not be made comfortable in her house. This might have put a crimp in Elizabeth's social life except that none of her friends wanted to entertain at home. They knew early on that the best place to conduct a private life was in public.

Like most girls her age, Elizabeth became horse crazy. She did not want to share this passion with her parents, who felt riding once a week was quite enough, so she made a deal with the stable that, in exchange for a free lesson, she would clean out the stalls on Tuesdays. This, however, was not known by her mother, who had her expensively outfitted. These riding clothes Elizabeth carried in a rucksack along with her real riding clothes – an old pair of blue jeans and a ratty sweater. It was soon discovered that Elizabeth was coming home late one extra afternoon a week stinking of horse. She was made to remove her jodhpurs at the service entrance and, when these garments were found to be relatively horseless, a search was made and the offending jeans rooted out. Elizabeth was mute. One word about manure, and her riding days were over. But manure was not on her mother's mind and, in fact, when she learned that Elizabeth spent one day a week in the company of a pitchfork, she was much relieved.

At college, Elizabeth had her first taste of freedom. While similarly restrained girls went wild, she reveled in being left alone and staying up late reading anything she liked. Her parents were not against reading, but Elizabeth's reading habits contributed to eyestrain and bad posture and, besides, all that reading made one lopsided. At home on holidays she was correctness itself. In the middle of her first love affair, she was grown up enough to restrain herself from calling her beloved in Vermont, lest her parents find him on the telephone bill. Elizabeth's parents set great store on adult behavior. Had they known what sort of adult Elizabeth had become, great would have been their dismay.

After graduation, her decision to live in New York was not easily come by, but she loved New York and wanted to enjoy it finally on her own terms. Using as collateral a diamond-and-sapphire bracelet left to her by her grandmother, she borrowed enough money to rent an apartment in Greenwich Village. Through a friend of the O'Connor girl's father, she found a job at a publishing company and went to work. Her parents were puzzled by this. The daughters of their friends were announcing their engagements in the Times. Elizabeth further puzzled them by refusing to take a cent of their money, although her mother knew the truth: what you dole out to the young binds them to you. To have Elizabeth owing nothing was disconcerting to say the least.

- 3 For questions 1–6, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which you think fits best according to the text.
- What characterised Elizabeth's treatment as a young child?
    - She was surrounded with children who were older than her.
    - She was regarded by adults as being exceptionally intelligent.
    - She was excused any bad behaviour due to her good looks.
    - She was painstakingly prepared for future relationships.
  - What is implied about Elizabeth's childhood in the second paragraph?
    - She complied with her parents' wishes from a sense of duty.
    - She tolerated her mother's plans in order to achieve her own ends.
    - She spent time with Nelson despite his parents being set against her.
    - She disliked having to hide her true feelings from those around her.
  - What do we learn about Elizabeth's school friends in the third paragraph?
    - They were embarrassed that their parents had successful careers.
    - They were reluctant to invite friends back to their houses.
    - They felt uncomfortable in the presence of Elizabeth's mother.
    - They caused Elizabeth to come into conflict with her parents.
  - When Elizabeth's mother found out about her daughter's work at the riding school, she
    - calmed down, as she had been expecting something else.
    - was angry about the unnecessary purchase she had made.
    - was uninterested in anything to do with the riding school.
    - forced Elizabeth to throw away the old pair of jeans.
  - Why would Elizabeth's parents have been disappointed in her during her college days?
    - Her excessive reading went against how they had brought her up.
    - Her changed appearance would not have been as they wished it.
    - Her wild social life meant she could not be studying hard.
    - Her clandestine relationship would have shocked them.
  - Once she moved back to New York, Elizabeth resolved to - sell her grandmother's valuable bracelet.
    - stay a single working woman.
    - exist unsupported by her parents.
    - try to be more positive about the city.

- What is the main implication of this text, in your opinion? Choose one of the four options below, justifying your choice with reference to the text.
  - It is inevitable that people make friends within their own social class.
  - It is unnecessary to spend time gaining a good education in life.
  - It is worthwhile for parents to talk to their children's friends.
  - It is unrealistic of parents to expect to influence their children.
- Explain the meaning of a–e in terms of the characters they relate to.
  - in tones of determined sweetness (lines 11–12)
  - turn a cheerful face (line 27)
  - tended like orchids (lines 31–32)

- put a crimp in (line 42)
  - set great store on (line 71)
- 6 Elizabeth is said to have been a rebellious, spunky and passionate child. Find suitable opposites of these adjectives in the list below to describe Nelson. Then suggest opposites for the remaining words.

Use some of these adjectives when describing characters in Writing folder 8.

- 1 Look at these poems. What images do they create in your mind?
- 2 Can poetry be successfully translated? How much freedom should a translator have? Which poem would be easiest to translate into your language? Think of these aspects:
  - rhyme
  - rhythm
  - idiom
  - nuance
- 3 Read this review of a collection of poetry in translation. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

She went away
And left me here
To sip cold beer.

Bud Weiser

Once at Cold Mountain, troubles cease –
No more tangled, hung-up mind.
I idly scribble poems on the rock cliff
Taking whatever comes, like a drifting boat.

It's hard to issue (0) PREDICTIONS on exactly what impact Jonathan Galassi's superb translation and (1) ..... of the Italian writer Eugenio Montale's Collected Poems: 1920–1954 will have on English-speaking (2) ..... and, more importantly, on poets. Translations of poetry are often (3) ..... today, not because, as the poet Robert Frost once claimed, 'Poetry is what gets lost in translation,' but because, (4) ....., the act of turning writing in another language into writing in 'ours' is part of a larger (5) ..... project. As a result, instead of attempting to feel and think beyond the boundaries of any single nation-state, much academic work (6) ..... itself within a restrictively pure nationalist framework of literatures – 'American', 'English', 'French'. (7) ..... as I already was with Montale's poetry, my own reaction has been an unexpected one. After consuming his three main books in a two-day gulp, I felt stunned by the concentrated power of his language. Without my particularly wanting them to, the poetry's cadences have infiltrated my memory, and its (8) ..... images have invaded my dreams. As remote as Montale's poetry may be from one's own world view in the twenty-first century, it nevertheless has to be accommodated.

Corpus spot

Even at Proficiency level, conjunctions are often confused or inaccurately used. Correct the errors in a–h.

- Although the nice atmosphere, it's a little bit noisy.
- We got on really well, despite that I only knew a little English.
- However it is not easy, I'm making progress day by day.
- Despite of what she felt towards him, making him wait was a game she truly enjoyed.
- Whereas one could see he was eager to talk, nothing came out of his mouth.
- Although that, I know that I will be a good mother.
- Even I was wrong, it didn't make any difference.
- He never achieved a similar success, in spite of he wrote fourteen more novels.

4 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

- It is permissible to lose rhyme in translation, but it is vital to preserve the cadences of a poem.
even
A translator must preserve a poem's cadences, ..... in translation.
- I've never attempted to write poetry, though I have had a go at short stories.
hand
Despite trying ..... something I've never attempted.
- Although poetry readings are fun, the way in which poems are read sometimes annoys me.
exception

The editor refrained from commenting on the author's lack of progress ..... prompt him to stop writing altogether.

- Identify the different genres shown in the pictures. What are the ingredients in a good book? What makes a book hard to put down?
-  You are going to hear two people talking about books that have impressed them. In each case, name the book, explain what genre it is and summarise its qualities according to the speaker.
-  Listen again to note down the words which mean the same as a–h.
  - engrossed
  - overpowering
  - take for granted
  - conjectures
  - classic
  - perceptions
  - painstaking
  - bravery

Pronunciation

- The first speaker spoke about the subtleties of the plot. Which consonant is silent in this word?

Silent consonants occur for different reasons. Often it is because pronunciation has changed over time without a corresponding change in spelling. Some words have come to English from another language, where they are pronounced differently.

-  Look at these words and underline any consonants you think are silent. Then listen to the recording to check the pronunciation.

6 Look at the following Part 3 Speaking task.

How important is the printed book in the twenty-first century?

- technological alternatives
- practical advantages
- educational issues

Decide which prompt on the card above each of these statements refers to. Give your own opinion on each one.

- Although there are several benefits to downloading ebooks and being able to access them anywhere on a pocket-sized device, I would never contemplate giving away the hard copies of my favourite novels.
- Powerful though the arguments for the electronic book may be, I don't believe it will ever replace the physical object completely.
- Much as I enjoy sitting down with a good paperback, I'm excited by the availability of downloadable books, not least being able to track down obscure works that have been out of print for fifty years.
- While there is an initial cost implication in terms of classroom hardware, it cannot be denied that the electronic medium of instruction is far more engaging for students than battered old textbooks.
- Even though I love holding a real book in my hands, its manufacture is a waste of natural resources, which can no longer be justified given the existence of cheap electronic alternatives.

7 Plan your own talk on the importance of the book in the twenty-first century, working through the checklist below.

Planning stage

- Which ideas will you concentrate on, or will you touch on all three prompts?
- What other ideas do you intend to bring in?
- How will you introduce the talk?
- How will you move from one idea to another?
- What will your final point be?

Now record your talk. Stop after exactly two minutes and then analyse your talk, working through the checklist below.

Rehearsal analysis

- Did you cover all your ideas in the time?
- Were the ideas logically organised?
- In which part of the recording were you strongest? Why?
- Was there any repetition of ideas to cut out?
- Where could you have elaborated further?
- Were there any long pauses? How can you minimise these?
- Did you lack any specialist vocabulary? If so, how did you get round this?
- How large a variety of structures did you use? For example, did you remember to use concessive clauses?

8 In groups of three, listen to each talk in turn. While Student A talks, Students B and C should listen. Student C should stop the talk after exactly two minutes and ask Student B one of these questions.

- What are the advantages of using tablets for educational purposes?
- To what extent do you think the printed book will remain in widespread use?
- If you had to read all text in an electronic form, would there be any drawbacks?

9 After 30 seconds, Student C should ask Student A one of the questions below.

- What do you think?
- Do you agree?
- How about you?

Part 2 Set text question: Review

Question 5 of Paper 2 Part 2 offers two options, a) and b) – one on each of the specified set texts. You may be asked to write a review, article, report, essay or formal letter. It is essential that you refer clearly to the text you have studied, including appropriate detail and possibly brief quotations. Make sure you answer the question: don't just narrate the plot. Every set text question will demand more than narration – for example, description, comparison or evaluation.

1 Read this exam task.

A magazine is producing a special collection of readers' reviews entitled 'The importance of distinct characters in novels'. You decide to send in a review of the set text you have read, in which you give relevant information on the main characters and evaluate how successfully the author differentiates these characters.

Write your review in 280–320 words.

2 Now read the answer opposite and choose a suitable sentence opener (A–G) to fit the spaces (1–6). There is one extra opener that does not belong anywhere.

