

Navigating Pathways: Digital Transformation of Industry

Ulysseus R&I Conference 2025

Monday, 20 October 2025 | Technical University of Košice

Call for Posters

Participation and Application

Join us for a hands-on, practical conference to explore the current trends in the digital transformation of industry in various fields of research and technology. The conference encourages researchers, innovators, and startups to converge and share insights under three focused tracks: Digital Transformation of Industry, Universities as a Driving Force of Digital Innovations, Sustainability of Digitalisation.

The conference aims to emphasise and discuss the importance of the development of science, technology, and innovation and the connection between academia and industry.

For more information about the Ulysseus R&I Conference 2025, please see the conference website.

Your contribution in the form of poster presentation and its publication in the Conference proceedings is more than welcome.

How to Apply

Your poster should be prepared according to template.

For publishing of your poster presentation in the conference proceeding, please use the following template, here.

Please send your poster in requested form via email to conference@ulyseu.eu by the deadline 15 September 2025.

If you are personally involved in these areas and are interested in participating in a poster session or if you have suggestions for potential researchers who might be relevant to our conference, please reach out to us.