- A However, it has to be said that
- B The author achieves this
- C Last but not least
- D Similarly
- E Much as Kneale has tried
- F Throughout the novel
- G At the same time, the book

'English Passengers' is a meticulously-researched historical novel chronicling an expedition to Tasmania in 1857, where the theories of Darwinian evolution are juxtaposed with the religious beliefs of the day, often in a comical way. 1  deals sensitively with the bigger historical picture of the tragic destruction of the Aboriginal islanders' way of life at the hands of white settlers, ex-convicts and religious 'do-gooders', who all in their separate ways contributed to the Aborigines' demise.

2 , events are narrated by a cast of some twenty characters, whose 'first-hand' accounts span fifty years and combine to give the reader a truly epic novel, that is rich in detail and variety.

3  largely through the varied use of language itself – from the formality of documents written by the island's governor, where official policy is revealed, to the base and harsh language used by convict Jack Harp. Shifty Captain Kewley incorporates words from his native Manx dialect into his vivid snapshots of the outward voyage, while the Reverend Geoffrey Wilson, the expedition's leader, has a predictably stiff style of narrating.

The pieces contributed by the expedition's doctor are written in scientific note-form, with judicious use of underlining to indicate his sinister concerns. This stylistic device, though hard to process at times, is most effective and develops as we learn more about Dr Potter's nefarious deeds. In the denouement, the notes become more truncated and you can almost see him underlining in rage.

4 , when Wilson goes mad, the author is able to use subtle changes in language to reflect his sorry state.

Perhaps the most difficult character to portray credibly through language is Peevay, the Aboriginal hero. 5  even here the author successfully adopts a distinct style, incorporating paradoxical expressions learned from settlers, such as 'tidings of joy'. 6 , the third expedition member Timothy Renshaw matures in the course of the novel and becomes the voice of reason and common sense. Helped by Peevay when abandoned in the wilderness, his awakening to the beauty of the land and decision to stay on the island could be seen as a final reconciliation.

3 In the review, the book is referred to in different ways:

*The pieces contributed by
In the denouement,*

Read these sentence openers and decide on their function, writing

B for reference to the book
E for evaluation
C for comparison.

- a Up to this point, B
- b In much the same way,
- c Eventually,
- d By and large,
- e By the same token,
- f Subsequent to this,
- g To a certain extent,
- h Within a matter of hours,
- i On balance,
- j As it turns out,
- k For the most part,

Now write six sentences about the set text you are studying, choosing some of these openers.

EXAMPLE: Up to this point, very little is known about the main character.

4 The review refers to the book as a meticulously researched historical novel. Using adverb–adjective compounds like this will demonstrate your range of language. Make further adverb–adjective collocations from lists A and B and combine them with a suitable noun from list C. Only the adverbs should be used more than once.

EXAMPLE: annoyingly paradoxical individual annoyingly trivial interpretation

A	B	C
annoyingly	accurate	characterisation
exquisitely	compelling	chronicle
hauntingly	detailed	depiction ingeniously	enigmatic	hero
intensely	impressive	images
painstakingly	intricate	individual subtly	moving	interpretation utterly	paradoxical	narrative
zealously	pompous	plot
	realistic	portrayal
	trivial	protagonist
	woven	storyline

EXAM ADVICE

- When answering a set text question, decide what language functions the question requires.
- List ideas for each paragraph.
- Decide on key information to include about the book.
- Note down brief quotations (only if they are relevant!).
- Vary your linking devices.
- Introduce the book in different ways.
- Use as wide a range of language as you can.

5 Using the advice above, write the review outlined in 1, referring to the set text you are studying. As a general rule, you should start a new paragraph for each character you introduce, but this will depend on the number of characters and level of detail you go into (see the review in 2 for guidance).

Use of English

1 For questions 1–8, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

MAPPING BIODIVERSITY

Preserving (0) ..... ORGANISMS ..... in museums is one way of retaining them for posterity, but most people agree that it would be nice to keep a few of them alive in the wild, too. At the moment, which species survive, which decline to threatened or even (1) ..... status and which succumb to extinction is something of a lottery.

WORLDMAP is easy-to-use software that identifies geographical patterns in diversity, (2) ..... and conservation priorities.

It can perform a range of specialist biological (3) ..... for countless numbers of species, in order to provide biodiversity data for research purposes.

The program divides the surface area of the world into cells, usually arranged in a (4) ..... grid. WORLDMAP can also predict the (5) ..... of a hitherto unobserved species being found in an area on the basis of its known distribution. Given the

(6) ..... of most records, that is a useful trick. Furthermore, it can select (7) ..... areas for preservation. These are not necessarily the cells with the highest individual biodiversity, but rather those which, together, (8) ..... what is preserved by picking places with the least overlapping species.

Writing

- 4 Improve the register and tone in this letter, in an attempt to persuade the managing director to take action.

To Andy, our esteemed MD

April 1

We, the hard-working nerds in the IT Department, want to propose some changes to the daily grind. As you know, we're really whizz at sorting out the company's computing problems and, let's face it, you couldn't survive without us. To guarantee a rapid response, we've always been willing to burn the midnight oil when the need arises. But no more, mate! If you want us to slave away like this, you're gonna have to provide us with better conditions, which we demand herewith.

Firstly, it is totally out of order to expect any of us to struggle to work on the bus. Lots of us hit our desks by 6.00 in the morning and most of the guys are still hanging around after the pubs have shut. We therefore insist that you cough up for five stretch limos to provide us with adequate door-to-door transport. The pay-off for you is obvious: increased productivity and goodwill.

And another thing, we are fed up with the rubbish served up in your so-called restaurant downstairs and want our own top-class chef and eatery, to be located on this floor. Give us two hours minimum for lunch, or else – we need a quick catnap before going back to our screens.

Thirdly, to be brutally honest, the money you pay round here is peanuts. How come you've just landed a fat bonus and we've got the big 'O'? Put your money where your mouth is! We're warning you, if you don't do something about it pronto, you won't see us for dust.

We look forward to hearing from you before midday. Get the message, you April fool?

Frank

Defining happiness

1 What makes you happy? Explain the meaning of these quotes and say which comes closest to your own views.

- 'Happiness is not being pained in body or troubled in mind.'
- 'A person is never happy except at the price of some ignorance.'
- 'The happiness of your life depends upon the quality of your thoughts.'
- 'Happiness resides not in possessions, and not in gold – happiness dwells in the soul.'
- 'You're happiest while you're making the greatest contribution.'

Listening

2 Before listening, check your understanding of these words by putting them into three meaning groups.

bliss	contagious	elation	ephemeral
euphoria	fleeting	infectious	invasive
momentary	rapture	transient	virulent

3 2 08 You will hear five short extracts in which different people are talking about the nature of happiness.

TASK ONE

For questions 1–5, choose from the list (A–H) which ingredient each speaker sees as contributing to happiness.

A intellectual stimulation	Speaker 1	<input type="text"/> 1
B domestic harmony	Speaker 2	<input type="text"/> 2
C spectacular surroundings	Speaker 3	<input type="text"/> 3
D financial security	Speaker 4	<input type="text"/> 4
E success at work	Speaker 5	<input type="text"/> 5
F physical fitness
G close friendships
H mental well-being

TASK TWO

For questions 6–10, choose from the list (A–H) which happy memory each speaker mentions.

A enjoying a cosy environment	Speaker 1	<input type="text"/> 6
B feeling at one with nature	Speaker 2	<input type="text"/> 7
C making a contribution to society	Speaker 3	<input type="text"/> 8
D achieving a goal as a team	Speaker 4	<input type="text"/> 9
E discovering a secret place	Speaker 5	<input type="text"/> 10
F receiving a valuable gift
G experiencing something new
H winning a tournament

While you listen, you must complete both tasks.

Idiom spot

2 08 Listen again for the following idioms and expressions and explain their meaning.

- a be on cloud nine (Speaker 1)
- b through rose-tinted spectacles (Speaker 2)
- c beyond my wildest dreams (Speaker 2)
- d in my book (Speaker 3)
- e put yourself on the line (Speaker 4)
- f feel under the weather (Speaker 4)
- g tip the balance (Speaker 5)

Choose four of the expressions above to use of situations 1–4.

- 1 In a roomful of people, Jack was the only one to stand up and challenge the speaker.
- 2 Fiona chooses to remember only the good things about her teenage years.
- 3 I think children should show respect for their elders.
- 4 They were undecided whether to take the day off, but then they saw the sun was shining.

Vocabulary

Metaphor

Style extra

In the recording, one speaker talks about infectious laughter, using the adjective metaphorically. The Cambridge English Corpus shows that many words to do with illness and health are used in this way.

- 4 Form collocates from the adjectives (list A) and nouns / noun phrases (list B) below. There may be more than one possible match.

A	B
bruised	bank balance
contagious	criticism
fatal	dose of scepticism
feverish	egos
healthy	flaw in the argument
jaundiced	loser
sick	sense of humour
sore	state of activity
	turnout of voters

- 5 Here are some sets of verbs that are often used metaphorically. Give each set a heading to reflect meaning and add any similar verbs.

EXAMPLE: break out, erupt, hurt, wound medical/health similar verb: ache

- a bloom, flourish, mushroom, spring up
  - b flow, ooze, ripple out, trickle
  - c burn out, flare up, ignite, smoulder
  - d blow up, break, rage, sweep
  - e dazzle, light up, shine, sparkle
  - f boil, bubble, simmer, stew
- 6 Make a noun phrase by combining an expression from list A at the top of the page with one from list B. Then use the phrase in your own sentence, continuing the theme with a suitable verb from 5.

EXAMPLE: A flash of wild inspiration sparked in her eyes.

But a word of warning – don't mix your metaphors! For example, it would sound odd to talk about a wave of sympathy igniting, because waves are not associated with fire.

A	B
a crop of	critical reviews
an epidemic of	feverish activity
a flash of	minor complaints
a glut of	public sympathy
an outbreak of	pure joy
a plague of	scandalous stories
a storm of	spontaneous laughter
a surge of	unfair publicity
a wave of	violent protests
a whirlwind of	wild inspiration

- 7 In this extract from My family and other animals, the writer and naturalist Gerald Durrell recalls his idyllic childhood on the island of Corfu. For questions 1–8, read the text and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

Gradually the magic of the island settled over us as gently and clingingly as pollen. Those days were (1) ....., each with a tranquility, a timelessness, about it, so that you (2) ..... it would never end. But then the dark skin of night would (3) ..... and there would be a fresh day waiting for us, glossy and colourful as a child's transfer, and with the same (4) ..... of unreality. In the morning, when I woke, the bedroom shutters were luminous and barred with gold from the rising sun. The (5) ..... morning air was full of the scent of charcoal from the kitchen fire, full of eager cock-crows, the distant (6) ..... of dogs, and the unsteady, melancholy (7) ..... of the goat-bells as the flocks were driven out to pasture. We ate breakfast, a leisurely and silent (8) ....., out in the garden, under the small tangerine trees.

- 1 A compatible B idyllic C spotless D picturesque
- 2 A wanted B yearned C wished D aspired
- 3 A hang back B draw in C peel off D spring up
- 4 A stain B shield C fleck D tinge
- 5 A heady B strong C infectious D robust
- 6 A bleat B yap C screech D purr
- 7 A song B hum C tune D buzz
- 8 A contest B incident C episode D affair

- 8 Where in the text does Durrell use similes and metaphor?

Think of a particular moment when you were utterly content. Where were you? What was happening around you? Describe the scene and explain how you felt, making use of metaphor.

- 1 The following lists relating to happiness summarise the views of the Greek philosopher Epicurus. How far do they still hold true today, in your opinion? Would you add anything in each column?

WHAT IS AND IS NOT ESSENTIAL FOR HAPPINESS
Natural and necessary	Natural but unnecessary	Neither natural nor necessary
Friends	Grand house	Fame
Freedom	Private baths	Power
Thought	Banquets
Food	Servants
Shelter	Fish, meat
Clothes

- 2 Read this text about Epicurus. For questions 1–8, think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space.

Life of Epicurus

Epicurus, who was born on the verdant island of Samos, took early (0) ..... TO ..... philosophy. When only 14, he started travelling, to learn from the likes of the Platonist Pamphilus. Finding himself at (1) ..... with much of this teaching, he decided to define his own philosophy of life. (2) ..... immediately set this philosophy apart from other lines of thought was its emphasis on sensual pleasure. (3) ..... , if any, philosophers had ever made admissions of this kind and Epicurus shocked many, not (4) ..... when he set up a school (5) ..... very aim was to promote happiness. Nevertheless, despite outrage and criticism, his teachings attracted support and spread (6) ..... afield, from Syria to Gaul. Even today, Epicurus's name lives (7) ..... in many languages in adjectival form – in English, 'Epicurean' signifies being dedicated to the pursuit of pleasure.

In fact, Epicurus drank water rather than wine, and usually restricted his diet to bread, vegetables and a palmful of olives. (8) ..... were the tastes of the man who, after rational analysis, had reached the striking conclusion that the essential ingredients of happiness were the most inexpensive, however elusive they might be.

- 3 Comment on the following statements, which illustrate various ways of making comparisons. You don't have to agree!
- I'm as happy now as I was at the age of 10.
  - I'd far rather spend time with close friends at home than be wined and dined at expensive restaurants.
  - I'd much sooner be a penniless student than a lonely millionaire.
  - Possessing wealth is nowhere near as important as being in good health.
  - Listening to recordings of live concerts is nothing like as exhilarating as taking part in an actual live event.
  - Watching a football match is not nearly as much fun as playing in one.
  - Going on holiday is by far the best remedy for a broken heart.
  - Relaxing by a warm fire is a good deal better than being out in a snowstorm.

4 Read sentences a and b. Then complete sentences c–h using similar comparative structures with your own ideas.

- a The sooner the country clears its debts, the better things will be.
- b The later we hold the party, the more people will be able to come.
- c The more possessions you own, the .....
- d The wider the gap between rich and poor, the .....
- e The ....., the less easy it will be to give them up.
- f The later ....., the worse .....
- g The higher ....., the harder .....
- h The more anxious ....., the .....

6 List all the synonyms you know for happy and decide which meaning from 5 is closest in each case. Then write an example sentence for each synonym, using the comparative or superlative form where possible.

EXAMPLE: exhilarated PLEASED

The more exhilarated you feel, the less you want to sleep!

7 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

- 1 Their mother was determined to visit Paris and nothing would stop her.
set
Their mother had ..... Paris and nothing would stop her.
- 2 Graham took back his words on noticing there were fresh strawberries on the menu.
tune

Exam spot

Remember the importance of reformulation – you will lose marks if you use words that occur in the texts. Think of synonyms you can use instead.

- 1 Use the pictures to help you define the term ‘quality of life’.

What other factors are involved besides the ones illustrated? Discuss your ideas with a partner.

- 2 These factors are often used to measure quality of life. Which did your discussion in 1 include?

climate	gender equality
life expectancy	political freedom
stability in relationships	job security

- 3 Look at this exam task.

- 4 Read the Exam spot and then read the sample answer on page 149. Underline any words and phrases that have been ‘lifted’ from the texts and rewrite them. Quoted terms do not need to be replaced. For example, it would be better to change the underlined parts of the first paragraph as follows.

In both cases, healthiness is seen as a crucial attribute, since it dictates whether someone can hold down a job, and therefore influences other ‘quality of life’ indicators.

Write an essay summarising and evaluating the key points from both texts. Use your own words throughout as far as possible, and include your own ideas in your answer.

The phrase ‘quality of life’ embraces a number of different aspects, including physical health, emotional well-being, material wealth, community life, political stability, job satisfaction, and even geography and climate. Only the most fortunate of individuals will have access to ‘perfect’ conditions in all categories, and the various quality-of-life index calculations are averaged-out statistics. Yet it could be argued that a person’s state of health determines their ability to work and benefit from community life, so is of prime importance. On the other hand, certain aspects are outside the individual’s control – political freedom, for example, or the local climate.

Every year, much media attention is given to ‘quality of life’, usually following the publication of reports indicating the best cities to live in, the most temperate world climates, the country with the safest economy, and so on. Such analyses are interesting, but how much use can the individual make of them? In spite of advances in mobility, it is unrealistic for most of us to emigrate to this year’s top country, nor should we have to take such a radical step. Everything starts at home – even those who struggle to make ends meet can enjoy a good quality of life providing they are healthy and supported by friends and family.

Both texts deal with the concept of 'quality of life' and consider which factors within this umbrella term are the most important in reality. In both cases, physical health is seen as being of prime importance, since it determines an individual's ability to work and will determine many of the other aspects too.

The first text gives an overview of the factors that go to make up a person's quality of life, mentioning health and well-being, social involvement, work, the political status quo and the local climate. Not only does it underline the fact that without good health, job satisfaction and an active and fulfilling role in the community are impossible, but also, it argues that some aspects cannot be changed – political background and freedom, for example.

The second text focuses on the annual phenomenon of quality-of-life indexes and, while viewing them as informative, questions the value of their having such prominence in the media. For most of us, it is academic which city in the world has the best quality of life, as we have no real opportunity to uproot our existence and rush to start a new life there. Nor is it necessary, argues the writer, as a good quality of life is still possible, provided that the individual is healthy and supported by friends and family.

While this may be true up to a point, it is nevertheless going to be far more difficult for people trapped in poverty to gain a quality of life equal to that of people at the other end of the wealth spectrum – especially in our materialist society, where possessions seem to count for so much and we are constantly encouraged to wish for more.

Idiom spot

In the second text, the idiom make ends meet is used. What does it mean?

Choose suitable idioms to match the cartoons below and then explain the meaning of all eight.

- cut corners
- down and out
- keep your head above water
- feel the pinch
- in the red
- on a shoestring
- tighten your belt
- a rough ride

Exam folder 9

Paper 3 Part 1 Multiple-choice questions

In Part 1 of the Listening paper you will hear three short extracts. There will be a mixture of monologues – only one person speaking – or a conversation between two, or possibly more, speakers. There are two questions for each extract with a choice of three answers for each question. You will hear each extract twice.

Here are some examples of the types of questions.

What does the speaker say about ...?

What do the speakers agree on?

What is the speaker comparing X to?

Why does the speaker say ...?

What is the speaker's opinion of ...?

How did the speaker feel about ...?

Normally in Part 1 there are three different extracts. Only two extracts are included here to give you an idea of what you might expect in the examination.

EXAM ADVICE

- You have 15 seconds to read the questions before you hear each extract. Make good use of this time.
- Use the first hearing to get a general idea of what the extract is about. The questions are in the order in which you will hear the answer on the recording. However, you sometimes need to hear the whole extract to answer some questions.
- Always keep the questions in mind when you answer. Some of the choices for each question may look correct, but not answer the question.
- The second time you hear the extract, mark your answer on your answer sheet.
- Always put an answer, even if you aren't sure. You have a 33% chance of getting it right.
- Points aren't deducted for wrong answers.

1 09 Read the Exam advice and then do the task below.

You will hear two different extracts. For questions 1–4, choose the answer (A, B or C) which fits best according to what you hear. There are two questions for each extract.

Extract One

You hear two people talking about a new album by a singer called Lisa Gray.

- 1 What does the man say about Lisa Gray?
A She's known to be unconventional.
B She's uninterested in fame and success.
C She's had to struggle throughout her career.
- 2 What do the speakers agree about?
A The album will be too commercial for some of her fans.
B The album is a radical departure from previous work.
C The album contains a mixture of musical genres.

Extract Two

You will hear a woman talking about a book of photographs by artist, Dorota Kowalska.

- 3 What does the speaker say about Dorota Kowalska?
A She's at her best portraying American working-class people.
B She insists she prefers working in Europe to the USA.
C She clearly feels little warmth for the USA.
- 4 What is the speaker's opinion of the photographs?
A The artist is mocking her subjects.
B The subject matter is in poor taste.
C The photos evoke apathy in the viewer.

Paper 3 Part 3 Multiple-choice questions

In Part 3 of the Listening paper, you will hear a conversation between two or more speakers. There are five questions, all in the order in which you hear the information you need to answer them. The five questions each have a choice of four answers. The questions are testing whether you can understand the speaker's opinion, what the speaker is saying generally or in detail and also what you can infer from the conversation. You will hear the conversation twice.

EXAM ADVICE

- You have one minute to read the questions and possible answers.
- Don't get stuck on one question. Make sure you are always reading ahead so that you don't get lost.
- For more advice on how to answer the questions, see the Exam advice box for Part 1.

2 10 Read the Exam advice and then do the task below.

You will hear two people, Darren and Helena, talking about Darren's new career. For questions 1–5, choose the answer (A, B, C, or D) which fits best according to what you hear.

- 1 When she first heard Darren had given up his job in the City of London, Helena
  - A thought it was just a temporary arrangement.
  - B worried about how he would manage financially.
  - C believed it would be easy for him to follow a new career.
  - D claimed she knew that this might happen.
- 2 Helena and Darren both agree that the voluntary sector
  - A shouldn't be seen as an easy option.
  - B is not as well organised as other sectors.
  - C employs fewer graduates than banking.
  - D prefers to take people on long-term contracts.
- 3 How did Darren react when he got his new job?
  - A He felt very pessimistic about his abilities.
  - B He felt able to tell ex-colleagues his true feelings.
  - C He suddenly got cold feet.
  - D He decided to accept the challenge.
- 4 How did Darren get on in his new environment?
  - A The slow pace got on his nerves at first.
  - B He felt rather patronised by some of his workmates.
  - C He fitted into the routine of things quite quickly.
  - D It made him less cynical about people's motives.
- 5 Darren is planning to continue in the voluntary sector because he believes
  - A he is temperamentally more suited to the work.
  - B he likes the slower pace.
  - C he feels he is making a difference.
  - D he prefers the shorter hours.

1 The statements below form part of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, adopted by the United Nations in 1948. How far are these statements adhered to in today's world?

- No one shall be held in slavery or servitude.
- No one shall be subjected to arbitrary arrest, detention or exile.
- Everyone has the right to a nationality.
- Everyone has the right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion.

Reading

2 You are going to read an extract from a book on human rights. Seven paragraphs have been removed from the extract. Choose from the paragraphs A–H the one which fits each gap (1–7). There is one extra paragraph which you do not need to use.

Values for a godless age

When the Berlin Wall came tumbling down in 1989 so did the plaster cast which had kept the idea of human rights in limbo. It was now free to evolve in response to the changing conditions of the late twentieth century.

1

Of course, in one sense, the quest for universal human rights standards after the Second World War was an early attempt to communicate across national boundaries, albeit a rather faltering endeavour, with its claims to universality challenged both in terms of authorship and content. More recently, a loosening of the reins of the human rights dialogue has ushered in wider debate.

2

Perhaps the best known of these is Amnesty International, established in 1961. Before Amnesty, there were very few organizations like it, yet now there are thousands operating all over the world. Whether campaigning for the protection of the environment or third-world debt relief, any such organization is engaged in the debate about fundamental human rights. And it is no longer just a soft sideshow.

3

The fact that strangers from different countries can communicate with each other through the worldwide web is having a similar effect in dealing a blow to misinformation. During one recent major human rights trial over sixty websites sprang up to cover the proceedings, while sales of the government-controlled newspaper in that country plummeted.

4

The effect of increased responsibility at this highest level has been to continually extend the consideration of who is legally liable, directly or indirectly, under international human rights law. In part, this is an acknowledgement that even individuals need to be held responsible for flagrant breaches of others' rights, whether these are preventing protesters from peacefully demonstrating or abusing the rights of children.

5

It has been noted that paradoxically, in such circumstances, it may be in the interests of human rights organizations to seek to reinforce the legitimacy and authority of the state, within a regulated global framework.

6

Part of the new trend in human rights thinking is therefore to include powerful private bodies within its remit. The International Commission of Jurists has recently explored ways in which international human rights standards could be directly applied to transnational corporations.

Whatever the way ahead, the lessons of the past must be learnt. Any world view or set of values which is presented as self-evident is ultimately doomed to failure. The case for human rights always needs to be made and remade. In a world where globalization too often seems like a modernized version of old-fashioned cultural imperialism, it is important to query the claim that human rights are universally accepted.

A The problem is that the growth of globalization makes the protection of nation states a pointless goal in certain circumstances. Transnational corporations with multiple subsidiaries operating in a number of countries simultaneously wield significant economic and political power and it is often extremely difficult for the state – both home and host governments – to exercise effective legal control over them.

B If the proliferation of pressure groups has raised the profile of the human rights debate, satellite television has reinforced much of the content of their campaigns. The fact that from our armchairs we can all see live what is happening to others around the world has had an enormous impact on the way the struggle for human rights is viewed. It would not be remotely believable to plead ignorance nowadays, for 24-hour news coverage from the world's hotspots reaches us all.

C This is, after all, a uniquely propitious time, as the values and language of human rights are becoming familiar to more and more people, who judge the merits or otherwise of political and economic decisions increasingly in human rights terms. Arguments seem fresh and appealing in many quarters where once they sounded weak and stale.

D On a global scale, it is not strong states that are the problem here but weak ones, as they fail to protect their citizens from private power – whether it is paramilitaries committing murder and torture or transnational corporations spreading contamination and pollution.

E One of the most significant of these is what has come to be called 'globalization', the collapsing of national boundaries in economic, political and cultural life. From the expanding role of the world's financial markets and the spread of transnational corporations to the revolution in communications and information technology, more and more areas of people's lives are affected by regional, international or transnational developments, whether they are aware of this or not.

F Not only must states not infringe rights, and enforce those rights which fall within their direct sphere (like providing a criminal justice system or holding fair elections), but they also have 'positive obligations' to uphold rights enshrined in human rights treaties, even when it is private parties which have violated them.

G The results of its investigations were published in 1999 in a unique pamphlet on Globalization, Human Rights and the Rule of Law. The issue to be faced is whether to treat these and other corporations as 'large para-state entities to be held accountable under the same sort of regime as states', or whether to look for different approaches to accountability 'that are promulgated by consumer groups and the corporations themselves'.

H No longer the preserve of representatives of nation states meeting under the auspices of the United Nations, a developing conversation is taking place on a global scale and involving a growing cast of people – for an increasing range of pressure groups now frame their aspirations in human rights terms.

3 How do you view the future for universal human rights? What role does the Internet play in social and political change? Will increasing globalisation lead to more or less freedom for the individual? Why?

4 Look back at the extract and find words or phrases which mean the same as a–f.

- a caught between two stages of development
- b a relatively weak attempt
- c a relaxing of the rules
- d a less important event
- e causing something or someone great difficulties
- f brief or scope

5 Replace these words and phrases in paragraphs A–H with suitable synonyms or phrases.

- a wield ... power (A)
- b proliferation (B)
- c raised the profile (B)
- d propitious (C)
- e infringe (F)
- f enshrined in (F)
- g promulgated by (G)
- h under the auspices of (H)

- 1 Should animals enjoy the same rights as humans? Outline your views with reference to the animal welfare campaigns shown.

- 2 Listen to this extract about the use of animals in medical research. Is the speaker for or against animal testing? Why?

The speaker used various modal verbs to express different functions. Here are two examples.
Animals must be used in order to trial new drugs and treatments safely. (obligation)
It could in fact be damaging to human health. (speculation)
 Before you do the exercises in the Corpus spot, turn to the Grammar folder to review the different functions modal verbs have.

pages 186–187

Corpus spot

As the Cambridge Learner Corpus shows, modal verbs often cause problems, even at Proficiency level. Correct any errors in these sentences. One sentence is correct.

- Animals could be kept in zoos, but they must to have a comfortable place to live in.
- I've written a few notes about things that may be changed if the campaign is to succeed.
- His dog ought to be registered because then they might have been able to trace it.
- Much more should have been done to bring this epidemic under control.
- You mustn't have been here last summer – the café only opened a month ago.
- I needn't have bought these batteries if I had known you were going to buy some too.
- If only we should live our lives again, knowing what we know now!
- It can't be possible for you to phone back later?

- 3 Choose the correct modal form in each of these sentences.

- I needn't have / shouldn't have gone out last night as I had so much work to do.
- You might have / needed to have rung me to say you'd missed the bus – I was worried sick.
- It must have / could have been a full three hours later when the ship finally docked.
- Legally, people mustn't / needn't vote in a general election if they don't want to.
- I'm sure I don't have to / mustn't remind you of the need for confidentiality.
- You really shouldn't / needn't cover up for him every time – you'll get yourself into trouble one day.
- Need / Ought* I to have let someone know about this earlier?
- Would / Might* you mind if I didn't give you a lift all the way home tonight?

4 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

1 You didn't spend enough time on this project.
put
You ought .....
hours on this project.

2 Factory farming was surely less humane before these guidelines were established.
prior
Factory farming must ..... of these guidelines.

3 I really admire people who are prepared to risk their job for the sake of their principles.
line
I really admire people who are prepared to ..... for the sake of their principles.

4 You should have spilled the beans about Lisa before now.
let
If only you could ..... secret before now.

5 It's time the organisation told the truth about the misuse of its funds.
straight
The organisation should set ..... its funds were misused.

6 Would you mind if I asked you to sign this petition?
raise
Would you ..... asking you to sign this petition?

5 For questions 1–8, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Mankind's intuition of freedom, and our (0) IDENTIFICATION of freedom with knowledge, sets us apart from animals. The animal's grasp of freedom is (1) ..... in comparison, being only the freedom to respond to external stimuli. The nearest creature to us on the (2) ..... tree of life, the chimpanzee, cannot retain an image for a sufficient length of time to be able to reflect on it. So animal life is largely a matter of conditioned reflexes, performed in an (3) ..... present; in short, animals are little more than machines with consciousness.	IDENTIFY

Listening and Speaking

- 1 Identify what aspect of freedom – or the lack of it – is shown in the three pictures A–C, using some of these words and phrases.

civil disobedience    political regime free speech              sweatshop child labour

- 2  12 Now listen to the first stage of a Speaking Test, Part 2, based on these pictures. Do both candidates do what is required? Could the discussion have been more balanced? If so, how?

- 3  13 Listen to the second stage of the same task. What two additional aspects of 'freedom' do the candidates decide to include?

Pronunciation

4  14 Read the Exam spot and then listen to utterances a–f taken from the recording. Notice how the speakers stress certain words and vary their intonation.

- a Anyway, what about picture A?
- b I didn't say they succeeded.
- c Looking at picture B, I suppose it's illustrating the rights of the individual, isn't it?
- d Yes, that's an important point – you don't have that freedom of choice everywhere.
- e Speaking purely for myself, I'd want to include something on education.
- f I'm not sure that's strictly about freedom, though.

Exam spot

Pronunciation, including stress and intonation, is assessed in Paper 4. It is important that what you say has some rhythm and flows as connected speech. Stress important content words and remember to vary your intonation according to whether you are asking a question, agreeing with something or contrasting information. Don't worry if you have problems pronouncing individual sounds – what is important is the overall effect, which must be easy to understand.

5 Now read this task, which is based on the same set of photos.

Imagine that all these photographs have been entered for an award: Most powerful image in journalism. Talk about the message that each picture conveys and decide which one should win the award. You have three minutes for this.

Think quickly of one or two points to make about each picture. When you are both ready to start, note the time. Speak for the full three minutes. Remember to give your partner a chance to speak!

6 For questions 1–8, read the text below and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

Social media – a toolkit for greater freedom?

In the 21st century, the revolution may not be televised – but recent experience suggests it is likely to be tweeted, blogged, texted and organised on Facebook. After (1) ..... more than 3 million tweets, gigabytes of YouTube content and thousands of blogs, a new study finds that social media played a (2) ..... role in shaping political debates during the Arab Spring. Conversations about revolution often (3) ..... major events, and social media carried inspiring stories of protest across international borders (4) .....

During the week before former Egyptian president Hosni Mubarak's resignation, for example, the total (5) ..... of tweets from Egypt – and around the world – about political change in that country ballooned from 2,300 a day to 230,000 a day. Videos (6) ..... protest and political commentary went viral – the top 23 videos received nearly 5.5 million (7) ..... . And the amount of content (8) ..... online by opposition groups increased dramatically.

Writing folder 9

Part 2 Article

Writing folder 5 also dealt with the article task, considering aspects of style and ways of holding the reader's attention. This Writing folder focuses on sophistication of language and writing an article for a specific audience.

- 1 Read the exam task below. What is the intended readership of the article? What style would you expect as a result?

An academic journal has invited its readers to contribute to a series of articles on new technology and personal freedom. You decide to submit an article describing the effects that new technology, such as the Internet, social networking sites and mobile phones, has had on people's lives and explaining whether these changes have led to more or less freedom. You should also evaluate how positive the changes are for society.

Write your article.

- 2 Read this sample answer and decide whether the content is relevant to the task. Then underline any inconsistencies in style that you notice.
- 3 Tick the boxes that apply to the sample answer.
  - Complex ideas are communicated convincingly.
  - Style is consistently appropriate for the readership.
  - Text is a well-organised, coherent whole.
  - Errors only occur in less common words and may be slips.
  - Grammatical forms lack control and complexity.
  - Choice of vocabulary generally shows sophistication and precision.

HANG ON TO YOUR RIGHTS!

The prevalence of mobile communication devices together with the widespread use of social networking and the Internet have altered our way of life fundamentally. This article weighs up their impact on individual freedom and assesses whether the outcomes are really that great.

I think the big plus with Smartphones and tablets is that friends and family are always contactable. Parents need not be concerned for the welfare of their teenage children, as they can keep track of them. This may be beneficial to the older generation, but I think it imposes unfair limits on the liberty of their kids.

The downside of mobile devices from the working adult's standpoint is that they can be reached 24/7 and the distinction between work and home life becomes blurred. This again places constraints upon the individual, who has fewer opportunities to shut out the stress of everyday life.

At the same time, the Internet gives us the ability to control our lives, right? From booking a holiday to selecting a new home, everything can be done direct, without any middleman restricting what is on offer. So that is an example of greater freedom – the freedom of choice.

As for social networking, the chance to share ideas and communicate more effectively means that nobody need feel alone in the modern world. Furthermore, the role played by social media in disseminating information under less tolerant political regimes shows how networking sites can be used to help us out, contributing to profound social change.

However, I think the big snag of all this is an inevitable erosion of privacy. People seem happy to display their innermost thoughts and aspirations in a way that would have been unheard of in the previous century, but at what cost? It is impossible to turn the clock back, yet it must be acknowledged that through social media, restrictions have been placed on individual freedom, which society at large may come to regret.

- 4 Rewrite the parts of the answer you underlined in 2, using these words and phrases to help you. Correct any slips and decide on a more suitable title.

unequivocally advantageous (paragraph 1)
the main asset of; offspring (paragraph 2)
one drawback; at all times (paragraph 3)
it is undeniable that (paragraph 4) for the greater good (paragraph 5)
the adverse impact (paragraph 6)

- 5 A good way of demonstrating sophistication in vocabulary selection is to draw on your knowledge of word families. Find words in the article that are related to the verbs in a–h. These occur in text order.

a prevail	d constrain	g aspire
b contact	e tolerate	h restrict
c benefit	f erode

- 6 Look at the word family for the verb tolerate, which is taken from the English Vocabulary Profile. All of these words are within the level of C2 learners. Check your understanding of the five words in italics by using them to complete sentences a–e.

Word family

Nouns: intolerance, tolerance

Verbs: tolerate

Adjectives: intolerable, intolerant, tolerant

- a Canada has a very ..... and inclusive attitude to incomers and a great track record of entrepreneurship.
- b The issue of same-sex marriage still has the power to polarise views and what is remarkable in this battle is how deeply each side feels itself a victim of the other's .....
- c Sometimes, if a situation is ....., walking away is the only way to cool things down.
- d The researchers give some possible reasons for the decline in juvenile violence, such as the growth of community policing, less cultural ..... of violence, and more aggressive policies to regulate firearms.
- e The nation is somewhat unfairly portrayed as an inward-looking society that is manifestly ..... of minorities.

EXAM ADVICE

- Read the question carefully to decide on an appropriate style.
- Think of a title that will be suitable for the readership.
- Plan the content of your article before you start writing.
- Decide whether it is appropriate to use headings for the various sections of the article.
- Include an introduction that outlines the article's coverage and ties in with the title.
- Order the paragraphs logically, following your plan.
- Make sure your ideas are expressed effectively and are well linked.
- Summarise your main idea in a conclusion.
- Use a range of structures in complex sentences.
- Demonstrate your knowledge of vocabulary to the full.
- Check your answer for any slips you have made in spelling or grammar.

- 7 Read the exam task and use the mind map to help you plan your ideas. Then write an article of 280–320 words, following the Exam advice and using vocabulary from this Writing folder and Unit 18.

An international research body is publishing a book entitled Freedom in modern society and has asked for contributions from around the world. You decide to submit an article for the book. You should describe the current situation in your country with regard to education, employment and family life and explain what aspects of freedom an individual has the right to expect. You should also evaluate whether there are too many limits on personal freedom nowadays.

Write your article.

Speaking

- 1 Why do you think the topic of ghosts, vampires and werewolves has been popular in fiction for many years, and more recently, in films? What evidence is there for the existence of the paranormal?

Vocabulary

- 2 Work with a partner and look at the adjectives below. Decide which word is the odd one out in each group. Justify your decision.

a naïve	sceptical	ingenuous	simple
b gullible	derisive	credulous	trusting
c cynical	scornful	apathetic	contemptuous
d sensitive	sensible	susceptible	suggestible
e nosy	curious	inquisitive	humble
f upright	immature	irresponsible	disrespectful
g pushy	eccentric	persistent	assertive
h pragmatic	resourceful	ingenious	inventive
i tactful	diplomatic	impulsive	discreet

Which of the words above might you use to describe someone who believes in ghosts? Use an English–English dictionary to help you.

Listening

- 3   You will hear a radio programme about ghosts. For questions 1–9, complete the sentences with a word or short phrase.

Athenodorus was disturbed by the noise made by (1) ..... knocking against each other.

Athenodorus was no longer bothered by the ghost after a new (2) ..... took place.

The ghost of a loved one in trouble is referred to by the speaker as a ‘ (3) ..... ’.

It has often been the case that people mistake a (4) ..... for a ghost.

Harry Martindale was a (5) ..... by trade.

Harry had placed his (6) ..... on the spot where a Roman road used to be.

The soldier’s head was level with Harry’s (7) .....

Harry said that the soldiers badly needed a (8) .....

Harry described the soldiers’ weapons as looking like a (9) .....

4 What do you think about Harry's experience? Do you think it has the ring of truth about it or not? Why? / Why not?

Style extra

In the listening passage, what was described as 'rattling' and 'murmuring'?

Words like these are called onomatopoeic words because they seem to sound like their meaning.

Below are verbs connected with types of sound. Using an English-English dictionary, decide what you would use these words to describe.

EXAMPLE: howl

the noise made by an unhappy dog, also by the wind

creak	rumble	slap	hiss	drip tinkle	crunch	slam	growl	peal
squelch	slash	click	screech	slither

Complete the sentences below with one of the verbs above.

- The stairs ..... as she tiptoed up to her room.
- The farmer's shoe ..... as he pulled it out of the mud.
- Hooligans have ..... my car tyres with a knife.
- The snake ..... across the floor.
- You always know when the postman comes because he ..... across the gravel.
- I was kept awake last night by the tap .....
- The glass ..... as it broke on the floor.
- Steam ..... as it came out of the pipe.

Write a paragraph about one of the following, using some of the verbs above to give a suitable atmosphere.

- Alone in a haunted house
- The Titanic sinking
- Home alone in a storm

5 For questions 1–8, read the text below and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

POLTERGEISTS

Poltergeists have always been with us; there are (1)..... cases as far back as AD 530, and from all parts of the world. The German word poltergeist means (2)..... 'noisy spirit', and that describes the behaviour of this phenomenon very well. Among its manifestations are banging noises, things being thrown around, furniture being (3)..... and other destructive behaviour; but it also (4)..... itself in other, quieter ways, such as hiding things or writing messages. It is seen as a mischievous spirit because that is what the behaviour suggests; a disembodied spirit that enjoys upsetting people.

It is clear that many poltergeist activities do not follow the rules (5)..... by science; things move without being touched, objects move slowly through the air, solid objects pass through other solid objects, (6)..... fires occur, water appears from nowhere, and so on. It is possible that these paranormal events are (7)..... by powers and energies we have not yet recognised, but which everyone has the (8)..... to use.

- 1 Work in a group. Decide where to put the adverbs or adverbial phrases in the following sentences.
- I went home. (yesterday, on foot)
  - She walked to where another coach was waiting. (up the hill, briskly, later, luckily)
  - I was in the mood to go swimming. (hardly, last night)
  - He is lying. (of course, still)
  - Stephen spoke to me. (the other day, in a friendly way, in fact)
  - It rained. (non-stop, all day, heavily, strangely enough)
  - People hide things of value. (apparently, in the attic, rarely)
  - She performed the dance. (far, slowly, too)
  - I think you should get out of the house. (to be honest, more often)
  - I saw the comet. (only, in the sky, yesterday)

 pages 187–188

- 2 Put the sentences, or parts of sentences, in order. The last word of each sentence is given in bold and capital letters are given. Then put the sentences in order to make an extract from an article about how Uluru, or Ayers Rock, in Australia came to be created. You will also need to add punctuation.

EXAMPLE: central a or Ayers huge Uluru mound sandstone Rock is in Australia ...
Uluru, or Ayers Rock, is a huge sandstone mound in central Australia ...

- tells a Another terrible after how battle ...
- originally One Uluru legend that a was states lake.
- ... that been to the for Aboriginal sacred has hundreds people of years.
- tell Earth paintings Many Aboriginal important stories.

- ... at to Earth rose up the blood-coloured revolt the form the great bloodshed in rock.
- in that was made They by it spirits the believe 'Dreamtime'...

Corpus spot

Correct the mistakes in the word order of adverbs that exam candidates have made, making any other changes necessary. Two sentences are correct.

- He slumped into the nearby velvet armchair, holding tightly his briefcase in his hands.
- Statistically looked at, however, the centre has attracted more people, spending more money than before.
- Being rather into contemporary than old-fashioned art I don't find the good old Tate Britain a place I would visit too often.
- A lot of people actually do travel abroad, but apparently only a few return home with more knowledge and better understanding.
- I have always wanted to remember perfectly every movie I see and every book I read.
- It goes without saying that seldom you will see a very shy person wearing a bright orange shirt.
- Kerry is a very green county: you hardly can find a road where two cars pass each other.
- Most of us are aware of the fact that not always is this solution economically viable.
- Before he appeared on the music scene, there hardly existed 'Pop' music.
- Oddly enough, she never seems to be really angry and perhaps that is the reason why I like confiding in her.

- It is possible to change most adjectives into an adverb with the addition of -ly, for example happy to happily.
- Some adjectives do not have an adverb, for example friendly, lonely, silly. In this case you need to use an adverb phrase, for example He looked at her in a friendly way.
- Some adverbs have the same form as the adjective, for example hard. He works hard. He's a hard worker.
- Some adverbs may have two forms – one which looks like an adjective and the other with -ly. There is usually a difference in meaning.

3 Use one of the words from the box to complete each sentence below.

hard	hardly	short	shortly	right	rightly high	highly	late	lately	wrong	wrongly

- I ..... ever see her nowadays – she's so busy.
- Sally thought very ..... indeed of the gypsy's fortune-telling powers.
- The interviewer ..... claimed that the house was haunted.
- Sue thought long and ..... about whether to take part in the experiment.
- Tell Marje I'll see her .....
- You've done this calculation .....
- They were just saying that they hadn't seen you .....
- The car turned ..... round and went back the way it came.
- The article stopped ..... of accusing anyone of a hoax.

4 For questions 1–8, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Carrying out a ghost hunt

(0) ..... SHOULD ..... a visit to a house convince you that there may be something worth investigating, follow these simple steps. There is much you can do in the way of preliminary research before you (1) ..... any serious attempt to (2) ..... out any practical investigation. Documents devoted to the area can often be (3) ..... interest and a visit to the local museum will be invaluable. Maps can also provide information on the whereabouts of underground water. Water running underground through streams, old sewers and so (4) ..... beneath or close to the foundations of a house may subject it to spasmodic thrusts. (5) ..... the water builds up, such jolts cause objects in the house to move, increasing the general strain on the house, (6) ..... produce noises that sound eerie at night. Such possibilities have to be (7) ..... into account, depending on the reported paranormal activity. In (8) ..... event, knowledge of previous buildings in the area may produce a clue to any apparitions seen.

1 Read these facts about two former American presidents, Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy.

Abraham Lincoln was elected to Congress in 1846. John F. Kennedy was elected to Congress in 1946.

Abraham Lincoln was elected President in 1860. John F. Kennedy was elected President in 1960.

Both were particularly concerned with civil rights.

Both Presidents were shot on a Friday. Both were shot in the head with one bullet.

Both were rumoured to be killed in a conspiracy. Neither was confirmed to be a conspiracy.

Both successors were named Johnson. Andrew Johnson, who succeeded Lincoln, was born in 1808. Lyndon Johnson, who succeeded Kennedy, was born in 1908.

Some sceptics say that you could take any two famous people and find a number of similar-type coincidences between them. The only problem with that theory is that there really haven't been any listings of such comparisons. And certainly none has been as extensive as the Lincoln–Kennedy similarities.

Do you think this is pure coincidence or do you think there is more to it than that?

2 Can you explain the following expressions? Have you any experience of the situations they would be used for?

- Talk of the devil!
- To have a guardian angel
- It's a small world
- To have second sight
- Female intuition
- A feeling of déjà vu
- A sixth sense

3 Read the texts below.

Text 1

Coincidence or evidence of #### the paranormal?

An investigation of coincidences should be primarily designed to get at the truth, or at least make progress towards it. The moment that chance ceases to be a convincing explanation, uneasiness sets in. Most people are embarrassed to speak out in case they are thought of as eccentrics. Their experiences may be commonplace enough – the occasional precognitive dream; a feeling of déjà vu or thinking of somebody a moment before they ring up – but they still feel the need for anonymity.

But a surprising number of people who clearly regard themselves as free from irrational fears are ready to admit that even mundane coincidences can be disturbing.

Text 2

a reasonable EXPLANATION?

It is in the imagery of sight, hearing, touch, smell or temperature that paranormal cognition often emerges into the conscious mind. There may be no more than a sudden impression that something has happened, even no more than an unaccountable impulse to act; to cancel a seat on a flight which will shortly crash, for example. Even now, of course, such happenings are often dismissed as superstitious nonsense. In the same way, the report that the inhabitants of the island of St Kilda only got colds when a ship came in was said to be contrary to all common sense by critics in the seventeenth century, only to be accepted as a statement of fact when the germ theory of disease was established in the nineteenth.

4 Look at the following words from the texts. What part of speech is each word in the text? What other forms of the word are possible?

Text 1	Text 2
Speak out	conscious
anonymity	impression
disturbing	dismissed

5 Use an appropriate form of the words in capitals to complete the sentences.

- a He is a very ..... critic of what he calls ‘paranormal geeks’. SPEAK
- b The newspaper article was ..... of the possibility of ESP (Extra-Sensory Perception). DISMISSED
- c Her one wish after her experience was to remain ..... ANONYMITY
- d There was a rumour of some sort of a ..... at the cemetery last night. DISTURBING
- e Children of primary school age are very ..... and tend to believe what they are told. IMPRESSION
- f You may not be aware of things happening but your ..... probably registers events. CONSCIOUS

6 Look at the essay below, which is an attempt at the following exam task.

Write an essay summarising and evaluating the key points from both texts. Use your own words throughout as far as possible, and include your own ideas in your answers. Write your answer in 240–280 words.

The essay is a poor attempt. With a partner, decide what you think needs to be improved and then rewrite it so that it fully answers the question.

The two texts contrast the pros and cons of coincidences, whether they are evidence of the paranormal or can be explained on a purely rational level. Text 1 argues that people are often embarrassed by unusual happenings and prefer not to tell anyone about it. If they think of a person just before that person rings up then they don't tell them because they are worried that that person will think they are stupid.

My feeling is that it is wrong to feel embarrassed as, in fact, there is always a rational explanation for nearly everything that happens.

Text 2 says that we shouldn't believe in superstition because most things can be explained by science. Everyone thought that the people on St Kilda got colds for some paranormal reason when a ship came in. In fact, it was easily explained once the theory of germs was discovered.

I totally agree with this as I think that science is showing us new things all the time. During my short life many things have been discovered which we would never have dreamt of in the past – e.g. the mobile phone, etc.

Exam folder 10

Paper 4 Speaking

The standard format for the Speaking paper is for there to be two candidates and two examiners. It is also possible to have three candidates and two examiners.

One examiner, called the interlocutor, asks the questions while the other only listens. Both examiners will assess you. They are looking for accuracy of grammar, a wide and appropriate range of vocabulary and the ability to express opinions and abstract ideas. Your pronunciation should be clear and you should be able to interact well with your partner(s).

There are three parts to the test and it lasts for 16 minutes (24 minutes for groups of three). Part 1 is two minutes (three minutes for groups of three), Part 2 is four minutes (six minutes for groups of three) and Part 3 lasts for 10 minutes (15 minutes for groups of three).

In Part 1 you will be encouraged by the interlocutor to talk about yourself and give some personal opinions. In Part 2 you and the other candidate have a decision-making task consisting of visuals (up to seven pictures or photos) and/or a written prompt. In Part 3 you will have the chance to speak for about two minutes on a topic given to you and then have a discussion with the other candidate, developing the topic you have been given.

EXAM ADVICE

- Don't worry if you think you do badly in one part of the test. You are assessed on the complete test.
- If the other candidate is better than you, or not as good, you shouldn't worry. You are assessed on what you do, not in relation to the other candidate.
- It's important to show sensitivity to the other candidate during the test. This means allowing the other candidate to speak and responding to what they say.
- Remember this is your opportunity to show you can speak English – use it!
- Do ask if you are unclear about what you have to do.

Do this complete Speaking test with a partner, taking it in turns to ask and answer the following typical questions. (Remember that in the exam the interlocutor will be asking the questions.)

Part 1

Ask each other these questions.

Questions for Student A to ask Student B

- Are you working or studying at the moment?
- How do you spend your leisure time?
- What would be your ideal job?

Questions for Student B to ask Student A

- How do you travel to work/college every day?
- What are your plans for the future?
- How important are computers in your life at the moment?

Part 2

Here are some photos of useful inventions. Look at pictures A and E and talk together about whether you could live without them. You have about one minute to do this.

Now look at all the pictures. Imagine that an exhibition is going to take place on the theme of 'Essential Inventions'. All these objects are to be included. Talk together about the importance of the inventions shown in the pictures. Then suggest two other inventions you would like to see included in the exhibition.

You have about three minutes to do this.

Part 3

In this part of the test you have to speak by yourself for about two minutes. You should listen carefully while your partner is speaking because you will need to comment afterwards.

Both students should look at Student A's card. There is a question written on it and Student A has to give his/her opinion on it. There are some ideas on the card for you to use if you like.

Student A

How has life changed in the past hundred years?

- work
- education
- family life

Student B is now asked a question. Do you think marriage is as important today as in the past?

Student A is then asked what they think about this topic.

Now the roles are reversed and Student B has the chance to speak, using the prompts below if he or she wishes.

Student B

What changes do you foresee in the future?

- accommodation
- fashion
- transport

Student A is now asked a question. Does the future worry you at all?

Student B is now asked to comment on this topic.

To finish the test both candidates have to talk about changes to our lives in general. This section lasts about four minutes.

Discuss together the following questions.

- What can we do to make the world a better place to live in?
- Are we losing touch with the natural world?
- Are people becoming less important than machines?

Speaking

1 What do you think about these types of comedy?

- slapstick
- political satire
- stand-up
- farce
- black comedy

Reading

2 Read this extract from a book by the American writer Bill Bryson, who is renowned for his dry sense of humour. It was written after the writer and his family moved back to the USA after living in the UK. His wife is English.

What impression does he give you of life in the USA?

How to have fun at home

My wife thinks nearly everything about American life is wonderful. She loves having her groceries bagged for her. She adores free iced water and book-matches. She thinks home-delivered pizza is a central hallmark of civilization.

5 I haven't the heart to tell her that waitresses in the States urge everyone to have a nice day.

Personally, while I am fond of America and grateful for its many conveniences, I am not quite so slavishly uncritical. Take the matter of having your groceries bagged
10 for you. I appreciate the gesture, but when you come down to it what does it actually achieve except give you an opportunity to stand there and watch your groceries being bagged? It's not as if it buys you some quality time. I don't want to get heavy here, but given the choice between free 15 iced water at restaurants and, let us say, a national health service, I have to say my instinct is to go with the latter.

However, there are certain things that are so wonderful in American life that I can hardly stand it myself. Chief among these, without any doubt, is the garbage disposal.

20 A garbage disposal is everything a labour-saving device should be and so seldom is – noisy, fun, extremely hazardous, and so dazzlingly good at what it does that you cannot imagine how you ever managed without one. If you had asked me eighteen months ago what the prospects
25 were that shortly my chief hobby would be placing assorted objects down a hole in the kitchen sink, I believe I would have laughed in your face, but in fact it is so.

I have never had a garbage disposal before, so I have been learning its tolerances through a process of trial and 30 error. Chopsticks give perhaps the liveliest response (this is not recommended, of course, but there comes a time with every piece of machinery when you just have to see what it can do), but cantaloupe rinds make the richest, throatiest sound and result in less 'down time'. Coffee grounds
35 in quantity are the most likely to provide a satisfying

'Vesuvius effect', though for obvious reasons it is best not to attempt this difficult feat until your wife has gone out for the day, and to have a mop and stepladder standing by. The most exciting event with a garbage disposal, of course, is when it jams and you have to reach in and unclog 40 it, knowing that at any moment it might spring to life and abruptly convert your arm from a useful grasping tool into a dibber. Don't try to tell me about living life on the edge.

Now basements I know because I grew up with one. Every American basement is the same. They all have a 45 funny smell – a combination of old magazines, camping gear that should have been aired and wasn't, and something to do with a guinea pig named Mr Fluffy that escaped down a central heating grate six months ago and has not been seen since (and presumably would now be better called 50 Mr Bones).

Occasionally, especially in starter homes, you will find that some young gung-ho dad has converted the basement into a playroom for the children, but this is always a 55 mistake, as no child will play in a basement. This is because no matter how loving your parents, no matter how much you would like to trust them, there is always the thought that they will quietly lock the door at the top of the stairs and move to Florida. No, basements are simply and 60 inescapably scary; that's why they always feature in spooky movies, usually with a shadow of Joan Crawford carrying an axe thrown on the far wall. That may be why even dads don't go down there very often.

I could go on and on cataloguing other small, unsung glories of American household life – refrigerators that 65 dispense iced water and make their own ice-cubes, walk-in closets, electrical sockets in bathrooms, but I won't. I'm out of space and anyway Mrs B has just gone out to do some shopping and it has occurred to me that I have not yet seen what the disposal can do with a juice carton. I'll get back to 70 you on this one.

3 For questions 1–6, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which you think fits best according to the text.

- 1 In the first paragraph, what does Bill Bryson imply about his wife?
  - A She has very poor taste in food.
  - B She is only happy so long as she can get things for nothing.
  - C She is only pretending to be uncritical of the American way of life.
  - D She is relatively unsophisticated.
- 2 What is Bill's reaction to having his groceries bagged and getting iced water?
  - A He feels that the country hasn't quite got its priorities right.
  - B He would prefer to pay less and pack his own groceries.
  - C He thinks that service could be even better in American shops and restaurants.
  - D He is of the opinion that Americans waste a lot of time unnecessarily.
- 3 Why does Bill enjoy using the garbage disposal?
  - A It fulfils his notion of what a household gadget should be.
  - B He has plenty of free time to experiment now he has moved back to the States.
  - C He is finding it much easier to use than he thought he would.
  - D It devours anything you put in it without any fuss.
- 4 What impression do you get of Bill when he talks about the garbage disposal unit?
  - A He is irritated that the unit is so potentially dangerous.
  - B He is keen to help around the house and will happily mend the disposal unit for his wife.
  - C He likes to experiment with it without fear of interruption.
  - D He thinks the garbage disposal unit should take a wider variety of garbage.
- 5 According to Bill, basements often
  - A make people feel intimidated.
  - B remind people of frightening incidents from their childhood.
  - C make people want to start competing to see who can make the best conversion.
  - D are a source of argument in families.
- 6 In describing his current home in the USA, Bill seems
  - A quite critical.
  - B fairly effusive.
  - C sometimes nostalgic.
  - D quietly indignant.

4 Find these expressions in the text. In your own words, explain what the writer means by each of them. (Sometimes you will need to explain the writer's choice of words.)

- a I don't want to get heavy here (lines 13–14)
- b a satisfying 'Vesuvius effect' (lines 35–36)
- c and presumably would now be better called Mr Bones (lines 50–51)
- d some young gung-ho dad (line 53)
- e other small, unsung glories of American household life (lines 64–65)
- f I'll get back to you on this one (lines 70–71)

5 Did you find the extract funny? Why? / Why not?

A man's car had broken down, so he stopped the next car that came down the street.
 'What's the problem?' asked the driver of the second car.
 'I need some help,' said the driver of the first car. 'My car has broken down and I must get it looked at.'
 'I can't help you,' said the driver of the second car. 'I'm not a mechanic. I'm a chiroprapist.'
 'In that case,' said the first driver, 'you can give me a tow.'

1 The joke above is a play on words. Can you explain it?

The first driver wants to have his car looked at. What does this imply?

2 Read the information about have and get in the Grammar folder and complete the following sentences.

- a Aunt Paula won't ..... her son criticised by anyone.
- b I'll ..... the dinner made if you set the table.
- c Trevor ..... his clothes covered in oil when he tried to mend his bike.
- d We ..... the TV and video stolen in the burglary last month.
- e Mr Johnson always ..... his windows cleaned by Jack.
- f I couldn't ..... the door unlocked with my key this morning.

3 In his book, Bill Bryson says he 'could go on and on', meaning he could continue indefinitely. The sentences below all contain a phrasal verb with go.

Fill in the missing particle or particles in each sentence.

- a Last winter everyone in the house went ..... flu.
- b Sue didn't normally go ..... competitions but thought she might win this time.
- c At least £500 went ..... museum entry fees last time we had a holiday.
- d The police went ..... the evidence very carefully.
- e Would you mind going ..... some eggs?
- f The boys sat on the beach and watched the tide go .....
- g They timed the fireworks to go ..... at midnight.
- h Tamsin's shoes didn't really go ..... her jeans.
- i Not many people go ..... basic necessities in this country any more.
- j The milk went ..... because Tim forgot to put it back in the fridge.

Now match each phrasal verb above with its meaning below.

be spent on =	explode =
ebb =	match =
fetch =	go sour =
enter =	examine =
become ill with =	manage without =

4 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given (as part of an expression with go). Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

- 1 Penny Stone has become really self-important since she was promoted.
gone
 Getting a ..... head.

- 2 Paul couldn't stop thinking about the argument he had had with his brother.
over
Paul ..... mind the argument he had had with his brother.

Corpus spot

With a partner, correct the mistakes in the following sentences. One sentence is correct. The rest all contain a variety of different common student errors.

- a Being a wet evening, I stayed at home.
- b We would like to know all what has happened.
- c He already is here.
- d Only by listening intently, you will hear it singing.
- e It would be easier to decide if my son would be here.
- f I have past my exam this summer.
- g It's worth to be alive on such a lovely day.
- h My family consists in six people.
- i That is a mistake I do often.
- j Your hair needs cutting badly.
- k I suggest to do it immediately.
- l This team is the best of the two.
- m He is too honest a man to take that.
- n My informations aren't up to date.
- o I am wanting to meet you for a long time.
- p I congratulate you to have got married.
- q I wish it stopped raining.
- r You can eat as soon as the dinner will be ready.
- s It's a five miles journey.
- t A man came into the compartment to control the tickets.

- 6 Have you ever had an embarrassing moment when you made a faux pas or put your foot in it? Talk about it with a partner.

- 1 How would you describe someone who is eccentric? Do you know anyone who could be called eccentric?

Eccentrics can be extreme in the exuberance with which they express their sense of humour. The way normal people regard the eccentric often depends upon what they find funny. Read this description of the antics of an eccentric.

'His mildest kind of practical joke is to push a dish of meringue trifle into the face of a lady guest at a smart dinner party in his home, having first asked her to smell it to see if it is 'off'. There is an oubliette under one of his dining room chairs, and any boring guest is seated over it and dropped into the wine cellar when he can stand no more. His coup de grâce was the miniature bomb that he planted inside his son's birthday cake, which the boy detonated by blowing on the candles, covering all his little friends with icing. The man's long-suffering wife had to clean them all up, then explain and apologise to their parents after the party.'

Would you find someone like this funny or irritating?

- 2  16 You will hear a discussion in which a student, Terry, is talking to his psychology lecturer, Dr Morris, about a new book on eccentricity.

For questions 1–5, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which fits best according to what you hear.

- 1 Terry was surprised to read that
  - A many famous people were eccentric.
  - B eccentrics live longer than average.
  - C eccentricity isn't a mental illness.
  - D little research has been done on eccentricity.
- 2 What does Dr Morris say about a definition of eccentricity?
  - A It is still a debated issue.
  - B It was formulated for western societies.
  - C It has recently been reassessed.
  - D It is generally agreed to be outdated.
- 3 According to Dr Morris, what is most people's attitude to eccentrics?
  - A They dismiss them as having mental problems.
  - B They are irritated by their lack of conformity.
  - C They regard them as being outside of society.
  - D They have mixed feelings about them.
- 4 Dr Morris and Terry agree that the defining trait of an eccentric is
  - A an interest in other people's hobbies.
  - B a need to be the centre of attention.
  - C a lack of regard for conventional behaviour.
  - D a desire to change society.
- 5 Dr Morris says that new research has found that eccentrics tend to
  - A remember their dreams clearly.
  - B respond well to external stimuli.
  - C score highly in belief in the paranormal.
  - D be good at looking after themselves.

Pronunciation

3  17 The woman in the interview talked about a bizarre or risqué habit. English has borrowed many words and phrases from other languages. Use a dictionary to find out the English meanings of these words and phrases, listen to the recording and then say them aloud.

in lieu of	protégé
ad infinitum	fracas
ad nauseam	cul-de-sac
par excellence	clique
quid pro quo	nom de plume
faux pas	bête noire
prima facie	tête à tête
niche	hoi polloi
risqué	coup de grâce

4 Using the expressions in 3, complete the following sentences.

- It was such an embarrassing ..... when I asked the girl to introduce me to her father and I found out it was her husband!
- It's possible to give works of art to the government ..... of tax.
- Female writers in the past often used a .....
- Some of Uncle Thomas's jokes tend to be a bit .....
- Rosalie and I decided to go to a café for a ..... about the office.
- The boy next door talks about trainspotting .....
- You are apparently more likely to be burgled in a ..... than on a main road.
- My ..... is people who talk during a film at the cinema.

5 With a partner, look at the Part 3 Speaking tasks below. The prompts are to give you some ideas on the subject. You can use all, one or two or none of the ideas. Student A should look at Task A and then speak about it for about two minutes.

Task A

Is it better to conform or be different from your peers?

---

- fashion
- relationships
- leisure pursuits

Student A should now ask Student B the following question.

Generally speaking, do you feel pressurised to conform?

Student A should then give their opinion on this topic.

Student B now talks for about two minutes on the following topic.

Task B

How much are people's ideas affected by what they see on the TV?

---

- popular comedians
- documentaries
- politicians and other famous people

Student B should ask Student A the following question.

Which type of media influences you most?

Student B should then also try to answer this question.

Remember it is fine to hesitate in order to gather your thoughts – as long as you don't pause for too long! You can also repeat the question or use phrases such as:

Umm ...                      Let me see ...                      As I see it ...
Well ...                      I mean ...

You might also want to add something you'd forgotten to mention or return to a previous subject. For this you can use phrases like:

By the way, ...                      As I was saying, ...
Incidentally, ...                      I forgot to say/mention that ...

It's very likely you will need to generalise during your talk. Use phrases such as:

Broadly speaking ...                      In general ...
To a great extent ...                      On the whole ...

Part 2 Articles and Letters

1 Read the Part 2 tasks below and decide what is involved in each one, choosing relevant aspects from the following list.

comparison	narrative
evaluation	opinion
factual description	speculation

A

An in-flight magazine has asked its readers to submit a light-hearted article with the title Space transport in 2050. Write an article describing possible future forms of transport and saying how you would take advantage of them.

B

An international ecology magazine has invited readers to contribute an article to a special edition entitled Ways to save our planet. Write an article outlining the environmental measures you think should be taken by individuals and by governments and evaluating their chances of success.

C

You see a reader's letter in a general interest magazine, which claims that family life is no different nowadays to how it was twenty years ago. You decide to write a letter to the magazine, giving your opinions on the changes in family roles and relationships and suggesting likely future developments.

D

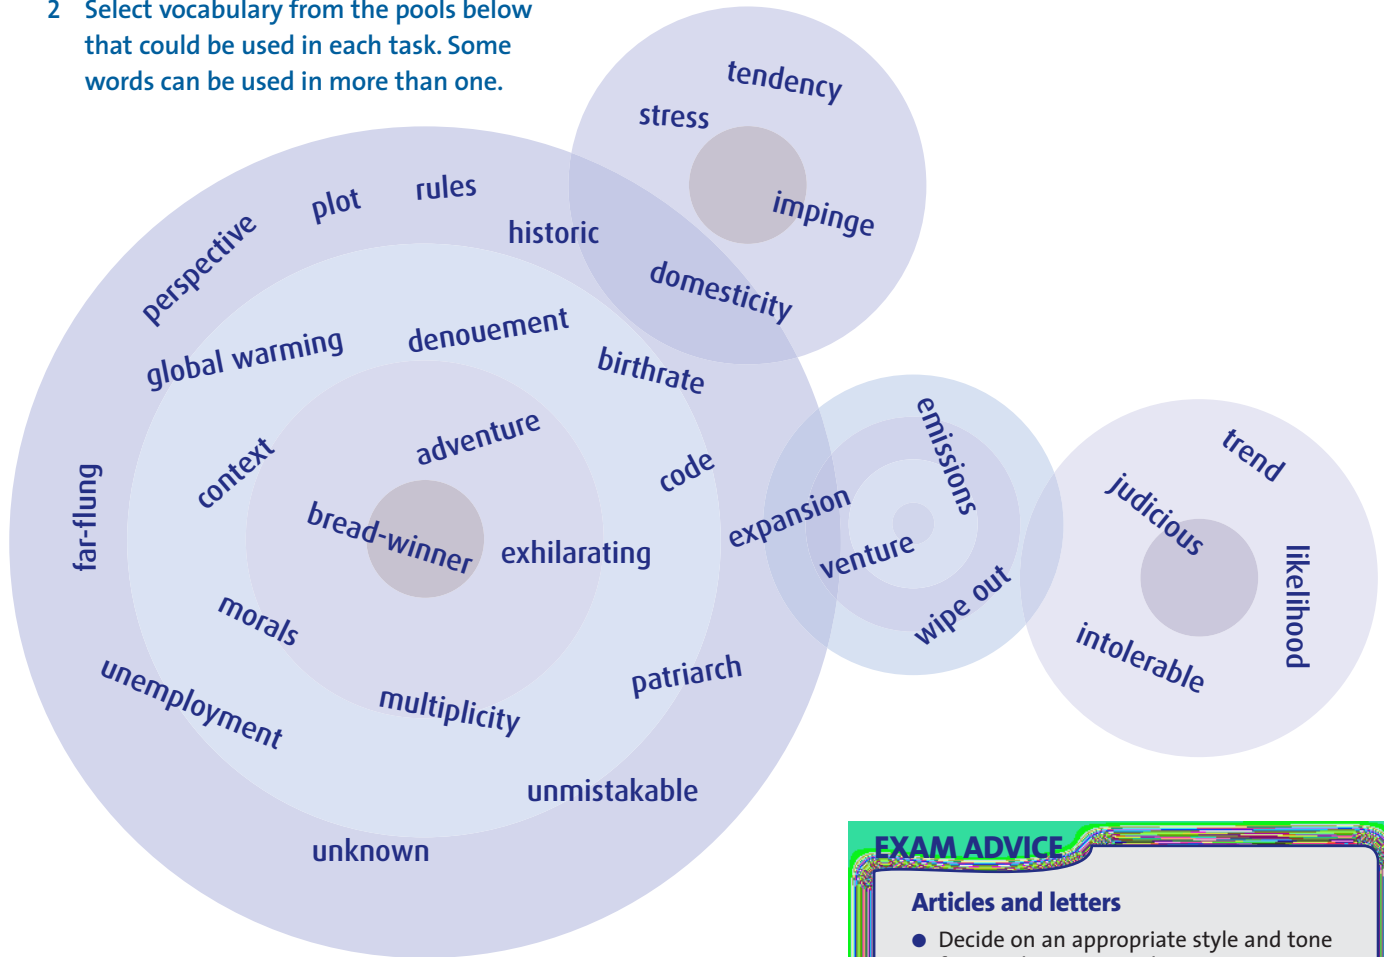

Your school magazine is running a special feature on books students have read, which is entitled Every good book has a message about life. Write an article about the set book you are studying, explaining what you feel it has taught you that you can apply to life in general.

E

The publisher of the book you have studied is planning a new edition with pictures and has asked you to suggest which parts of the book would benefit from being illustrated. Write a letter to the publisher, giving your suggestions and justifying them with detailed reference to the book.

What should the style and tone of each task be?
Could all three articles (A, B and D) be written in either a light-hearted or more serious tone?
Why? / Why not?

- 2 Select vocabulary from the pools below that could be used in each task. Some words can be used in more than one.

- 3 Don't waste time counting every word of your answer. Work out how many words you write on average per line and then count the number of lines you have written. There are 24 lines per page on the exam question paper.
- 4 Now answer one of the Part 2 tasks on the opposite page. Allow yourself 35 minutes and then stop writing. Estimate how many words you have produced, check what you have written and make any improvements within the next 10 minutes.

EXAM ADVICE

Articles and letters

- Decide on an appropriate style and tone for your letter or article.
- Spend a few minutes thinking about the angle to take.
- Make a list of possible ideas.
- Order these ideas logically and to best effect.
- Note down relevant vocabulary and expressions.
- Include rhetorical questions to preface opinions.

General advice for Paper 2

- Spend time planning each question.
- Allow equal time for each question (up to 45 minutes).
- Calculate approximately how many words you produce.
- Leave time to check your answer for spelling and grammar.

Units 17–20 Revision

Use of English

- 1 For questions 1–8, read the text below and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap.

Laughter's geography

Wherever you go, you meet people who think that foreigners have either no sense of humour or at best, a (1) ..... one. They are wrong. Humour is universal. But language is not, and neither are (2) ..... of reference. Puns that (3) ..... on Chinese pictograms and their homophones are hard to (4) ..... in English. Punchlines that assume an intimate knowledge of Italian politics (5) ..... few laughs outside Rome. The comedy that travels easily is often the most obvious: Mr Bean and Beavis and Butt-head. Domestic humour is subtler and, generally speaking, more revealing. Take this example from Africa:

A poor beggar is sitting by the side of the road. Suddenly the President's gleaming motorcade (6) ..... past. (7) ..... afterwards, a plump and ragged man runs sweating by, (8) ..... an obviously stolen goat under his arm. A minute later, two policemen come rushing up in pursuit. 'Did you see a fat thief come this way?' they ask. 'Yes', replies the beggar, 'but you'll never catch him on foot.'

|---------------|--------------|------------|--------------|
| 1 A crude     | B raw        | C rude     | D clumsy     |
| 2 A frames    | B structures | C figures  | D shells     |
| 3 A take      | B work       | C impose   | D play       |
| 4 A furnish   | B render     | C supply   | D submit     |
| 5 A acquire   | B raise      | C bring    | D make       |
| 6 A sweeps    | B slides     | C tiptoes  | D flounces   |
| 7 A Promptly  | B Instantly  | C Shortly  | D Closely    |
| 8 A clutching | B retaining  | C clinging | D possessing |

- 2 For questions 1–6, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between three and eight words, including the word given.

- 1 You'll never sell your house if you let the rumours persist of it being haunted.
carry
You ..... if you want to sell your house.
- 2 It was kind of you to help us clean up, but it really wasn't necessary.
helped
You ..... the cleaning up.

far
He can ..... concerned.
- 4 I asked the press to keep her name a secret so she would remain anonymous.
had
In order ..... keep her name a secret.
- 5 Eliza did better than usual at her debut performance, even though she had a sore throat.
excelled
Despite ..... at her debut performance.
- 6 She is unlikely to accept anything except a full apology.
would
It is unlikely that anything ..... to her.

- 3 For questions 1–8, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space.

PERSONAL FREEDOM ● ○ ○

A recent report, entitled Surveillance: Citizens and the State, says Britain leads the world in the use of CCTV, with an estimated 4 million cameras. The report warns that “pervasive and routine” electronic surveillance, together (1) ..... the collection and processing of personal information, is almost taken (2) ..... granted nowadays.

Despite many surveillance practices and data collection processes (3) ..... unknown to most people, the expansion in (4) ..... use represents “one of the most significant changes in the life of the nation since the end of the second world war”. The report challenges the claim that CCTV cuts crime, and questions (5) ..... local authorities should actually be allowed to use surveillance powers (6) ..... all. In (7) ..... view, privacy is an “essential prerequisite to the exercise of individual freedom” and the growing use of surveillance and data collection (8) ..... to be regulated by executive and legislative restraint.

Writing

- 5 Read this Part 2 letter, written to a magazine on the subject of the supernatural. Add about 100 words to complete the missing narrative, using suitable words and phrases from Unit 19.

Dear Sir

I read the article entitled Inexplicable Events in your magazine this month with great interest. As you have asked for anecdotal evidence from your readers, I am writing to share my own story with you.

Before I tell you my own experience, I should stress that, up until last January, I had not been in the least superstitious. Indeed, I have always been very sceptical about the whole area of the supernatural. What I am about to relate has changed my views for good!

I was driving home from a meeting one winter's afternoon and took a country road across the hills to avoid the motorway traffic. As the car snaked its way up the narrow road, the sky darkened around me and it felt quite spooky. I turned up the radio and sang along, in an attempt to raise my flagging spirits. Round the next bend, however, was a sight I never wish to witness again ...

Can any of your readers explain my ordeal?

Yours faithfully

Jessica Langley
